Russia Fights Religion.
Baltimore 200 Years Old.
Cheaper Cars Coming?
Mussolini Preparing.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

Her body was cut up and thrown into a sewer.

ON trial with the former monk is the former mother superior Varonikova, described as another of his mistresses, accused of instigating the younger woman's murder through jealousy.

The monk will probably be executed. Three thousand Soviet workers sit in court, that they may tell their fellows about "the scarlet woman of Russia," Bolshevism's name for the church.

A MONK of the Greek church may murder a nun, a banker may murder his cashier. But such occasional murders will not put an end to banking or religion.

BALTIMORE, planning to be the country's greatest airplane city, is celebrating its two hundredth birthday with flags, speeches and warships, on water and in the air.

ONE hundred and fifteen years ago yesterday, the guns of Fort McHenry kept the British fleet from descending on Baltimore. The Star Spangled Banner was written to celebrate that event.

ALFRED P. SLOAN, JR., president of General Motors, tells stockholders he bought "a substantial interest" in the Opel, great German automobile concern, to develop German manufacture of automobiles rather than supersede it with organization and methods entirely American.

THIS country depends largely on export of manufactured articles. It is, therefore, interesting to hear from Mr. Sloan that in Europe his company in 1928, in dollars and number of units, sold more automobiles than any European concern manufactured.

MR. SLOAN plans for Europeans the kind of car they want at a price they can afford. Not as rich as we, they do not demand so much luxury.

Mr. Sloan, Mr. Ford and others in this country, may need to produce here a cheaper car than any now offered.

General Wood, head of Sears, Roebuck plans a car for $200. Henry Ford years ago showed the writer a small, powerful engine made for a car to sell at $250. He probably has kept the plans for that product.

IN his government, Mussolini held eight posts, minister of foreign affairs, marine colonies, war, aviation, etc.

The King announces the changes by royal decree. Mussolini told him what to announce.

THE years are passing, Mussolini knows it, and seeks to build a government machine that will survive.

The Italian question is "after Mussolini, what?"

LORD ROTHERMERE, in a signed article, asks Britain to give up the mandate, and withdraw from Jerusalem. He thinks Jews would prefer "a national home in the United States to patriarchal poverty in Palestine."

A majority of Jews do prefer such a home. There are only 2,000 American Jews among 160,000 in Palestine.

But for a minority there is a passionate desire to restore Jerusalem. It may not be understood by a Scotchman not interested in returning to Edinburgh. But a Frenchman who never loses the memory of Paris understands it.

USING his powerful newspapers trying to make Britain drop the mandate for Palestine and Iraq as "dangerous," Lord Rothemere says the Balfour declaration involves no moral responsibility and was made, as a war measure, "to appeal to Zionist Jews, who were particularly strong in Germany and Austria."

He refers to the common sense which made the government of the United States flatly refuse a mandate for Armenia.

It is easy to become mixed in foreign affairs. Not so easy to get out.

IN Panama, parents and government thought there was truth in anti-vaccination propaganda. Why vaccinate when there is no smallpox, they asked.

Panama is vaccinating now, its government appropriates $30,000 to check the spread of smallpox, now totaling 92 cases.

IT must interest anti-vaccinationists to observe how frequently smallpox accompanies the notion that vaccination is "not necessary," or "barbarous."

U.S. AND BRITAIN AGREE TO PARLEY

Decision Expected to Open Way to Conference of All Powers on Arms Cut

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—"We are ready now for a conference of the powers."

In this simple manner did Secretary of State Stimson announced today that the long-sought Anglo-American naval agreement has been so successfully negotiated that both Great Britain and the United States are ready to sit down with the other world powers, Japan, France and Italy, in a general world conference.

SMALL DIFFERENCES

There are still some small differences between the British and American positions, but these were described by the Secretary of State as being of such character that they can be worked out at the general conference itself. It is merely a matter, he indicated, of adjustment under figures agreed upon. There is a small difference in total tonnage and some question as to construction under the tonnage, but in the main the British-American accord is what the diplomats call a fait accompli.

President Hoover's for "real reduction" in the world's naval tonnage, which was not realized to any great extent in the cruiser negotia-

SUN-TELEGRAPH ROTOGRAVURE ON SATURDAY

First Issue of New Feature Out Tomorrow; Timely, Graphic Picture Layout

Tomorrow the Sun-Telegraph will present to its readers a Saturday Rotogravure Section in addition to all the news and varied features of the regular Saturday newspaper. The price of the paper to the reader will remain the same.

This Saturday rotogravure, to be published every Saturday, will carry into Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania homes pictures reproduced in the finely-shaded warm brown tones possessed only in rotogravure reproduction on paper of high grade.

This is in addition to the Sunday Color Gravure section that has brought great distinction to the Sunday Sun-Telegraph.

OUTSTANDING POSITION

By adding this complete four-page rotogravure to its Saturday paper, the daily Sun-Telegraph takes an outstanding position among newspapers in America. Few newspapers print Sunday rotogravures and probably fewer than a dozen publish Saturday rotogravures.

In tomorrow's introductory Saturday rotogravure, Pittsburgh newspaper readers will see pictures and picture presentation the like of which has seldom been published in this city.

Variety—called the "Spice of Life"—races through tomorrow's section from cover to cover. There are photographs of interest to almost every newspaper reader and pictures that tell their own stories.

UNIVERSAL APPEAL

Careful and thorough editing of the pictures has given the Saturday rotogravure its universal appeal. There are pictures of interest to women, old and young, sporting fans, college people, children, workmen, artists. The entire section is packed with vigor—loaned it by vigorous pictures of real interest, pictures that tell graphic tales of victory and defeat, tales of courage and disaster, tales of love and beauty, tales of athletics and animals and childhood and the activities of society.

Fast work will bring this weekly section to readers soon after world happenings and Pittsburgh events. Thus it will be kept timely, abreast of the news of the day.

You cannot afford to miss reading thoroughly tomorrow's section and the sections of future Saturdays. The editors' aim is to present pictures of incidents—pictures of the climaxes of events rather than pictures of merely people and places. For the most part, you will see events actually happening before the camera lens.

500 DEPUTIES TO GUARD REGISTRATION AND VOTING PLACES

One development trod upon the heels of another today as Pittsburgh's seething mayoralty campaign rose to fever heat. The outstanding ones were these:

1—The Elections Fraud Committee of the Bar Association charged in a petition to the courts that assessment officials had conspired to illegally place the names of 12,000 to 20,000 voters on the lists.

2—The petitioners asked that these names be stricken out, and a rule was granted on members of the Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes and on Delinquent Tax Collector Walter J. Christy to show cause why this should not be done and why the tax receipts in these names should not be declared void.

3—Sheriff Robert H. Braun, fearing violence, was granted permission to appoint as many deputies as he thought necessary, between 500 and 600, to guard registration booths tomorrow and polling places Tuesday.

4—The grand jury probing vote frauds was prepared to make a preliminary report to the court, showing what it had unearthed so far as to phantom assessments and fraudulent tax receipts.

5—A check by detectives showed that the instances of phantom asessments supplied by Peter A. Connors, Malone investigator, were "for the most part" true, Gardner said.

6—Charges of tax receipt irregularities were hurled at Judge Richard W. Martin's supporters by Councilman Robert Alderdice, who charged Martin-Kline collusion.

7—The Board of Registration Commissioners questioned 200 witnesses in a night session and impounded many registration books to balk alleged registration frauds.

At the behest of the Elections Fraud Committee of the Allegheny County Bar Association, the courts today moved to purge Pittsburgh's election lists of phantom voters.

An order was made upon the Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes and Delinquent Tax Collector Walter J. Cristy, to show cause why a group of names estimated by Attorney E. Lowry Humes at from 12,000 to 20,000 should not be declared invalid.

The bar association committee, of which Humes is a member, alleged these names were supplied to the board by persons who are not assessors, and that the names were entered in the assessment books and tax receipts issued in them through collusion between members of the board and unknown persons.

EVERY WARD INVOLVED

The names are scattered through additional assessment books ranging from "B" to "Z," and are listed from addresses that embrace almost every ward in the city, it was alleged.

Christy and members of the board appeared before Judges George V. Moore, Frank Patterson and James H. Gay to answer the charges. It was decided to take testimony immediately and Chief County Detective George Murren was called to the stand with lists of alleged phantom voters sup-

MINE POLICE ON TRIAL SEPT. 23

Three coal and iron policemen, charged with the murder of John Borkoski, Santiago miner, will go on trial during the week of September 23, it was revealed today in the announcement of District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner.

The defendants are W. J. Lyster, Harold Watts and Frank Slapikas, all former employes of the Pittsburgh Coal Company. They are alleged to have beaten Borkoski to death in the coal company barracks at Imperial where Borkoski was taken after being dragged from his mother's home in an alleged drunken brawl last February.

The trial was postponed upon petition of Attorney Charles B. Prichard, counsel for Lyster, last June. Judge James B. Drew granted the postponement on the ground that the "public mind was so inflamed as to make impossible a fair trial" at that time.

Borkoski's death stirred up agitation against the private police system so strong that the state legislature adopted measures restricting the powers of industrial police and the governor was given power to revoke commissions at his own prudence.

2 GIRLS NAMED IN BANK FRAUD

NEW CASTLE, Wyo., Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Two young women, whom he said he "paid liberally" for their services, sent eight fake code messages purporting to come from Denver financial institutions and which enabled him to establish $500,000 credit with six New York banks, C. D. Waggoner, president of the bank of Telluride, Col., "Robin Hood" of high finance, told the Associated Press today from his jail cell here.

Waggoner said the two girls acted unwittingly. The eight messages were placed in sealed envelopes and numbered, he said, being sent in the order they were numbered.

The banker said that as far as he knows the two girls who assisted him still are in Denver. The girls were friends, but were

Mrs. Willebrandt And Hoover Confer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, former assistant attorney general in charge of prohibition, conferred with President Hoover today, but neither Mrs. Willebrandt nor White House officials would reveal the nature of the conversation.

Mrs. Willebrandt's visit, however, recalled that her successor has not yet been named, although there have been many names mentioned in connection with the post.

Mrs. Huddleston Swimming Channel

DOVER, England, Sept. 13.—(INS.)—Mrs. Myrtle Huddleston, New York swimmer, began at 9:30 o'clock this morning an attempt to swim the English Channel to France. The water was choppy. Mrs. Huddleston failed on a previous attempt to swim the channel.

Man Thought Dead Speaks From Electric Chair

EDDYVILLE, Ky., Sept. 13.—(INS.)—A condemned murderer, whose body leaped forward in the electric chair of the state penitentiary here today with more than 2,000 volts surging through him, sighed when the current was shut off and said rather weakly: "boys, I'm not dead yet."

A few seconds later the current was reapplied and the murderer, Carl Hord, 21, of Louisville, Ky., was killed.

After the heavy charge had been given Hord, his body, limp, slumped down in the chair, and physicians advanced with stethoscopes in a perfunctory manner. Just as the physician bent over the supposedly dead man, Hord startled the grim assemblage with the statement that he was not dead.

Straps were quickly buckled again about the youth's body and two more charges were hurtled through his body.

Ivan Hutsell, 23, of Westport, Ky., died in the electric chair a few minutes later for the murder of John Ditchler, 38, fisherman, of Boyers Landing, Ind.

Friday, the 13th, Saves Slayer For Day

Two weeks ago he issued a stay of execution to Jesse Charles, Liberty County Negro, sentenced to death.

He announced the reprieve would be for two weeks, but later when the date was determined as Friday, the 13th, he increased the stay to Saturday, the 14th.

Gov. Moody would not direct that any undertaking be set for Friday the 13th, Mark Wiginton, one of the Governor's secretaries, said in commenting on the reprieve.

Sight Saved

JEANNE EAGELS

Miss Eagels, famous actress known most recently for her "Sadie Thompson" in the play "Rain," whose sight today was saved without the necessity of an operation which surgeons had prepared to perform. She was taken to a New York hospital only yesterday.

MAIL FLIER HITS TOWER, KILLED

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 13.—(AP.)—The air mail plane from New York to Atlanta crashed into a radio tower at Fort McPherson early today in a fog, fatally injuring the pilot, Sid Molloy, of Columbus, Miss. He died at the Ft. McPherson Hospital, where he had been taken by soldiers who pulled him from the wreckage of the plane.

The plane caught fire about 15 minutes after Malloy had been removed. Postal officials said about 100 pounds of mail was destroyed.

Valuable securities and papers were understood to be in the consignment. Officials said none of these had been damaged. Malloy was 27 years old and unmarried.

Dempsey Dieting For Double Chin

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Jack Dempsey is on the Hollywood diet, eating grapefruit and the like, the 18-day stuff. His mirror, showing a double chin, caused him to act. His avordupois has dropped from 215 to 206 pounds and continues to descend.

CAMPAIGN CARD STARTS FIGHT

Two plate glass windows in the Conroy Tire Service Company, Fifth and Oakland avenues, were shattered late last night during a free-for-all fight between opposing political factions. The place was attacked, according to employes, by a crowd which objected to several Malone posters in one of the windows. Michael Conroy, proprietor of the place, is district chairman of the Malone forces.

Sol Cohen, of 3229 Atwood street, active in the Malone campaign, reported that late last night several men called at his home and attempted to intimidate him. Several men in the district received calls from the same group, he said.

John Clarke, of 3264 Ward street, reported that three young men went to his home last night and began talking to him regarding the coming election, and that he ejected them. He denied reports that he had been threatened with a "ride," and beaten.

Car Wrecks Auto, Driver Injured

Edward Dalton, 40, of 6359 Waldron street, was in a serious condition in Pittsburgh Hospital today as the result of a collision between his automobile and a street car at Fifth and Negley avenues. He was taken to the hospital in a passing taxicab. The automobile was demolished.

Women Cast Heavy Vote In Mayoralty Poll

Analysis of the division between men and women voters taking part in the mayoralty straw vote poll of Pittsburgh by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph shows that a larger proportion of women support Judge Richard W. Martin than his opponents, Mayor Charles H. Kline and President of Council James F. Malone.

Votes of women constitute nearly 40 per cent of Judge Martin's total, while Councilman Malone's ratio of women is more than 32 per cent and that of Mayor Kline better than 31 per cent.

Kline	3,157
Martin	2,531
Malone	1,604

These totals as to men and women are divided as follows: Kline, 2,135 men and 1,021 women; Martin, 1,548 men and 983 women; Malone 1,101 men and 503 women.

Tabulation of returns received during the day gives this result: Kline 402, 273 men and 129 women; Martin 243, 135 men and 108 women; Malone 119, 76 men and 43 women.

The Eleventh and Thirteenth wards, regarded in political circles generally as independent wards, are now filing returns and give Judge Martin and Mayor Kline strong support, with Councilman Malone third. In the Thirteenth Ward, Judge Martin is leading and Mayor Kline has a lead in the Eleventh Ward, with the vote close.

Voters from all city wards but one have filed ballots in the poll and ballots are being received today from the last ward to which the canvass was extended, the Thirty-first.

PALESTINE GUARD DOUBLED AS BEDOUIN HORDES GATHER

RIOT FEARED ON MOSLEM SABBATH

Troops Posted Along Jordan To Prevent Incursions; Jewish Paper Suppressed

JERUSALEM, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Palestine authorities, fearing outbreaks here today on the occasion of the Moslem Sabbath, doubled guards at posts in the city and at its approaches. The Jewish newspaper, Doar Hayam, was suppressed, with no reason given.

A secret meeting of Palestine and trans-Jordan Bedouins was said today to have taken place with the authorities posting troops along the Jordan to prevent any incursions.

COLONY RAIDED

The Jewish Telegraph Agency said the colony of Mishmar Hayardon in Nothern Gallilee has been raided with 25 cattle stolen.

Two Jews were said to have been wounded at Mahnayim, but it was not known if an Arab attack was responsible.

Examination of bodies of the Hebron riot victims exhumed to determine if they were mutilated by the Arab attackers has been discontinued. It was said decomposition had advanced to such a stage to make further examination impractical.

BRITISH STAND FIRM

LONDON, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Lord Passfield, secretary of state for the colonies, informed a deputation of Jews representing the Jewish agency and the Zionists that there could be "no question of the British government's giving up the mandate for Palestine or departing from the policy embodied in the Balfour declaration of establishing in Palestine a national home for the Jewish people."

The administrative committee of the Jewish Agency for Palestine held a special meeting here and decided to found a new colony called "Marshallia" in memory of Louis Marshall, the American philanthropist, who died in Zurich.

MARSHALL BURIAL IN U. S.

ZURICH, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Arrangements were made here to ship the body of Louis Marshall to New York on a steamer sailing September 18. It was decided there should be no public funeral service in Europe.

Formalities of sealing the coffin and mailing the passport took place today in the Friesemberg Jewish cemetery in the presence of American consular officials. A strictly private memorial service was held in the cemetery. The body was then taken to the University of Zurich, where it was embalmed.

PARLEY AGREED UPON

tions with Great Britain, may be realized in the general conference.

This reduction, however, probably will have to come in classes of ships other than cruisers, probably in battleships, through agreement between the principal powers on non-replacement or delayed replacement of existing vessels.

Substantial agreement already exists between Great Britain and the United States on a replacement system for these dreadnaughts — which cost nearly $50,000,000 each — and in a general conference it will be only necessary to obtain the consent of the smaller powers to go along. Japan already has signified, unofficially, but nevertheless authoritatively, her willingness to be relieved of the burden of further great ship construction.

"If the proposed conference is successful," said Stimson, "the race for armaments is off, and we will have instituted an entirely different state of mind throughout the world."

When this conference is to be called, Secretary Stimson did not say. The impression was left that this matter will be left for determination when Premier Ramsay MacDonald reaches Washington during the first week in October for his conferences with President Hoover.

MAY MEET IN LONDON

It is believed, however, that the conference will be held this winter, and its locale probably will be London.

The details of the understanding between the United States and Great Britain were not divulged by Secretary Stimson, but in a general way it is known that in the cruiser controversy—which has really been the only sticking point all along—Great Britain will retain tonnage superiority, while the American navy will have a superiority in large cruisers of the 10,000-ton class mounting 8-inch guns.

As for navies as a whole, they have been divided into five classes of combatant ships, and an effort is to be made at the general conference to do most of the cutting in the larger and more expensive types.

Differences of "only a few thousand tons" now exist between the British and American experts, Stimson revealed, and it may be found possible to adjust this on a basis of gun-power rather than tonnage.

AIR DISARMAMENT

GENEVA, Sept. 13.—(INS.)—Great Britain evidently intends to force disarmament by land, sea and air to a definite issue.

This was strongly indicated by the announcement of Viscount Cecil, of England, that he would address the third commission of the League of Nations this afternoon demanding that it hasten its work of preparation for a disarmament parley and that a conference be summoned as soon as possible.

This commission was created to prepare the way for a preliminary disarmament conference.

Viscount Cecil said he would put a number of questions up to the commission. They are:

1.—Is disarmament to be general; if so, will it deal with land, sea and air forces; if so, will it deal chiefly with effectives or materials?

2.—If it deals with effectives, shall it concern itself with numbers, duration of instruction, or both?

3.—If it deals mainly with materials, shall limitation be through direct nominative or by budget?

4.—After an agreement is concluded, will an international control body be accepted?

Whole Zoo Taken In Single Catch By Fisherman

BEACH HAVEN, N. J., Sept. 13.—(INS.)—Experts in deep sea life were confronted here today with an entire zoo in one peculiar looking creature, and the best guess they could make was that it came from the Ray family.

Length—12 feet.

Wings like a bat.

HOOVER PLANS TWO SPEECHES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—President Hoover will make at least two speeches on his visit to Cincinnati, Louisville and Detroit, late next month.

One of the addresses will be made either at Cincinnati or Louisville and will deal with the development of inland waterways. His visit will be occasioned by the opening of the last link of the canalization of the Ohio River.

The other speech will be made at Dearborn, on the opening of the new Edison laboratory there, celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of the inventing of the electric light.

Communications are being received at the White House urging the President to extend his trip through the Middle West. There is little likelihood, however, that the chief executive will be able to make any extended trip, as his presence will be necessary in Washington.

Jilted Auto Racer Shoots Officer Guarding Girl

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13.—(INS.)—Sought for shooting a policeman who was detailed to guard the girl he was forbidden to see, Clarence Connor, 32, former auto racer, was still at liberty early today.

After threatening the life of L. H. Truesdale, father of Beatrice Truesdale, 20, Connor yesterday encountered Policeman H. C. Kailey, detailed to watch the girl, and shot the officer in the jaw and the right leg.

While police were searching for him, Connor telephoned Miss Truesdale and told her he intended to kill her at the first opportunity, police say.

Accused of Theft Says He Never Had New Suit

WEBSTER SPRINGS, W. V., Sept. 13.—Bert Claypool, 32, alleged member of a notorious robber gang, declared on the stand in Circuit Court here that he had not worn a new suit of clothes since he was 16.

The jury wouldn't believe him and found him guilty of a store burglary. He insisted that he had told the truth about the clothes.

SOVIET DENIES BIG BATTLES

MOSCOW, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Soviet authorities insisted today no major engagements had occurred on the Manchurian frontier, Northeastern Asia, where large Chinese and Russian armies have faced each other for several weeks.

Chinese reports which depicted the Manchurian hostilities as on a big scale were ridiculed, and it was said there would be no major activity unless the Chinese saw fit to launch a general offensive, a contingency regarded as extremely unlikely.

Guard Fails

PALESTINE AID DRIVE OPENED

A concerted drive to raise funds in the Pittsburgh district for the relief of sufferers in the Palestine disorders was launched at a meeting of representatives of Jewish organizations at the Y. M. & W. H. A. last night.

Chairmen of sub-committees appointed to conduct the campaign are: Julius Weisberg, for labor groups; Mrs. Julius H. Cohen, women's organizations; the Rev. M. Hunsberg, synagogues; A. L. Wolk, mens' organizations; Rabbi Herman Hailperin, director of activities; I. A. Swiss, English publicity; Julius Weisberg, Yiddish publicity; Mrs. I. H. Levin, Hadassah benefits and tag days. Morris Neaman, Emil Steinbach, M. L. Avner, Dr. M. B. Lichtenstein and I. A. Abrams constitute a special committee to seek large contributions.

Operation Delays Trial of Child

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Sept. 13.—The trial of Genevieve Rich, 12, charged with manslaughter in connection with the shooting of her playmate, Olga Zemack, 7, will not be tried at the present term of court. The defendant is now in a hospital, where she was operated on for appendicitis.

School Districts Face Extra Charges

GREENSBURG, Pa., Sept. 13.—Greensburg's school district has adopted a resolution to charge interest from August 1 on $34,000 outstanding in tuition due from neighboring districts. Due to delinquency in payment of sums owed by outsiders, the local school district has been compelled to borrow money.

BOMB ATTEMPT STIRS POLICE IN STRIKE

Five Sticks of Dynamite Tossed from Speeding Auto Fail to Explode on Car

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Police and deputy marshals were increasing their vigilance against carmen's strike disorders today, after an attempt last night to dynamite another street car. A car was blown from the tracks Wednesday night a few hours after rejection of a strike settlement plan by the carmen's union.

A package of five sticks of dynamite was hurled from a speeding automobile on to the platform of an Esplanade belt street car last night, but did not explode.

Motorman George Leach said the automobile was running without lights and passed the street car on a curve. The dynamite, thrown on the front platform, struck the motorman's leg. Leach said several men were in the automobile. He was too excited to get the license number. Three passengers were on the trolley.

SETTLEMENT SOUGHT

A strike settlement still was in the balance today, the executive committee of Public Service announcing the company would hold open positions in lieu of the union reconsidering its vote of rejection. This action was taken after William Green, president of the Labor Federation, talked over telephone from Indianapolis to A. B. Paterson, vice president of Public Service. Mr. Green told Mr. Paterson he would communicate with W. D. Mahon, president of the Carmen's International Union, and again urge acceptance of the settlement by the local union.

CONVENTION PROBLEM

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 13.—(AP.)—W. D. Mahon, president of the Amalgamated Association of Street Car and Electrical Employes, said here today that striking street carmen of New Orleans must be given definite assurance that all will be returned to work before he will urge them to accept the settlement agreement proposed by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

The plan approved by Green threatened to become an issue on the floor of the street car men's convention here today.

Rejection by the New Orleans strikers of the compromise proposal was said to have divided the delegates, some believing that President Green should be upheld and others taking the position that the striking men should continue to receive the support of the amalgamated association.

'Hobo King' Dying In Iowa Hospital

IOWA CITY, Ia., Sept. 13.—(AP.)—A king whose domain is the open road and whose legions gather nightly in the "jungles beside any convenient railroad junction," lay dying today in the University Hospital.

He is James (Speed) Murphy, self-confessed "greatest hobo of all time."

'Bull' Montana, Film Heavy, to Be Married

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Louis (Bull) Montana, former wrestler and now a film heavy, and Mary Poulson, 23, have filed intentions to wed. Montana said the wedding would take place "next week maybe."

Last year Jackie La Verne, a dancer, who claimed she was Montana's wife, was arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct preferred by the actor. He refused to prosecute her, however, and the case was dropped. Miss Poulson denied Montana ever was married to the dancer.

Orchard Region Now Has Own Reports

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 13.—The Department of Agriculture Market News Service opened a seasonal branch here in charge of V. H. Nicholson, Washington. First reports gave detailed markets and marketing conditions. It showed russet-free Grimes Golden bringing $5.50 per barrel.

GIRL MAKES ADMISSION

Waggoner's statement followed disclosure in Denver by E. B. Averill, special operative of a Denver investigating service, that Miss Frances Carlson, 18, stenographer in the Bank of Telluride, told him "unwittingly" she sent from Denver two of the six faked telegrams.

Miss Carlson is one of the persons subpenaed by a federal grand jury in New York as witnesses in the case. Averill arrived here yesterday with Clarence E. Downtain, cashier of the Bank of Telluride, who also is subpenaed.

The young woman told the detective she had sent the telegrams from Denver at the request of a woman whom she did not know and who told her it was a bit of work to be done for Waggoner.

BANKER GROWS SILENT

Having replaced his first volubility with a newly acquired reticence, Waggoner sat in comparative silence in the Weston County jail today awaiting federal officers, who will take him to New York.

Certified copies of a federal warrant and a complaint charging him with attempting to defraud six New York banks of $500,000 and using the mails fraudulently in the effort were expected by New Castle authorities to be delivered here today.

"RAMONA" SERENADE

After telling many of the details of his strange manipulation, Waggoner told interviewers he would say nothing further about the deal on orders of his attorneys with whom he conferred yesterday. After an emotional meeting with his wife, who arrived here from Denver yesterday, Waggoner adjusted himself calmly to jail life.

He showed little more concern for his future than his two Mexican jailmates, who spend much of their time singing Spanish melodies. The Mexicans are held for the misdemeanor of robbing a box car. The singing of the two men pleased the banker, and he asked them to sing "Ramona," his favorite song, again and again.

U. S. MAY FIX BOND

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Sept. 13.—(AP.)—The United States district attorney's office announced today that if C. D. Waggoner, Telluride, Col., banker, charged with fraudulently obtaining $500,000 from New York banks, is able to make bond at his assignment here on a fugitive warrant, he would be freed until his trial is called in New York.

Should Waggoner be unable to furnish bond, Judge J. Foster Symes, of the Colorado district, will be called to Cheyenne to sign an order for removal of Waggoner to the New York jurisdictions.

A fugitive warrant was issued here, based on a complaint and warrants received from New York by air mail. The United States marshal ordered an officer to New Castle, where Waggoner is held in jail, to bring the banker to Cheyenne for his arraignment before a United States commissioner.

It was believed Waggoner would waive preliminary hearing, permitting the bond to be fixed immediately.

Mahoning Artist Paints Falls Often

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 13.—Charles D. Hoover, of Cornersburg, Mahoning County, president of the Mahoning Society of Painters, has painted Lanterman's falls, this city, 1,000 times, he stated today. Hoover first painted the falls when he was only 10 years of age.

Theft of Potatoes Sends Four Men To Prison

BLOOMSBURG, Pa., Sept. 13.—(AP.)—The theft of half a bushel of potatoes has started four Danville men serving jail sentences of six and seven months. Peter Lynn was sentenced to serve seven months, while Jesse Brown, Peter Vandling and Charles Brown received the six-months terms.

The theft occurred Sunday when Charles Brown took the other three for a ride in his new automobile and the quartet stopped to dig up the potatoes from a field.

REED UNDER FIRE IN FIGHT ON TARIFF

Accused of 'Conspiracy to Rob American People' by Revised Tariff Schedule

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON.
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The administration's new tariff bill was described in the Senate this afternoon by Senator Pat Harrison (Dem.), of Mississippi, as an "act to destroy revenue, to stifle commerce with foreign countries, to discourage industry, to flim-flam American labor and to fleece American farmers."

Continuing the minority's assault upon the new tariff, Harrison charged the Republican party with conducting a "conspiracy to rob the American people for the benefit of a few industries."

ACCUSES REED

He named Senators Smoot (Rep.), of Utah; Reed (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, and Edge (Rep.), of New Jersey, as sponsors of the con-

"In the art of discrimination," said Harrison, "this bill is a masterpiece. The forked tongue of hypocrisy hisses through every paragraph. From the title clause to the citation clause deception abounds."

LINES DRAWN

"Protective tariff versus competitive tariff."

This was the issue drawn between the Republican organization and the Democratic-Insurgent coalition in their warfare over the administration's new tariff bill.

The Republicans fought for tariff rates high enough to "protect" American industry and agriculture against cheap foreign importations. The coalition battled for rates only high enough to match the difference in cost of production at home and abroad.

TRADITION SINKS

The Democratic days of "free trading" and "tariff for revenue only" were cast in the limbo of forgotten things when the theory of a "competitive tariff," once upon a time the exclusive doctrine of Republicans, was accepted by Senator Simmons (D.), of North Carolina, minority tariff leader.

He declared his party had changed its tariff stand since the days of Cleveland and Bryan, and that now the doctrine of a "competitive tariff" was the "law of the party."

GRUNDY COMPLAINS

The sponsors of the administration's new bill came under fire from two directions, even as the Democrats embraced the tariff doctrine. First, a group of industrialists, headed by the prominent William Grundy, of Bennsylvania, called upon the Republican tariff leaders with a complaint that the Senate industrial rates were far too low. The industrialists demanded restoration of many House rates, arguing the Senate rates would leave industry helpless against the increasing encroachments of foreign competitors.

After Senator Smoot (Rep.), of Utah, admitted that some of the farm product duties were "useless paper rates," Senator George (Dem.), of Georgia, charged the bill would damage agriculture by increasing the cost of living to farmers while giving them no additional benefits in the sale of their crops.

George blamed the plight of agriculture on the high level of prices in the American market, due to Republican tariff protection, while farmers are forced to sell their products virtually at cost.

SAFE CRACKERS GET $385

Yeggs looted two safes in the office of the Standard Plate Glass Company, 101 Wood street, last night, and escaped with $385, police were notified today.

They opened the safes by knocking off the combination knobs. They apparently entered the office by means of a pass key after walking up a stairway to the second floor of the building.

Italian Engineers Leave for Congress

NAPLES, Italy, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—A delegation of 10 noted Italian engineers and eight representatives of large Italian industries left aboard the Vulcania today for New York on their way to the world's engineering congress in Tokio in October.

The delegation is headed by Senator Luiggi, honorary member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, representing the ministry of public works.

Man in Brazil Weds Miami Girl by Proxy

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Miss Sarah Fort Montgomery, in Miami, has become the bride of George Joseph McLaughlin in Brazil. Marriage contracts were filed with a judge who officiated at a ceremony at which the groom had a proxy.

"Mother" of Fliers Sees New York From Air

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Mrs. C. A. Tusch, of Berkley, Cal.—"Mother" Tusch to hundreds of aviators scattered from Oakland airport to Mineola—was a visitor here yesterday and had her first airplane ride over New York City.

The Tusch home is affectionately known as "The Hangar" to birdmen. Its owner probably knows more aviators by first name than other one person in the world. She keeps a "tell-tale" flying from the roof, a propeller over the door, and the living room frieze is composed of signatures of famous fliers.

Prof. E. C. Bolton, head of the history department at the University of California, has pronounced her home the most important museum of aviation in the country.

"Mother" Tusch has forgotten how many hours she has spent in the air.

"My first flight was years ago—right after the war," she said. "Maj. Livingston Irving, of the Lafayette Escadrille, took me up in an old army Jenny—and scared me most to death."

Girl, 9, Wins Free Marriage Ceremony

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 13.—(AP.)—A 9-year-old girl, Betty Anne Moon, was the winner of a free marriage ceremony, offered by an Omaha pastor as a prize in connection with a club picnic held last night. Free services in a divorce case were offered by an attorney and won by Austin Vickery, Jr., aged 12.

ICEMAN MYSTERIOUSLY SLAIN IN NORTH SIDE STREET

NO SOUND OF BULLET HEARD

Estranged Wife Sought for Questioning; Gun Traced, Suspect Under Arrest

Mystery veiled the fatal shooting of Harry Payton, 24, of Seville plan, Ross Township, in front of 4010 Northminster street, North Side, today. A suspect is under arrest.

Payton died in St. Johns Hospital five hours after he was found semi-conscious on the front steps of the home of Thomas Smith by Herman Diehl, of 197 Grove avenue, West View. Payton was employed by Diehl, an ice dealer.

Diehl was returning to his wagon from the rear of the Smith home when he saw Payton, his helper, slumped near the sidewalk, he told police.

TRACE GUN

"I didn't hear the shot and don't know who shot me," Payton told homicide detectives at the St. John's Hospital.

Francis Fink, 32, of 2717 California avenue, was arrested on suspicion. He is alleged to have admitted giving Payton a revolver Wednesday night to go "coon hunting." Detectives believe Payton feared for his life and obtained the revolver for protection.

SEPARATED FROM WIFE

George Payton, father of the wounded man, told detectives his son had married Myrtle Richey, two years ago, but they separated after continual quarreling. Detectives started to Glenfield, where the wife is reported living, to question her.

O. W. Rose, of 1837 Chellis street, told police he had heard a report of what he thought at the time was the back fire of an automobile near the scene of the shooting shortly before 8 o'clock.

TWO BOYS HANG TONIGHT

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Condemned to die on the gallows at 9 o'clock tonight, Walter E. Willmot, 21, and Millard F. Morrison, 24, today were spending their last hours with the state prison chaplain, the Rev. W. C. Harold. Mr. Harold said the prisoners have been praying and had told him they were prepared to die.

Willmot will see his 15-year-old bride, Mrs. Violet Willmot, once more before the trap is sprung to claim his life for the killing of Frank Bowen, Lens Creek gasoline station operator. Mrs. Willmot will be permitted to spend some time with her husband this afternoon. Willmot's brother, Clarence, and brother-in-law, James Wicks, also will be with the prisoner for a time. No relative of Morrison has visited him since he was brought to the penitentiary.

Warden L. M. Robinson said everything was in readiness for the execution. The doomed men apparently were in good physical condition. Neither had much to say. They made no special request for their last meals, as condemned prisoners are permitted to do on their last day.

The two men ate hearty breakfasts of cereal, bacon and eggs, bread, butter and coffee. They ate in silence.

Return of Mexican Prelate's Body Asked

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—The Mexican episcopate has requested from the government permission to transfer here the body of Monsignor Jose Mora y Del Rio, archbishop of Mexico City, who died in exile at San Antonio, Tex. If the permission is obtained, and it is considered as likely to be given, a delegation of prelates will go to San Antonio to escort the body to this city. It probably would be entombed here in the National Cathedral.

Man Killed When Gas Tank Explodes

ALTOONA, Pa., Sept. 13.—Waldo E. Avey, 40, of Everett, was killed this morning when a 600-gallon gasoline tank, being repaired with an acetylene torch, exploded. Avey was hurled some distance away and his chest crushed. Three helpers suffered slight burns.

Gasoline that was not drained from the tank caught fire when the torch was applied, causing the explosion.

RAID SMUGGLER HEADQUARTERS

HAVANA, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Headquarters of what is believed a gang of international bootleggers and smugglers of aliens was raided last night at Isabela de Sagua port by Cuban police. Mrs. Elisa Friedman and four sailors were arrested. All are Americans.

With the arrest of the woman, owner of a waterfront cabaret, and of the four American sailors, police believe they have smashed one of the island's biggest headquarters for dope, liquor smuggling deals and alien embarkation for the United States.

The raid resulted from information to police that 20 foreigners left Havana Wednesday for Isabela port, where they were to embark for the United States. Fourteen of the aliens are held as material witnesses against the Friedman woman and the four sailor accomplices.

DRY AGENT SHOT BY STRANGER

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Alfred Louis Tully, a former Newburgh village dry raider, was shot and critically wounded today while sitting in his automobile.

Tully, who was involved in liquor extortion plots in 1925, was approached by a swarthy man who asked him what he was doing there, talked a moment and then fired three times, witnesses told police.

His assailant fled. Tully said he believed the shooting was in revenge for his raiding activities.

Police Lieut. James Shea said Tully had been active in uncovering liquor rings while working as a dry raider and blamed bootleg enmity for the shooting.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(INS.)—Alphonse Frank, well-known insurance broker, was in a critical condition today as the result of a bullet wound, alleged to have been self-inflicted in a fit of despondency over the death of his life-long friend, Louis Marshall, who succumbed in Zurich after an operation.

WOMEN OUT FOR REFUEL MARK

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Two refueling endurance flights, with women pilots at the controls, are scheduled to start here soon.

Bobbie Trout, entrant in the recent women's air derby from Los Angeles to Cleveland, plans to fly a biplane in one attempt, and is seeking a woman partner.

Peggy Paxson, 17, and her 19-year-old flying partner, Lucille Wallingford, have announced that plans are almost complete for their attempt in a light plane.

"We are going up," said Miss Paxson, "to show the world that women are equal to men in the air."

No record exists at present for endurance refueling flights by women. The record for men is 420 hours 21 minutes 30 seconds.

He was sentenced to life imprisonment in 1918 following his conviction of the murder of Henry Seamon, Wheeling police officer. He served seven years and was granted a parole by Gov. Morgan in 1925.

14 UNDER BOND AS ANTI-RED FLOGGERS

3 Policemen, Star Witnesses Of Murder Trial, Included In Carolina Mob Charges

By HENRY LESESNE
International News Service.

GASTONIA, N. C., Sept. 13.—Three Gastonia policemen and 11 "loyal" mill employes were arrested today for their alleged participation in Monday's anti-Communistic reign of terror. All posted $1,000 bond each for appearance before Judge Thomas J. Shaw in Mecklenburg (Charlotte) County Superior Court.

The bond for the three policemen was put up by the city of Gastonia, and that for the mill workers was furnished by the officials of the mills by which they are employed.

A blanket warrant for the 14 men was issued by Solicitor John G. Carpenter last night, following a three-day investigation into the series of "outrages" which occurred Monday night and early Tuesday in the wake of a mistrial in the sensational Aderholt-Gastonia murder trial.

STAR WITNESSES HELD

The three policemen arrested today—Tom Gilbert, Charles Fergerson and A. J. Roach—are the state's three star witnesses in its case against Fred Irwin Beal, Communist organizer of the Gastonia strike, and his 15 "class war" co-defendants, charged with the assassination of Police Chief O. F. Aderholt here, June 7.

The other men caught in the early morning dragnet included Dr. Lee Johnson, a physician connected with the Manville-Jenckes-owned Loray mill, scene of the recent strike, and A. G. Moorehead, superintendent of the same mill, and C. L. Jolly, night superintendent.

Others arrested were: Karl Holloway, Tom Carver, W. M. Pickering, Smiling Lewis, Dewey Carver and John Holly, all Loray employes, and Horace Lane and Oscar Goodwin, Myers mill employes.

The blanket bench warrant issued for accused terrorists' arrest placed three separate charges against them, as follows: (1) conspiracy to kidnap; (2) assault with intent to kill; and (3) imprisonment and false arrest.

UNION ORGANIZERS RAIDED

Meanwhile deputy sheriffs at Charlotte early today swooped down on an outlying building and arrested seven National Textile Workers' Union organizers against whom city officials this afternoon preferred charges of "conspiracy to overthrow the government."

The authorities confiscated seven shotguns. The arresting officers declared that apparently the guns were being prepared for transference to Gastonia, where the N. T. W. U. plans to hold a monster mass meeting Saturday.

Tense with divergent sentiment, Gastonia settled down to a period of watchful waiting on the eve of the N. T. W. U. rally tomorrow. The organizers kidnaped by Monday's mob were warned never to set foot here again. At least one of them will be included in the list of speakers. The Gastonia Gazette, only daily paper in this county, has openly warned the Communists in its editorial columns that they are coming here at their own risk.

CHANG FINED IN PRINCE'S DEATH

OITA, Japan, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Chang Tsung Chang, former Shantung war lord, was convicted of accidental homicide in District court here today in connection with the death recently of Prince Hsien Kai, Young Manchu, and was fined yen 300 (about $150.)

Prince Hsien Kai, who was a cousin of the former boy Emperor of China, P'U-Yi, was killed in the course of a visit to Chang's hotel at Beppu. Chang claimed a gun he was examining in his rooms was discharged accidentally, killing the youth.

The prosecution asked a fine of yen 500 (about $250) on conviction. Chang has resided at Beppu with those he has left of his former 28 wives since his abortive rebellion against the Chinese nationalist government in Shantung last spring.

Yough River Bass Killed Off by Pollution

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 13.—Fishermen returning from the upper Youghiogheny River, in the vicinity of Somerfield, Pa., reported hundreds of dead and dying bass floating above the Maryland line, apparently killed by acid or poison dumped into the stream. This was the second occasion of wholesale destruction of fish within a year.

On the former occasion the source of the pollution is said to have been traced to Oakland, Md., where it was said a vat of acid was allowed to get into the river.

AIRSHIPS OFTEN TARGETS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—The discovery of a hole, presumably made by a bullet, in the hull of the navy's metal dirigible ZMC2 upon her arrival at Lakehurst yesterday was not an entirely new experience to officers of the navy lighter than air fleet.

The Los Angeles, largest of naval dirigibles, has on a number of occasions borne holes which may have been made by bullets. Members of the Graf Zeppelin crew reported a bullet hole in one of the cells upon completion of the world flight at Lakehurst.

A case of dirigible hunting occurred about a year ago in New Jersey. At that time a farmer of Newton admitted having shot at the Los Angeles while on a hunting trip. He was never punished, however, as neither commander nor crew recall having been shot at in that neighborhood, and no holes were found in the dirigible.

A more prosaic explanation of some of the mysterious holes may be found, naval men believe, in the occasional parting of an internal bracing wire, which in snapping might punch a small hole in the outer cloth.

DEFENSE HITS PANTAGES ACCUSERS

Wife of Theater Magnate Hurt, Not Drunk, When Car Kills Japanese, Claim

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Defense guns were trained today on evidence which the state, during six days and a half of testimony had marshalled against Mrs. Lois Pantages, on trial in Superior Court charged with second degree murder.

The state has contended that the wife of Alexander Pantages, theater magnate, was intoxicated when her automobile collided with a car driven by Juro Rokumoto, a Japanese, last June. Rokumoto, died several days after the accident. The defense, when it took over the case yesterday, already had indicated its chief point would be that an intervening operation might have caused the death of the Japanese.

DOCTORS TESTIFY

Physicians, appearing as state witnesses testified under cross examination that the operation performed upon Rokumoto was not an emergency one.

Max Steuer, of New York, and W. I. Gilbert, and Joseph Ford, of Los Angeles, defense counsel, placed their first four major witnesses on the stand yesterday to contest the state's charges. Prosecution witnesses uniformly had testified they believed Mrs. Pantages to have been intoxicated at the time of the crash.

Mrs. Bertha Jacobs, called for the defense, told the jury that to the best of her knowledge the theater man's wife was sober 15 minutes before the collision. She had spent the week-end of June 16 at the Pantages home in Venice, a beach suburb, had ridden into Los Angeles with Mrs. Pantages, and left the car just before the accident.

WOMAN INJURED

State testimony consistently had been that no cars except those of Mrs. Pantages and Rokumoto were near the scene of the accident. Costerno testified that Mrs. Pantages was "just out cold" after the accident and that he saw no signs of intoxication.

Mrs. Edna Taylor, a nurse in a Hollywood hospital to which Mrs. Pantages was taken, and where she was confined by injuries for several weeks, and Dr. C. A. MacDonald, who treated her, testified they had found no evidence of intoxication. The physician said she had suffered a slight concussion of the brain. He said he believed it impossible to determine definitely between intoxication and concussion in the case of a head injury such as that received by Mrs. Pantages.

TWO GIRLS RELEASED

Nancy Lee, 25-year-old film actress and sculpturess, and her half-sister, Janice Hill, 16, held in custody since Sunday on suspicion of tampering with state's witnesses in the Alexander Pantages attack case, were free today on bail.

They were released from jail yesterday on habeas corpus proceedings. Complaints were sworn charging them with possessing a bottle of absinthe. Trial was set for October 8. The sisters were subpenaed to appear at the Pantages trial September 23.

SENATORS OPEN NAVY QUIZ

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—A committee of three members of the Senate was preparing today to go "to the bottom" of the flaunted charge of interference by private parties in the unsuccessful Geneva naval limitations conference of 1927.

After examining the court complaint filed by William B. Shearer, who calls himself a naval expert, for $300,000 which he alleges is due him from three American shipbuilding corporations for his services at the Geneva fiasco, the committee will meet tomorrow to issue subpenas for those whom it wants to examine publicly.

SHEARER TO TESTIFY

Senator Shortridge, (R.), California, the chairman of the investigating committee, expects to begin the public hearings about the middle of next week. He is confident that first witnesses will be Shearer and the officers of the corporations which he is suing.

Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, and Senator Allen, (R.), Kansas, are the other members of the sub-committee. Both issued statements declaring their determination to get "to the bottom" of the Shearer case.

Senator Allen declared if the Shearer charges are proved to be true it will be a matter "for the closest scrutiny of the Congress."

AFFECTS CRUISERS

All members of the committee are determined to center attention on the charges of Shearer that he represented these companies at the Geneva parley. The companies are now building American cruisers which some members of the Senate believe would not have had to have been built had the Geneva conference been successful.

The examining committee of the Senate includes two veteran lawyers and a journalist. Senator Allen is a newspaper publisher. Senators Shortridge and Robinson are the lawyers.

By the time the committee opens its public examination of the parties involved in the Shearer charge next week, the Department of Justice is expected to be able to report some progress on the inquiry it has instituted at the command of President Hoover.

32-Passenger Airplane Scores in First Flight

FOKKER FIELD, N. Y., Sept. 13.—(INS.)—The new 32-passenger Fokker plane, prima donna of the air, made its debut today and flew like an angel.

I sat behind Lieut. Harry Johnson as he piloted the plane on its pioneer flight. For 25 minutes we flew at a height of about 600 feet over a score of air miles. It was like riding a bicycle.

The 11½-ton machine took off as easily as a baby carriage. There was a slight vibration from the roaring of the "Hornet" engines.

The pilot shut off two of the engines and the new heavyweight champion of the air banked and climbed on half its power with remarkable ease.

There were no sensations. The 10 passengers climbed in with the crew of two, sat down on comfortable cabin chairs, enjoyed the performance then glided to earth and stepped out.

This new plane brings additional flying glory to the United States. It is the largest land plane in the world. There are larger planes equipped with pontoons. Its gross weight is 22,500 pounds, of which 8,700 is total useful load. It has a passenger capacity of 32.

The plane hopped at 11:45 a. m. It was up in 15 seconds after a 150-yard run. It attained a high speed today of 140 miles an hour. A slight misty rain pushed the ceiling down to 700 feet. On the third lap it demonstrated its flexibility and safety by shutting down two motors to a speed of under 100 miles per hour. After cutting a figure eight it landed, stopping with a 100-yard run.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Lady Drummond Hay, noted newspaper woman, who recently girdled the globe, writing of her experiences on the epochal Hearst-Zeppelin-Round-the-World Flight of the Graf Zeppelin, sailed for London on the Bremen last night.

"I am in need of a rest," she told interviewers in her spacious stateroom banked with flowers, "and I am going back to London to visit my mother and father. I will leave for Paris in two weeks and then return to Friedrichshafen where I intend to finish my book.

"I have had a wonderful experience and enjoyed every minute of my stay in America."

MASS MEETINGS MARK CREST OF MAYORALTY CAMPAIGN

KLINE, MARTIN HOLD RALLIES TONIGHT

Cain Answers Leslie Attack; Mackrell's Watch Stops Evans' Tirade Against Kline

The primary which is to name Pittsburgh's Republican candidate for Mayor, was just around the corner today.

The heat of one of the greatest political campaigns in the city's history was intensified last night by City Controller Henry Oliver Evans, candidate for election to the office he holds by appointment, who enlivened a Malone meeting in the North Side Carnegie Hall with a bitter attack on Mayor Kline.

"Kid Kline," charged Evans, "is in a prize fight, but the prize is the hundreds of thousands—perhaps millions—that are accumulated by the slot machines and speakeasies that infest the city."

Before Evans got well into the manuscript of his speech, the Malone chairman, Joseph N. Mackrell, notified him that his time had expired.

Senator Max Leslie was another Malone speaker in the North Side hall. Leslie avoided mention of the other two candidates, Judge Richard W. Martin and Mayor Kline, and assured his audience that he felt as confident of victory next Tuesday as he ever has.

SCORES RACKETEERS

Malone's campaign secretary, Attorney Ralph H. Smith, brought cheers from the crowd when he predicted that "this meeting is the beginning of the end for Charlie Faulkner and the North Side racketeers."

Other speakers included Councilman Harry Little, candidate for re-election; Coroner W. J. McGregor, James L. McInerney, candidate for Sheriff; former Congressman John Morin, Mrs. W. W. Robinson and Malone.

Councilman Robert Garland, a speaker at the Malone noon meeting today, said that a vote for Malone was a vote for decency, and an "opportunity for the respectable people of our community to rise in their wrath and let the powers that be realize that the reign of racketeers has ceased.

Attorney A. O. Fording, speaking for Judge Martin at the latter's noon meeting, submitted a number of pointed questions to the Kline administration.

"Why," he asked, "is it hard for police to find gambling houses, speakeasies and other disorderly places, while they must be easy for other folks to find, or they could not make money?"

MARTIN MEETING

Activities in the Martin camp last night were centered about the jurist's speech at a mass meeting in Perry High School, North Side, and preparation for tonight's meeting in Carnegie Music Hall, Schenley Park.

Before his North Side audience Judge Martin hammered away with his charges that the alleged assessment frauds are a brand on both of his opponents.

"The two factions of the organization have proved the case against each other," Martin asserted. "They are both to blame."

An automobile parade from Martin headquarters in William Penn way to the Carnegie Hall was to precede tonight's Martin meeting. Vice presidents were announced for the meeting and the speakers were listed as William P. Witherow, temporary chairman; Frank Wilbur Main, permanent chairman; Attorney Sara M. Soffel, Attorney Alexander P. Lindsay and Judge Martin.

The Kline campaign was represented by a radio address by Charles Pearson, of the State Department of Highways.

The Kline meeting scheduled for Motor Square Garden tonight will be "the greatest demonstration of Kline support since the campaign began," headquarters predicted.

Speakers were to include County Commissioners E. V. Babcock and Joseph G. Armstrong, Congressmen Stephen G. Porter, Harry Estep and P. J. Sullivan, Councilman Daniel Winters, Chairman R. V. Bingay and the Mayor himself.

CAIN ANSWERS LESLIE

Minor developments along the political front yesterday included an answer from Robert S. Cain, Kline candidate for Sheriff, to Senator Leslie, who had charged Cain with deserting the party when he was a county commissioner.

Cain denied that he had been disloyal to the organization that supported him and asserted that he had never asked for Leslie's support but that Leslie had requested him to join the Leslie ticket.

Thomas A. Dunn, unopposed Democratic candidate for Mayor, told the women members of the Jefferson Club that the Republican party, because of the selfish ambitions of its individuals and groups for the spoils of office, was not capable of delivering an honest, efficient government.

Girl Chases Beau, Fined for Speeding

CANTERBURY, England.—(INS.) Brought into court on a charge of dangerous driving, Norma Conyers Lindsay, of London, gave the following excuse to the judge:

"I was driving under great provocation. In the car I was chasing was my best boy. He was supposed to be in the north of England. I suddenly saw him and called to him, but he would not acknowledge me. So I turned my car round and chased him through your city."

The judge admitted the defense was a good one, but fined the girl $25 and suspended her driving license for six months.

Bar Asks Court to Strike 12,000 Names From Voting Lists

MANY NAME VALID

Reports that all the books from "B" to "Z" were illegeal were incorrect. These books contained names of persons properly assessed and taxed as well as those embraced in the bar association petition.

Long lists of names understood to be those from which the books were written up were brought into court. These were obtained, it was eported by investigatos for the bar association committee.

It was charged that these lists were deposited in the tax collection offices by persons "other than duly appointed subordinate assessors." Such lists bearing the legend "O. K. Put on. R.D.S." have been found by the registration commissioners.

SCHOOLEY'S INITIALS

"R. D. S." are the initials of Roy D. Schooley, member of the Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes and campaign manager for Mayor Charles H. Kline.

In Quarter Sessions Court Sheriff Robert H. Braun was granted the right to appoint as many deputies as he believed would be necessary after he had expressed his belief that there would be riots and violence at the polls unless safeguards were provided. He expects to enlist from 500 to 600 guards. They will keep watch at the registration booths tomorrow and at the polling places Tuesday.

Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh announced that every available policeman had been assigned to duty in the vicinity of registration booths and polling places. All patrolmen, sub-patrolmen and city detectives will be on guard near these places tomorrow and Tuesday, Walsh said.

While the petition was being offered, county detectives were submitting to District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner their reports on allegations of phantom assessments made by Peter A. Connors, Malone investigator. Connors' charges had been proven true for the most part, Gardner said, as far as the detectives' check went.

JURY REPORT READY

This evidence was to be submitted to the grand jury today. It was likely, Gardner said, that the jury would make a preliminary presentment of its findings so far, before the day was over.

It was still conceded today that 7,200 voters on three assessment books which Christy branded fraudulent, attributing their existence to Malone workers, probably would lost their franchise. No legal action had been taken in their behalf, although a checkup by county detectives indicated that a great majority of the names were those of qualified electors.

While hundreds of witnesses jammed the office in a rush, during which one woman fainted and several others were taken home barely in time to avert a collapse, the Board of Registration Commissioners until early this morning quizzed witnesses in its alleged false registration scandal.

More than 200 witnesses were heard in a session. Most of them came from the Eighth Ward, sommoned by the Kline forces because they had registered on tax receipts issued on assessments written in a book labeled "1 A." Kline adherents demanded that their names be purged from the lists.

George J. Schad, chairman of the Board for Assessment and Revision of Taxes, and Delinquent Tax Collector Walter J. Christy, reiterated at the hearing their statements that the book is fraudulent.

ACCUSES MARTIN

A move to involve the supporters of Judge Richard W. Martin in the election scandal was made last night by Councilman Robert J. Alderdice, Malone supporter, who charged that Martin "has not helped in the slightest" in the padded assessment revelations.

Alderdice produced a photostatic copy of a letter claimed to have been sent from the Martin headquarters. It is addressed to Miss Lillie S. Whiston, 4023 Vinceton place, and is signed by Mrs. Elizabeth MacDonald, of East North avenue, and contains this sentence:

"If you do not have a tax recepit, let me know. I will see that it is attended to and save you this bother."

"The outrageous nerve of this can only be appreciated by bearing in mind that this Mrs. MacDonald did not even know whether the recipients of this letter were assessed, she did not even ask for the legal necessary written order authorizing to pay taxes. I charge that Martin's campaign is being run in collusion with the Kline fight for Mayor. I defy them to deny that they are promising to get tax receipts for them without any mention of a signed order, as required by law," Alderdice said.

Mrs. MacDonald said the offer was merely to aid citizens to pay taxes. She had no intention to do more than act as a messenger in the procedure, she asserted after hearing Alderdice's charges.

ALL-NIGHT INQUIRY

The investigation of the registration commissioners, ending at 2 a. m. today, brought forth:

1—A declaration from Harold Obernauer, counsel for the Malone forces, that the Kline adherents were trying to prevent qualified citizens from voting because of a technicality.

2—The charge by Alfonso Pacella, of 455 Pearl street, that John Kenna, aldermanic candidate in the Eighth Ward, had told him to testify that he had paid for the tax receipt on which he had registered. He had not paid, Pacella testified. This charge was hotly denied by Kenna.

3.—The declaration of Christy that he believed a batch of 472 tax orders on book "1 A," which were honored, according to his testimony, before he had seen them, were put into his office to "try them on the dog" before John G. Johnson brought him the 4,882 orders he has refused to honor because notified by the tax board that the "1 A" book is fraudulent.

4—The admission of Miss Anna H. Boknert, of the Seventeenth District of the Eighth Ward that she registered on a tax receipt given her by Charles Barnhart, of 4819 Cypress street, for which she did not sign an order and for which she had not paid.

5.—Statements by investigators for the board that 24 persons registered in the Sixteenth District of the Fourth Ward could not be found.

6.—The announcement that the registration probe will be extended to the North Side, especially to three Twenty-second Ward districts charged with holding back the actual number of registrations, and the declaration that no decision will be made in any case until all the testimony is heard.

JURY RECALLS SCHAD

Latest grand jury developments were:

1.—The announcement that Schad will be recalled to the stand today.

2.—The statement by District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner that, hereafter, the grand jury will investigate the alleged election frauds in the afternoons only, leaving the mornings free for routine work.

3—The issuing of a subpena for Harry Gilbert, clerk of the Keystone Hotel, 1110 Forbes street, where, according to former City Detective Peter Conners, investigator for the Malone forces, 85 men are assessed.

4—A half-hour examination of John G. "Dude" Johnson, employe in the office of Register of Wills Joseph N. Mackrell, who took to Christy the 4,800 orders for tax receipts based on the books alleged to be fraudulent.

MACKRELL'S STATEMENT

The fraud case and the ensuing grand jury investigation is evidence of the sincerity of the Malone forces, declared Register of Wills Joseph N. Mackrell in a statement today. He charged that the Kline faction charge of fraudulent assessment books "has been exploded" by county detectives. It was announced yesterday that 70 names had been investigated and 67 found bona fide residents.

"There are 7,200 persons on these books in danger of losing their votes because the legal counsel for the Kline forces refused to join with Attorney Charles B. Prichard in having a speedy decision reached by the courts in this matter," he said.

Among the new charges made by Conners today is that he has received information that 47 persons are assessed from 1009 Bedford avenue.

"I also have information there are no beds in this place, that there is a mooney joint in the basement and so far have been able to locate eight names in assessment books. These are some of the names on the list of Joe Engelsberg O. K.'d by R D S now in hands of district attorney," he said.

He has located two assessed in a vacant house at 980 Banksville road, and five assessed from vacant lots on the same street, which is in the Twentieth ward, Conners said, adding that he has information that "disfranchised voters" are registering from the Delmont Hotel, a night club at 120 Federal street.

REFUSED REGISTRY

Districts of the Second, Third and Eighth wards were involved in the investigation conducted during the night by the registration commissioners. Twenty persons in the Second ward and five in the Third appeared to maintain that, although legally qualified, they had been refused permission to register by the boards in the First, Ninth and Tenth precincts of the former, and the Third, Fourth and Seventh of the latter.

Principal interest lay in the Eighth Ward case, where nearly 200 had been subpenaed because they had registered on tax receipts issued from the alleged fraudulent

How You Should Register

By MRS. DELLA B. HERSHEY, Director, Allegheny County League of Women Voters.

LESSON NO. 15.

If you have not registered, you MUST do so tomorrow if you want to take part in one of the most exciting elections in the history of Pittsburgh.

Tomorrow is the LAST day. Approximately 117,500 men and women already have qualified to take part in Tuesday's primary. If you are not one of them, you should enlist tomorrow. Before going to register you must have a tax receipt. The office of Delinquent Tax Collector Walter J. Christy, Court House, will be open until nine o'clock tonight for your convenience.

Bathers Crowd Gaming Tables Along Riviera

CANNES, France, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Gambling rooms and bars on the French Riviera have been carpeted with matting in the morning because players and drinkers alike appear in bathing suits. To change your luck at dice or baccarai you got out and have a short swim and return dripping water.

The newly formed "gamble with health" club, including 20 of the heaviest spenders on the Riviera, has forced these innovations. Members of this club dress in nothing but bathing suits until 10 in the evening. A suit which cannot be conveniently tucked into a small pocket is classed as evening attire. The ordinary suit may be carried in a vest pocket.

Casino directors state that more money is being laid on the green table than ever before. They attribute this to the fact that players are now able to try and win back in the morning what they lost the night before.

Croupiers and tellers claim their work has become increasingly difficult, pointing out it is difficult to count accurately when there is such a lack of seriousness among the players. One Casino has been forced to send its younger croupiers on vacation since they were not able to keep their minds on the game.

"I A" book. Attorney Benjamin L. Steinberg, representing the Kline forces, contended that the number of the tax receipt which is on record in the registration books was the evidence on which he based his case. Nevertheless the board heard every witness.

A score of the witnesses claimed they had given no written orders for the receipts they used in registering. Those named as securing the receipts were Barnhart, Walter John, Raymond Tosh, Charles Koch, William Bauer, L. J. Berringer, Charles Kiefer, Lan Disipio, Robert White, Oscar Ploth and Russell Jacobus.

Attorney Oliver K. Eaton, counsel for the Malone group, late yesterday afternoon called on Tax Collector Christy and asked him to issue tax receipts to the persons who face disfranchisement. Christy refused, stating that he had been instructed not to issue them.

'LABOR SWAYED FASCIST SHIFT'

By GUGLIELMO EMANUEL, International News Service.

ROME, Sept. 13.—Ascendency to power by the labor element in some parts of Europe, notably in Great Britain, was believed today to be a contributing cause of the drastic reorganization of the cabinet by Premier Benito Mussolini.

This is the first break in the growing concentration of the Fascist party's governmental power since the group came into power here approximately seven years ago.

FASCIST CABINET

The new ministers who took over the ministerial posts relinquished by Premier Mussolini are all staunch members of the Fascist party, but it is likely that non-Fascists will be admitted to the cabinet in the future.

It was pointed out that the controlling powers would be winning to go outside the ranks of the Fascist party for experts if the required abilities and talents cannot be found within the organization.

While the press refrains from commenting upon Premier Mussolini's aims, observers believe that the widespread cabinet reorganization is the initial step towards "normalization."

DICTATORSHIP WANES

By "normalization" was meant the distribution of ministerial powers instead of concentration of several postfolios in the hands of one official.

Italy today has returned to the ordinary European cabinet system without a "ministerial dictatorship."

"Il Duce" is now at greater liberty to concentrate his tremendous energies upon pet projects for the good of his native land. It is understood these deal with the expansion of industry; intensive agriculture; increase in national resources and kindred reforms to make Italy more prosperous.

Lone Vacations Blamed for Divorces

WILMINGTON, Del., Sept. 13.—(INS.)—"Love basking" instead of sun basking was blamed today by Resident Judge Herbert L. Rite for an increase in the number of divorce cases scheduled for the new term of Superior Court here.

"Wives or husbands not on the best of terms with their mates are prone to take their vacations separately," Judge Rite said. "On the second day of such vacations the unhappy man or woman is at the feet of some newly-met god or goddess, then back they come from vacations and promptly file papers for divorce."

Jury Holds Bay Rum Illegal Intoxicant

DES MOINES, Ia., Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Bay rum from the five-and-ten store has been classified by a Des Moines jury as a palatable and intoxicating beverage and therefore against the laws of the Corn State.

Three thousand bottles of bay rum were seized in a raid at a five-and-ten-cent store. Condemnation proceedings were brought. After three days of testimony devoted to showing that bay rum was both palatable and intoxicating, the jury voted last night that the liquid be condemned.

RACKET KILLING REVIVES FEUD

NEWARK, Sept. 13.—(INS.)—Police today feared the war of attrition among slot machine racketeers is on in full blast. Another of the crowd, Tom Ahearn, a many-alias man of long police record, is the latest. His body was found crumpled in the back seat of an automobile early today, just a few blocks from where Jimmy Batto's body was similarly found yesterday on upper Fifth avenue.

Detectives say slot machine racketeering troubles was partly responsible for Frankie Marlow's killing some time ago. They wondered today who would be next.

Peanut vending machines were Ahearn's real racket, although, police say, he conducted a speakeasy as a sideline.

Negro Captured After Long Chase

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., Sept. 13.—Oliver Holly, 24, Negro, is held on a charge of attempting to force an entrance to the Beaver Valley Country House, Patterson Heights. Two attendants interrupted Holly, chased him down a hill and then turned him over to Sheriff William B. Kennedy.

Widow Gets $25,000 Willed to Husband

Mrs. Anna R. Wetzler, of 3742 Baytree street, receives the $25,000 estate of her mother-in-law, Mrs. Elizabeth Wetzler, under her will filed for probate today. The will named the testator's son, William P. Wetzler, as heir, but as he died, the property, according to the will, goes to his widow and her children.

BANKERS NAMED FOR DEBT PACT

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(INS.)—Two "self-made men" who have forged to the forefront of the banking world from lowly beginnings, prepared to leave for Europe to represent the United States on the sub-committee appointed by The Hague reparations conference to draw up the statutes of the bank of international settlements.

They are Jackson E. Reynolds, president of the First National Bank of New York, and Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National Bank of Chicago.

Personally selected by Owen D. Young and J. P. Morgan, originators of the international bank plan, both men have accepted the invitation, and news of their appointments has been confirmed in Wall Street.

Formal announcement of the appointments probably will await publication of the full list of committeemen from abroad, each country being involved by the international bank being entitled to its quota of representation.

ACCEPTED

PARIS, Sept. 13.—(INS.)—The Bank of France announced this afternoon that Jackson E. Reynolds, of New York, and Melvin A. Traylor, of Chicago, have accepted as the American representatives on the organization committee which will work out plans for the proposed bank of international settlements. This is the bank which will collect and distribute German reparation annuities.

LAMAR KILLERS PLEAD GUILTY

LAMAR, Colo., Sept. 13.—(AP.—Pleading guilty to first degree murder, bank robbery and kidnaping, three members of the gang that held up the First National Bank here in May, 1928, threw themselves upon the mercy of the court. Their trial was set for October 1. Under the Colorado law the jury or judge must assess the penalty, death not being compulsory.

Ralph Fleagle, George J. Abshir and Howard Royston were the prisoners who entered the pleas. They were arrested after a nation-wide search. One of their gang, Jake Fleagle, still is at large.

Four men were killed in connection with the holdup in which the robbers stole $200,000 and kidnaped three men, two of whom later were put to death.

ALIEN LAND BAN HIT IN COURT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(INS)—A new attack on the constitutionality of the California anti-alien land law was launched in the Supreme Court when the California Delta Farms, Inc., filed a brief asserting that the act is invalid because it impairs contracts.

The appeal was made after a lower court held invalid the sale of land in San Joaquin Valley to the Chinese-American Farms, Inc., by the California Delta Farms, Inc.

The contract of sale was made in 1919 before the alien land law was passed but the lower court held that the land law had abrogated it.

PRISON SWINDLE TALE DOUBTED

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 13.—(INS.)—Following a conference with prison officials, Gov. C. C. Young announced that an examination of Folsom prison records disclosed nothing to substantiate charges of "Count" Albert Sichofsky that he had been swindled out of a large amount of money while an inmate of the prison.

The self-styled Polish Count is now held at Ellis Island, awaiting deportation.

In addition to accusations made against the former members of the prison board, Sichofsky alleges other California officers bilked him out of large amounts, setting the total amount at approximately $200,000.

40 Police Dogs Trail Trousers Burglar

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—(INS.)—New York's elusive "pants burglar," who has rifled $10,000 from the trousers of more than 60 sleeping residents of Staten Island in the last few weeks, was still at large today, with 40 police dogs on his trail. The thief turned out the pockets of another victim last night for a $68 haul.

Verdict Deferred In Kvale's Death

FERGUS FALLS, Minn., Sept. 12.—(AP.)—Formal verdict of accidental death of Congressman O. J. Kvale was deferred today at the request of John L. Townley, Otter Tail county attorney, and Sheriff O. J. Wheaton.

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern

A DISTINCTIVE BLOUSE MODEL.

Black and white satin is combined in this pleasing style. The white forms the deep vestee, and collar, also the band cuffs, of the graceful sleeve. The blouse may be worn tucked in or in slip-over style. Crepe de chine, fla. crepe, jersey, georgette, and linen are also suggested for its development.

The pattern is cut in 6 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches, bust measure. To make the blouse for a 38 inch size and of one material will require 2¼ yards 39 inches wide. For facing of contrasting material on collar, vestee and sleeve bands ⅝ yard 39 inches wide will be required.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

ATTACKS TWO AFTER RAID

Brandishing a meat clever, Mike Kudrab attacked two men in Forbes street, near Seneca, this afternoon after his home had been raided by prohibition agents, police reported.

Accosting Frank McWilliams, 2019 Forbes street, returning from work, Kudrab, police say, struck McWilliams with the flat side of the clever on the back, stomach and side, and then chased a Negro pedestrian.

A crowd of 200, most of them drawn by the raid, closed in on Kudrab and held him until police answered a riot call. He was lodged in Center Avenue Police Station. McWilliams was taken home.

Real Estate

A row of five double houses at 724-42 Shady drive, east, Mt. Lebanon, lot 245x100 feet, has been sold for Frank Rothaus to L. J. Kamons, who deeded in part payment an apartment building at 422 Dinwiddie street and an apartment building in the rear at 8-10 Devilliers street. The latter parcel adjoins a commercial building which Mr. Rothaus has owned for years. The Auslander Krasnow Company closed the deal.

The American Steel Band Company has purchased from W. N. Jenkins a property at 1410 Nixon street, North Side. The ground was bought for the expansion of the company's business. The deal was made through W. B. Dawson & Company.

The Columbia Steel and Shafting Company bought two acres in Mulberry way, Twenty-eighth ward, from Thomas J. Kearns, for $6,500. The tract adjoins their holdings in the East Carnegie district.

A frame dwelling on 83x150 feet in Churchland street, Homewood, has been sold through Ellis & Carr for Frank Gross to R. R. Nuttall for $10,000.

The Keystone Development and Home Building Corporation has taken title from Thomas J. Ingram to 230 lots in Paul place plan, off Pioneer avenue, Brookline. A number of new homes will be built for the market.

In McKeesport, the Anna S. Wiggins estate sold to the St. John the Baptist Little Russian Congregation 92x150 feet with a frame dwelling at the southeast corner of Shaw avenue and Huey street, for $27,000.

"HOW MY FEET HURT"

"Then an imprint of my foot showed me what was wrong. Tight, pointed shoes were cramping and distorting the toes, foot muscles and metatarsal."

If your feet are in a weakened condition ... if they throb with pain, you'll find quick relief with Ground Gripper shoes.

1. The Flexible Arch, which allows the foot muscles to exercise and thus strengthen themselves with every step.
2. The Straight Inner Line, permitting the toes to function with a free, strong, gripping action.
3. The Patented Rotor Heel, which helps you toe straight ahead, the normal, natural way.

MINES' OUTPUT INCREASED

HARRISBURG, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—A forecast made last month by Secretary of Mines Walter H. Glasgow that the production of anthracite coal would be increased 20 per cent in August over July, was exceeded.

Figures compiled by the department show that the gross tonnage mined in August was 4,885,000 tons, an increase of 25 per cent over the 3,900,000-ton production of July. The June output was 4,000,000 gross tons.

A continued increase is expected by the secretary, who bases his opinion on the fall seasonal demand and employment reports of the Department of Labor and Industry.

The production of bituminous in August was 10,300,000 net tons as compared with 10,000,000 net tons in July.

Sixty-two miners were killed last month, 31 in each branch of the industry.

Tried in Shooting, Two Offer Alibi

WASHINGTON, Pa., Sept. 13.—Defense rested its case in the trial of Herman and Frank Orris, of near Burgettstown, charged with blinding Constable W. F. Core, of Burgettstown. The defense attempted to prove that Henry Orris, another brother who was later shot and killed while resisting arrest, fired the shot which blinded the constable. The commonwealth contends Henry Orris had been staying at another house on the night of the shooting.

High School Student Quits Mayor Race

TILTONVILLE, O., Sept. 13.—Joseph Berto, Tiltonville high school senior who filed for mayor at the November election, has withdrawn from the race. Berto said his high school studies would be all that he would have time to care for.

Berto is 23 years old. He had no trouble in obtaining the necessary signatures to his petition, which was filed with the Jefferson County Election Board. The day after the closing date for entries in the November race, he sent in a letter of withdrawal.

Baby Run Down Crossing Road

WASHINGTON, Pa., Sept. 13.—William Strnisha, 3, son of Martin Strnisha, at Lincoln Hill, is in the Washington Hospital with a fractured thigh and severe bruises about the body, as the result of being struck down by an automobile driven, police said, by James Thompson, of Washington road, while he was crossing the road before his home. Thompson rushed the child to the hospital.

Governor Cooper To Face Conference

CAMBRIDGE, O., Sept. 13.—The high spot in the program of the North-East Ohio M. E. Conference in session here will come Saturday afternoon when Gov. Myers Y. Cooper and Congressman C. Ellis Moore are scheduled to give addresses. Gov. Cooper served as president of the Ohio Council of Churches for several years.

Wife, Husband Father Seeking Office

YORKVILLE, O., Sept. 13.—Three members of one family are candidates for municipal office here. Mrs. Anna Tesi, the town's first councilwoman, is a candidate for re-election after refusing to run for mayor, and her husband, Orlando Tesi, is out for school board. Her father, A. D. Serafini, is out for council. As there are six places to fill, he is not directly opposing the re-election of his daughter.

Oil Well Supply Builds New Office

OIL CITY, Pa., Sept. 13.—The Oil Well Supply has started work on the erection of a new office building with the L. O. Bouquin Company, of Oil City, as the contractor. The building is to be erected in two units, the first of which will cost $30,000 and will be ready for occupancy on February 1. The date for the erection of the second unit has not been set.

The first unit will consist of a three-story brick building, with stone trim. When this building is completed the headquarters of the Oil Well Supply Company will be moved from Pittsburgh to Oil City.

Germantown Man Added to Faculty

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Sept. 13.—Prof. Herman Mueller, for the past 11 years a member of the faculty at Germantown Academy, near Philadelphia, has been named instructor in modern languages at Waynesburg College for the coming school year. Mueller will take the place of Prof. A. M. Perpetuo, resigned.

NATIONS RENEW RELATIONS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Bolivia and Paraguay have agreed to resume diplomatic relations after a lapse since last December, when war threatened to intrude itself between the two countries as a result of a boundary dispute.

With the sine die adjournment of the commission of inquiry and conciliation considering the controversy but one day off, the Paraguayan members deposited with the commission their government's ratification of the conciliation formula agreed to Monday by Bolivia.

Child Loses Tonsil By Fall Upon Bar

TILTONVILLE, O., Sept. 13.—Betty Jean Neely, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Neely, combined an operation for removal of a tonsil with play and is recovering. She fell on the handle of a tricycle and the steel rod penetrated the roof of her mouth. One tonsil was almost completely severed.

East Liverpool Gets New Pottery Plant

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Sept. 13.—Plans for the erection of a $750,000 tunnel kiln pottery next spring were announced by the Hall China Company after closing a deal for the purchase of a 21-acre tract in East End.

Co-Operative Mine Idle; Prices Blamed

YORKVILLE, O., Sept. 13.—The Walnut Hill Mining Company, as the Yorkville co-operative mine is known, will remain idle until there is an advance in the price of coal. Approximately 50 miners have been working the plant co-operatively for more than a year, paying in each pay day a certain percentage to cover their share of operative expenses. Coal dropped to an average of $1.17 a ton for all grades, and, due to cost of materials remaining high, the miners had not been able to make the project a financial success. It was decided to shut down until conditions improve.

Briggs in Hospital For Eye Treatment

BALTIMORE, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—The condition of Claire Briggs, cartoonist, who entered Johns Hopkins Hospital for observation preparatory to treatment on his eyes, was reported as favorable at the institution last night. It was said that he was suffering from neuritis of the optic nerve and that he would probably remain at the hospital about 10 days.

21 Miles of Road Built During Week

HARRISBURG, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—The state department of highways announced that 21 miles of concrete pavement were completed last week, bringing the total for the year up to 321 miles. Two hundred and eight contracts are now under way in the state.

BLAZE IN HALL FATAL TO ONE

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Sept. 13.—Fire, damaging a curtain on the stage of the Legion Hall here, abruptly ended a meeting of the state P. O. S. of A., indirectly caused the death of W. H. Reese, instructor in science at Shepherd College, Shepherdstown, W. V., and imperiled the lives of several hundred people, including Congressman Albert Johnson, of Washington, chairman of the House committee on immigration, who had previously spoken on "Immigration." Little damage was done the curtain or hall, and the crowd fled in orderly manner.

Dr. Reese, formerly a member of the faculty of Potomac State School, Keyser, W. Va., had just concluded a talk on "Schools." He and Mrs. Reese left the building with the crowd when the fire was seen. Several hundred feet from the building, on his way to his hotel, he collapsed and died.

Congressman Johnson left the building with the crowd and was not injured.

Maidsville Youth Connected in Killing

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Sept. 13.—John Friel, 20, Maidsville, W. Va., was convicted of voluntary manslaughter in connection with the fatal shooting of Bert Wells, Maidsville miner, at Mt. Morris, on August 15. The jury was composed of nine men and three women. Friel pleaded self defense.

Four other persons, Mrs. Margaret Schatzel, Fred Curtis, Charles Corwin and Tony Ruds, who witnessed the murder and who named Friel as "trigger man," were placed on trial here late yesterday. A special night session was held to complete selection of a jury.

Bride, 13, to Keep House and Go To School

WILMINGTON, Del., Sept. 13.—(INS.)—"We can keep house, even if I have to go to school. But I love William and I'm going to stay with him," 13-year-old Alice Leonizio Cozzi told police.

The girl disappeared from her home Sunday and was married to William Cozzi, 21, that day, she told her parents and police who found them living at the home of a shoemaker here.

But the state education laws demand that children must continue school work full time until they are 14 and part time until they are 16. So with the blessing of her parents, the youthful bride will prepare the morning ham and eggs for her husband, attend school and then return in the afternoon to do the housework and cook dinner.

GERMANS FIGHT U. S. TALKIES

STUTTGART, Sept. 13.—(A.P.)—Another step in the war on American sound films was taken here when a boycott on foreign produced tone films was unanimously voted at a crowded meeting of the German National Association of moving picture theater owners. A further resolution advocated a strong national government censorship age for children.

Opposition to foreign tone films was declared to be based chiefly on artistic and cultural grounds, but the danger of foreign competition with the German tone film industry is regarded as the real source of the objection. The only exception to the general boycott recommended was in the case of films produced abroad in the German language.

CANDIDATE GETS HERO MEDAL

Valor under fire in France during the World War received its tardy reward today when James L. McInerney, 342 Evaline street, was decorated with the Distinguished Service Cross by Col. Thomas L. Anderson, chief of staff of the Ninety-ninth Division.

The decoration ceremony took place in the directors' room of the Westinghouse Building, Penn avenue, in the presence of civic officials, army officers and enlisted men. McInerney is the Malone candidate for county sheriff.

McInerney, who was a private of Battery F, One Hundred and Seventh Field Artillery, Twenty-eight Division, during the World War, according to the official war department citation, "performed extraordinary service in action at Fismnette, France, August 20, 1918."

When the battery to which McInerney belonged changed position at midnight it was caught unprotected from an enemy barrage. Several men were killed and wounded. When the commanding officer asked for volunteer rescuers, McInerney secured a wagon and placed it in a sheltered position. He made several successive trips across a shell-swept area and carried the wounded to cover. Under heavy shell fire he drove the wounded to a base hospital until he was forced out of action by mustard gas burns. Despite his burns, McInerney remained on duty until ordered to a field hospital.

Lineman Killed At Work on Pole

YOUTH ADMITS KILLING BOY

WELCH, W. Va., Sept. 13.—(A.P.)—A confession, B. F. Howard, assistant prosecuting attorney for McDowell County said, cleared up all mystery surrounding the death of Edward Smith, 9-year-old Negro whose body was recovered from a tributary of the Dry Fork River yesterday.

Howard said the confession was given to him at the slain Negro's funeral by Charles Mitchell, 18, who exonerated two youths held with him pending investigation of the slaying. He quoted Mitchell as admitting he choked the Negro boy and threw his body into the stream after becoming angry at abusive language used by Smith. The youths exonerated were Elmore Hooker and Pedro Garza, both of Bartley. Howard ordered their release from jail.

Waynesburg Man Sues Over Injury

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Sept. 13.—Oscar H. Ryder, of Erie, Pa., has been named defendant in a $10,000 damage action started here by John Burke, a Waynesburg resident, who claims he was permanently injured when struck by a "hit-and-run" driver in Waynesburg on August 30, who is claimed to have been operating a machine owned by Ryder. The operator of the car was said to have been a woman.

Fire Prevention Program Outlined

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., Sept. 13.—Ellwood City will observe national fire prevention week on October 8 with a demonstration by the fire department, which will include a run against time and an exhibition of fire fighting. Talks on fire prevention will also be given before the civic clubs, and questionnaires on fire prevention will be given school children.

PITTSBURGHERS IN PLAY GROUP

HARRISBURG, Sept. 13.—(INS.)—Gov. John S. Fisher today announced the names of 18 persons appointed to represent Pennsylvania at the national recreation congress to be held at Louisville, Ky., October 14 to 19. At the same time the Governor announced 19 other appointments of delegates to the annual convention of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association to be held at New York, September 16 to 20.

Those named to the recreation congress were Walter May, Miss Helen Harris, Sidney Teller, W. C. Batchelor and E. V. Babcock, all of Pittsburgh; S. S. Fleisher, Mrs. Livingston Jones, John B. Kremer, Mrs. E. Walter Clark, Jacob S. Disston, Gordon A. Block, Howard W. Elkinton, Mrs. Franic I. Scheetz, Mrs. Eli K. Price, Mrs. Henry S. Bromley and Mr. and Mrs. Horatio H. Morris, all of Philadelphia; Mrs. Harold Braun, of Wynnewood and Jacob Hoffman, of Harrisburg.

The folowing were named to the Waterways Association convention: Ellwood B. Chapman, Charles J. Webb, Gen. William G. Price, Jr., Richard Weglein, J. S. W. Holton, James B. Bonner, Philip Godley, Philip Gadsen, Elisha Webb, Thomas F. Armstrong, William E. Bernard, George D. Van Sciver and Kern Dodge, all of Philadelphia; Harry Palmer, of Langhorne; Philip H. Johnson, of Essington; Joseph de Benneville Abbott, of Bristol; Samuel E. Turner, of Chester, and Thomas B. Stockham, of Morrisville.

Civic Association Elects Officers

The new officers are: Joseph A. Heyl, president; Mrs. J. Q. A. Cook, first vice-president; Mrs. William F. Madigan, second vice-president; Earl H. Allinbaugh, secretary; J. A. Campbell, treasurer, and Walter G. Myers and Mrs. Lillian Snyder, delegates to the Allied Boards of Trade. Directors elected were C. C. McMaster, Henry Fox, Mrs. Anna Bower, Richard Wheatley, Charles Guenther, Mrs. William Driscoll, John Donovan, Mrs. William Shinton, Charles Goebert, Mrs. Robert Esterberg, Thelma Smith and Voit L. Dickinson.

Messenger Boy Robbed of $5 Aiding Man

Daniel Tatten, 14, a messenger boy, of 4413 Gladstone street, was out $5 today as a result of lending that amount to a stranger last night.

The man, police said, stopped Tatten and asked him if he would help carry a talking machine. Tatten agreed after the man had promised a tip. The stranger then declared that he had only $40 and needed five more. After borrowing the money from Daniel, he disappeared.

G. A. R. ELECTS PITTSBURGHER

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 13.—(INS.)—New officers and the site for the 1930 encampment having been chosen, veterans ending the sixty-third national reunion of the Grand Army of the Republic today turned their atention to sight-seeing and recounting old tales.

Edwin J. Foster, of Worcester, Mass., one of the youngest comrades of the Civil War, today was the new commander-in-chief, having been chosen on the third ballot. Commander Foster, who is 79, enlisted at the age of 14.

PITTSBURGHER ELECTED

Injuries Fatal To Alliance Man

ALLIANCE, O., Sept. 13.—Lawrence Roose, 49, died at the City Hospital from injuries suffered when hit by an automobile driven by Miss Jane Boyd.

AUTHORS TALK SEX REFORM

LONDON, Sept. 13.—(INS.)—Problems dealing with lessening of sex repression in art and literature were being discussed by delegates to the World League for Sexual Reform in session here today.

Prominent authors and artists from all over Europe are attending the conference. The trend of discussion thus far has been in opposition to censorship, as exercised at present, the delegates charging that it tends to repress serious treatment of the subject in art and literature, while condoning it in popular songs and writings in humorous vein.

One of the most enthusiastically applauded addresses was delivered by John Van Druten, author of "Young Woodley," who charged that in the matter of sex and modern thought the theater of the present day was two decades behind the times.

SHOCKS EN MASSE

"The ease with which present-day audiences are shocked by things which in no way shock an individual is extraordinary," Van Druten declared. "There are certain things which cannot be treated on the stage today because serious consideration of them shocks the audience and the censors.

"But apparently what is too silly or immoral to be said may be sung with abandon, or what is too shocking to be taken seriously may be bantered about or made the grounds for a rude jest."

The American playwright suggested creation of two classes of theaters. One of which would be subject to censorship, where the audience need have no fear of being shocked, and the other free from censorship.

NEW STANDARD NEEDED

Dr. Magnus Hirshfield, of Berlin, told the delegates that a new definition was needed of what offended decency.

"In recent years," he declared, "any act characterized as offending the sense of decency is held to be indecent. But there is no objective test of what is decent or indecent, and it is entirely a subjective question. Perhaps no definition can be arrived at to cover the issue, as it appears to be an arbitrary question entirely."

One delegate declared that the only books entirely free from sexual matters were research indices and the telephone directories. Desmond McCarthy, London critic and editor, said that it was an utter impossibility to attempt to eradicate sex from art and literature.

"The public never has and never will stand very long for any drastic attempts in that direction," he said.

Weather Conditions.

The low pressure area that was centered over the northern plains and northward yesterday morning is moving eastward slowly. It is now centered over Wisconsin, lowest barometer reported, 29.62 inches, at Green Bay. It is causing cloudy weather nearly everywhere east of the Rockies and rain along the Ohio River and over Tennessee. Rain occurred over all the states from the central plains eastward, light generally, but moderately heavy in several localities in the Ohio valley. The heaviest rainfall reported was 2.60 inches, at Cairo. Rain was general over Western Pennsylvania, but not sufficient to break the severe drouth. Temperatures are normal or slightly above over the eastern half of the country, cool over the West, and freezing temperatures in Manitoba.

River Conditions.

Light rains occurred over the watersheds, but there will be no change in the river stages. Stage at Pittsburgh is 10.1 feet; Dam No. 2, 8.6; Dam No. 9, 8.6, and Dam No. 12, 3.9. The dams are up.

HALTS EVICTION OF FAMILY OF 16

Fourteen children in the family of Harry and Mary Reicker will call 1003 Galveston avenue home for a few more days, due to the intervention of Police Lieut. Harry Moore.

Police summoned to the home today by neighbors, say they found W. B. Shorter, Negro constable from Alderman M. J. Griffin's office, attempting to evict the family for non-payment of rent. He had brought along Howard Reed, second-hand furniture dealer, of Anderson street, it is said, to store the furniture.

The family of Reicker, a bus driver, is in dire straits, the result of sickness, injuries, the arrival of a new baby, and a meager salary.

When the constable appeared today Mrs. Reicker attacked him with a broom and her son, Charles, assisted her, police say. In the melee the boy's arm was slightly injured.

Lieut. Moore prevailed upon the constable to permit the family to remain in the house until Monday, that another home might be obtained. The father and the oldest son, 18, are the only ones working. Two children recently were struck by autos.

Pardon Sought For Farrell Man

MERCER, Pa., Sept. 13.—County officials announced that a pardon will be sought for Philip Restituto, of Farrell, now in the Western Penitentiary on a charge of murder in the second degree. Restituto was charged with the killing of two men and the wounding of a third when he found them attacking his common law wife, Sarah Messina, with a meat cleaver.

Australia's Second Election in Year Set

CANBERRA, Australia, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Polling day in the Australian general election has been fixed for October 12, it was officially announced today. Thus Australia will have had two general elections within a year, the last having taken place November 17.

Street Opening Planned

Former President Of Council Dead

Charles Summer Crawford is dead at his home, 226 South Fairmount avenue, East End. Mr. Crawford, who died yesterday, headed a reform movement in 1902 when he served as president of the old Common Council of the city.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Dora Dorsey Crawford; three daughters, Mrs. William Miller, of Atlanta, Ga.; Edith and Ruth, at home, and one grandchild.

Banker Returns To Baptist Pulpit

WELCH, W. Va., Sept. 13.—The Rev. D. M. Dorsey, of Charleston, has accepted the pastorate of the First Baptist Church here and will assume his new work at once. The Rev. Mr. Dorsey is a graduate of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville, Ky., but since his graduation has been engaged in banking. The local church will be his first pastorate.

Court Petitioned To Confiscate Yawl

United States Attorney John D. Meyer today petitioned Federal Court to permit the government to confiscate a yawl seized by the coast guard in Lake Erie May 25. The boat was carrying a cargo of liquor, Meyer claimed.

The court ordered Pat Gordano, of Erie, alleged owner, to show cause why the yawl should not be confiscated and set October 1 as the date for a hearing at the Erie term of court.

Radiola 33 In Low-Boy Brunswick Cabinet R-1 by RCA

Remember— These Are All Brand New—Each Marked with Serial Number and Delivered as Crated at the Factory with Guarantee Enclosed.

$69 All Electric All Complete!

Instead of $122.75

On Easy Terms

Here's What It's Worth:

RCA Radiola 33 .... $54.00
RCA 100-A Speaker .. 29.00
7 RCA Radiotrons ... 14.75
Brunswick Cabinet .. 25.00
STANDARD PRICE $122.75

You would not for a minute question the quality of these RCA products, and the Radiola 33 is their most popular model—here it is in the Brunswick Low-boy Cabinet (as pictured)—with the famous RCA 100A Speaker, noted for its clear, distinct tone. Powered with 7 RCA Radiotrons you are positive of unfailing reception.

A radio you can justly be proud of and one that will give you utmost satisfaction, but—instead of $122.75, you buy it at May-Stern's at $69 all complete.

You no doubt know that Radiola 33 is noted for its sharp selectivity due to the precise tuning adjustment from the single illuminated dial. Its tone, too, is unusually distinct and clear, perhaps because of the famous RCA 100A speaker, which is built-in and regulated by the volume control knob on the left. A pendant type switch adds to the attractive appearance.

The exquisite Brunwick Low-boy type cabinet is a creation of the cabinetmaker's art. It is of richly grained genuine American Walnut; has rounded corners, deeply fluted; neatly turned legs and artistic stretcher base. A very distinctive addition to the well appointed home.

Typewriters, Card Tables on Airplane

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Sept. 13.—The snappiest plane ever built at the Glendale plant of the Fokker Aircraft corporation is now en route west. It it tri-motored and has a wingspread of 50 feet. Tables for cards and portable typewriters in colors harmonizing with a green and gold color scheme are features, as is an electric refrigerator.

Zep Makes Flight Over North Germany

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—The Graf Zeppelin returned to its home port last night after an eight-hour flight over the Rhineland and North Germany.

5 Mexican Railroad Guards Die in Wreck

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Five soldiers of the military escort of a Guadalajara-Mexico City train were killed yesterday when the train was derailed between Prieto and Lena, 70 miles northwest of Mexico City. The derailment was caused by a washout.

School Enrollment Increases Periods

GROVE CITY, Pa., Sept. 13.—Due to the heavy registration, classes at the local high school will be operated on the eight-period schedule. It was found that classes were too crowded for the seven-period plan.

Chiropractor Dies From Heart Attack

WHEELING, W. Va., Sept. 13.—Dr. John A. Monroe, 44, president of the State Board of Examiners of Chiropractors, thirty-second degree Mason and Shriner, was found dead in his office here yesterday afternoon. A heart attack is attributed as the cause. He was born in West Alexander, Pa.

Under Knife

MRS. JAMES J. WALKER

WALKER'S WIFE UNDER KNIFE

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Mrs. James J. Walker, wife of the Mayor, was reported "doing nicely" at Broad Street Hospital today after an emergency operation for mastoiditis.

She had suffered two days with pains in her right ear and yesterday was advised by her physician that an operation was imperative.

Mayor Walker, who was advised at City Hall of the impending operation, hurried to the hospital and remained with Mrs. Walker until he had been assured that the operation had been satisfactory.

Mrs. Walker formerly was Janet Allen, of New York. She and the Mayor were married in 1912.

NUDE PARADERS FACE EXILE

VICTORIA, B. C., Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Segregation of fanatical Doukhobors by the Dominion Government in an island prison colony has been suggested by the authorities of British Columbia.

Disturbances arising from the practice of the Doukhobors of holding nude processions and their defiance of school laws have resulted in nearly 200 of them being jailed and a number of their children being committed to public institutions.

The plan for a prison colony on Darcy Island in Georgia Bay has been placed before Dr. J. H. King, Dominion Minister of Health, by provincial authorities, who contend that the disposition of fanatical groups among the sect is a Dominion problem. The Doukhobors were brought into the provinces of British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Alberta, by the Ottawa government under contract. None of the provinces, officials pointed out, could deal with the situation adequately.

Rivera Asks Spain Celebrate 'Coup'

MADRID, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Gen. Primo de Rivera, Spanish dictator, today called upon Spain to pay solemn observance to the seventh anniversary of the military coup d'etat which thrust him into power, September 13, 1923. He called attention to the approach of the time when the new constitution he recently caused to be drawn up will be promulgated, and urged nation-wide support for it.

Raiders Find Racket Indictment Papers

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Two indictments returned by a Cook County grand jury against James (High Pockets) O'Brien were found among papers seized in a beer flat raid yesterday. The state's attorney today sought to learn how the true bills got out of his office vaults and into the flat of Lester (Curley) Elliott. O'Brien, hunted for months as the guiding genius of the slot machine syndicate, is believed to have fled from the flat as the raiders arrived.

Sharpsville Negro Arrested in Raid

SHARPSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 13.—Charged with violating the liquor laws following a raid by officers on his home, Boyd Wade, Negro, was held for court under $1,500 bail.

D'Annunzio Aloof As Fiume Drive Is Celebrated

GARDONE, Italy, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Gabriel D'Annunzio held himself aloof yesterday while all Italy celebrated the tenth anniversary of his march on Ronchi, an event which led up to his capture of Fiume. Despite a barrage of telegrams from government ministers, civil officials, ex-legionnaires of Fuime and war veterans and Fascists generally, he remained at work on his newest literary project.

The countryside about his residence was resplendent with festooned lights and flags, but the poet-warrier would not show himself nor even send a message to be read at the demonstrations in Fiume, Rome and elsewhere throughout the kingdom.

MARK HOME OF NANCY HANKS

KEYSER, W. Va., Sept. 13.—A meeting of the Nancy Hanks Memorial Commission appointed by Gov. William C. Conley of West Virginia, has been called at Mountain View, McNeill's, four miles north of Moorefield, on Saturday, September 21. Dr. William E. Barton, the Lincoln historian, will meet with the commission.

Through Andrew Price, historian, who resides at Marlinton, W. Va., the birthplace of Nancy Hanks, the mother of Lincoln, has been established in Doll's Gap, a few miles up Mike's Run, in Mineral County. Dr. Barton, who, in 1927, visited Mike's Run territory in an effort to locate the birthplace site, has accepted Dr. Price's version.

On Sunday afternoon an open-air meeting is planned to be held in Doll's Gap, on Mike's Run, when a stone will be set to mark the place where the cabin stood in which Nancy Hanks was born.

SECOND KILLING TRIAL BEGINS

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 13.—(AP.)—A jury of six men and six women was completed late yesterday to try Sam Bard, 25, of Minneapolis, Minn., for the killing of Russell T. Swanson, a highway patrolman, at North East last April 19. Bard, one of three men indicted in the slaying, is alleged to have confessed he fired the shot that killed the officer.

Three men who served on the jury that convicted Fred N. Halverson, 40, another of the trio charged with killing Swanson, of voluntary manslaughter yesterday, were seated in the jury box at the trial of Bard.

With the opening of Bard's trial, only one of the defendants remained to go before the bar. He is Joe Invie, also of Minneapolis. The three men were in an automobile which Swanson was escorting to a police station when he was shot and killed.

WASN'T INTENDED TO BEAUTIFY PEOPLE, BUT IT DOES Remarkable Results Follow the Taking of World's Tonic

"For years I had suffered from indigestion, stomach, liver, kidney and bowel trouble. I had severe pains which resulted from the kidney and catarrh trouble. The effects were marked, for while I am yet a young woman, I grew painfully thin, the color left my skin, and it became sallow and ugly, and my eyes lost their sparkle and grew so weak I had to wear glasses.

"No one seemed able to tell me what was the matter, and I didn't feel like going out with other young people at all. Finally my grocer told me he had been wonderfully helped by World's Tonic, and urged me to get a bottle. He said he thought I had catarrh. I guess he was right for about the first effect of this wonderful medicine was to clear up my head. In a few days my appetite increased, and I felt much better. After two bottles my skin began to clear up, and the pink showed through. At the end of three bottles I commenced to gain in weight.

"Now people comment on my improvement. My skin is clear and rosy, my eyes are bright, and I have gained twenty pounds. I didn't commence World's Tonic as a beautifier, but in addition to relieving my catarrh, it has done more for me than all the face creams, mud packs, etc., that I have ever used."

That is the story told by a young woman who visited Dow's drug store Monday.

World's Tonic will help you. It is sold by Dow's, formerly McCulloch's, also May's and Mayflower, and all other reliable druggists. (A-163)

What Kind of a Man Should the People of Pittsburgh Choose for City Controller?

Who is this Henry O. Evans who seeks the office of Controller of the City of Pittsburgh?

Here is the astounding financial history of the man who seeks one of the most important offices within the gift of the people of Pittsburgh.

We submit to the voters of our city this record of Henry O. Evans. It is prepared to deal in the form of a series of articles, each with a separate phase of his remarkable career.

Before a Bank or other Corporation engages an employee for an important position it carefully scrutinizes not only recommendations he presents, but his business and personal record. ¶The corporation regards this information as essential. First, on the assumption that the prospective employee's future could be judged by his past. Second, to make certain that no objectionable financial transactions in the past, would confront him in his new position to embarrass not only the employee but the employer. ¶Henry O. Evans was appointed City Controller several months ago upon the death of his predecessor. He now seeks an elective term at the hands of the people. ¶The Controller is the City's Auditor of all expenditures. He controls the annual budget once it is made. He directs the City's financial affairs. That means that he supervises the expenditures of at least $45,000,000 of the City's money each year.

Are the people of Pittsburgh ready to elect as their City Controller this man whose financial history discloses, according to official records of Federal and State courts, unsatisfied judgments against him of upwards of $200,000; reveals, according to these same official court records, that notes, signed by him, instead of being paid at maturity appear later as judgments of which there is no record of payment; failure to pay to the very city at whose hands he asks public office, the taxes on the very house in which he lives; the bankruptcy of a company which he headed for the gigantic sum of $240,000, out of which the creditors got six cents on the dollar; and in one instance at least, the recording of this same Henry O. Evans, under his solemn oath, the damaging confession that he had been guilty of "an attempt to create an illegal preference in a composition of creditors" in a scheme to reorganize a company then in the hands of a Receiver.

We do not believe that a man of his financial record should be entrusted with public office, especially one calling for the supervision of the expenditure of millions of dollars of other people's money.

FOR THIS REASON, we, as taxpayers, are setting forth in this series of advertisements, the financial record of Henry O. Evans.

DR. WM. A. RENNE
JAMES GRAY

Vital Information Concerning the Campaign for City Controller

Henry O. Evans, candidate for the office of Controller of the City of Pittsburgh, so far, has nowhere pledged himself in the event he is elected to use his salary which he would receive from the taxpayers for the purpose of reimbursing the men and women who today hold judgments against him awarded by the Courts of the State and Nation, unsatisfied of record, totalling more than $200,000, not to mention other tremendous debts uncollectable because of bankruptcy proceedings against a corporation which he organized, and of which he was President.

If it is his purpose in seeking public office to devote his entire salary of $9,000 annually to the payment of these recorded judgments against him, Henry O. Evans will have to remain as Pittsburgh's City Controller throughout all eternity. For the annual salary which the taxpayers of Pittsburgh will pay him in the event of his nomination and election, will fall approximately $3,000 a year short of the interest required to carry this more than $200,000 at the legal rate in Pennsylvania.

Information contained in this series of advertisements is not based upon hearsay or political gossip, but is taken from the official files of the Federal Court at Pittsburgh and the Common Pleas Court of Allegheny County. Case numbers will be given in each instance so that anyone who wishes may inspect the records for himself.

In the United States District Court No. 3256 Law — Judgment $97,080.77. Henry O. Evans and an associate formed a partnership to buy a bond firm. They borrowed from the associate's father-in-law securities of the par value of $128,000. At his death, the father-in-law's will provided that his daughter's share of the estate should be charged with all sums borrowed by the son-in-law or his associate. Henry O. Evans admitted in writing his indebtedness on this account to be $79,453.26. He (notwithstanding) refused to pay and the daughter filed suit. The Court ordered a directed verdict for $97,080.77 and refused a new trial. Nevertheless, the daughter never received a cent from Henry O. Evans so far as the record discloses, although she made two efforts to do so by attachment proceedings. The judgment is still unsatisfied of record.

His venture into the bond business leaving him more than $90,000 in the hole, Henry O. Evans next turned to oil.

More financial adventures of the man who seeks to handle Pittsburgh's $45,000,000 annual budget will be taken up in the next advertisement.

Henry O. Evans, Candidate for Controller, dabbles in Oil . . . loss to Creditors $82,000

Henry O. Evans in one of his campaign speeches last Thursday said, "my practice has been that of a business and corporation lawyer, widely varied and concerning large matters as well as small"—Mr. Evans adventured into the oil business, after having left a creditor "holding the bag" for $97,080.77 in a judgment, unsatisfied of record, as a result of his venture into the bond business, as described in the former advertisement.

He was more successful here. His creditor in this case holds a judgment unsatisfied of record against him of only $82,082.08. The story is recorded in Federal Court records—United States District Court—No. 2042 November Term 1918—Judgment $82,082.08.

Evans and two associates bound themselves by contract to buy out one of the principal holders of a newly formed oil company for $75,000. The seller got a trifle more than $22,000 and was forced to sue for the remainder with interest. Evans argued before the Court that his associates were jointly liable with him for the amount, but the Court threw out this defense, so far as it related to Mr. Evans. So far as the record shows, the owner of this judgment is still waiting for his money, after one attempt to collect it by attachment proceedings. Henry O. Evans did not by any means confine his activities to oil. In the next advertisement we find him President of a Department Store . . . for awhile. Then it falls for $240,000, and its creditors throw it into bankruptcy.

The story of Henry O. Evans' connection with the bankruptcy proceedings is a chapter right out of "Frenzied Finance." It will be detailed in the next advertisement.

Even Bankruptcy Pays Henry O. Evans, Candidate for City Controller

Nineteen-seven finds HENRY O. EVANS, President of the Boston Store, a department store at Fourth Avenue and Market Street, Pittsburgh, operated by a Corporation which he had organized.

After about eleven months of his management, it crashed on the financial rocks. Creditors filed a Bankruptcy Petition against the store on January 15th, 1908, and the Court adjudged it "Bankrupt" on February 4th, 1908. United States Court records, "No. 3909—In Bankruptcy" paint another picture of the financial adventures of the present candidate for City Controller.

Heads of bankrupt concerns do not always make money out of the crash of the companies they headed. As receiver of this bankrupt concern, Henry O. Evans did. Not much to be sure, but while most of the creditors lost, Mr. Evans in his position as receiver of the firm which had crashed while he was president, made a little. The Boston Store closed its doors with $240,000 due the creditors. Ultimately they got from five to six cents on the Dollar.

Perusal of the claims is interesting. Among the creditors listed is a relative of Evans, with a claim of $1,236,806.25, for money alleged to have been loaned to the Boston Store. Despite the fact that it crashed with a loss to the creditors of nearly a quarter of a million dollars, the Receiver appointed by the Court to conduct the bankrupt proceedings was none other than the Henry O. Evans, under whose presidency it had failed. Creditors might lose, as they did, 94 per cent of their claims, but there was still a bit of profit for Henry O. He drew out of the paltry funds of the bankrupt estate a fee of $3,600 for settling up the affairs of the company which had been wrecked while under his presidency. All together, the Evans family were awarded more than fifty per cent of the total amount salvaged for the general creditors.

But there is more to this story. This time from the records of the Common Pleas Court of Allegheny County. At a time when the credit of the Boston Store was becoming a bit uncertain, the concern wanted wall paper. In order to get it, President Henry O. Evans signed a personal guarantee of the bills, along with another official of the store. The store, failing to pay these wall paper bills, the paper companies demanded payment from the guarantor, Henry O. Evans. He refused to pay. The paper companies sued. They got judgments. The judgments are still unsatisfied of record. Here is the record:

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS—No. 202 JULY TERM 1912. Judgment $738.12

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS—No. 2573 APRIL TERM 1913. Judgment $453.15

In the next advertisement the highwater mark of the financial history of Henry O. Evans is reached. Defending one of the many suits for money owed that mark his career, he interposed the remarkable defense that both he and the plaintiff were engaged in an illegal transaction and hence he should not be required to pay.

Henry O. Evans Charges Henry O. Evans Now Candidate for City Controller With Illegality

Henry O. Evans now candidate for City Controller did not bother to defend many of the various cases brought against him by creditors who had loaned him money or had lost money in transactions with him. When he did it seemed to make little difference.

But in 1912 in the Common Pleas Court of Allegheny County he interposed what seems to be a most remarkable defense for one who now seeks a public office . . .

Sued on a promissory note, Henry O. Evans, filed in open Court an affidavit in which he actually alleges that he and the plaintiff were engaged in a wholly illegal transaction designed to damage other innocent persons and therefore should not be required to pay. The Court made no ruling as to whether Henry O. Evans actually took part in an illegal transaction as he himself alleged, but he lost the suit. Judgment against Mr. Evans for $1753.50 which is still unsatisfied of record. Allegheny County Common Pleas Court, Case No. 1706, April Term 1922, tells the story.

Evans had a scheme to reorganize the Tennessee Valley and Railroad Company then in the hands of a Receiver. He became Syndicate Manager of the reorganization plan. He proposed to all creditors the incorporation of a new company, and the issuance of stock to each creditor for the face of his claim. One Creditor refused to agree to the plan unless Evans would personally take the new stock off his hands paying him its par value. Evans did so, giving his note in payment. Due date arrived and Evans failed to pay. The holder sued. Here is Evans' remarkable defense quoted verbatim from the record.

"Defendant (that is Evans himself) therefore avers that the note sued upon in Plaintiff's statement of claim is without consideration and void as an attempt to create an ILLEGAL preference in a composition of creditors in favor of the plaintiff over other creditors without the knowledge and consent of other creditors."

Henry O. Evans, although he is a candidate for City Controller, in which office he would handle $45,000,000 annually derived from the City's taxpayers, apparently doesn't believe in paying taxes himself.

His tax record will be covered in the next advertisement.

Candidate for City Controller Henry O. Evans and Co-Trustee for Henry O. Evans Owes City From Which He Seeks Office $2,153.96 in Unpaid Taxes

Henry O. Evans plays no favorites. With many private individuals holding judgment against him, unsatisfied of record, for more than $200,000, Evans and his co-trustee, also have the distinction of owing the City of Pittsburgh the sum of $2,153.96 due but unpaid taxes. The City of Pittsburgh, it appears, is no better as a collector than the persons who over a period of twenty years have sought, unsuccessfully, to get money due them out of Evans. Ever since he has announced his candidacy for one of the most important offices within the gift of the taxpayers of Pittsburgh, Henry O. Evans has given no indication of any intention to pay his prospective employer, the City, what he and his co-trustee owe it. Although since January 1, 1926, he has regularly collected a large salary from the City, he has not devoted any part of his salary to paying to the City the taxes listed below.

School	1920	$ 86.58
City	1920	169.21
School	1922	222.99
City	1922	261.20
School	1923	222.99
City	1923	261.00
School	1924	222.99
City	1924	261.00
School	1925	222.99
City	1925	261.00

The property on which all these taxes is owed, is a mansion in the Fourteenth Ward. Ownership of the property is another interesting side-light on the man who seeks to be City Controller of Pittsburgh.

Despite the fact that at the time this property was transferred to him by his father, Henry O. Evans was about forty-three years old and despite the fact that a man of forty-three is regarded as having reached the "age of discretion," his father did not give him the property outright. He erected what is commonly called a "spendthrift trust" by which Henry O. Evans and a relative were made trustees for Henry O. Evans and the property transferred to the Trustees. It cannot be attached or levied upon for any debt of Henry O. Evans. Henry O. Evans, whom his father did not trust sufficiently to permit him to own outright a house and lot, is asking the taxpayers of the City of Pittsburgh to trust him with the control of the expenditure of $45,000,000 of the public moneys annually.

The note-signing activities of Mr. Evans will be discussed in the next advertisement.

Henry O. Evans, Candidate for City Controller, and his "Promise to Pay"

Henry O. Evans, now a candidate for City Controller of the City of Pittsburgh, is proved by court records of Allegheny County to be a ready signer of notes which later wind up in these court records as judgments uncollected of record.

Banks and individuals alike accepted Evans' notes, presented them for payment, were forced to sue, obtained judgments and the judgments stand on the court records today as unsatisfied.

In one instance at least, Mr. Evans turned from notes to checks. He signed a check and turned it over for payment in the amount of $455.00. The bank on which it was drawn refused payment because of "Not Sufficient Funds." The present candidate for City Controller failed to make the check good prior to suit. In order to get his money the holder sued Henry O. Evans and obtained judgment. If this judgment was later paid, the record does not disclose it. This record will be found in Common Pleas Court Case No. 36, February Term, 1912.

COMMON PLEAS COURT — No. 1803— January term, 1926, Judgment..$10,312.03.

COMMON PLEAS COURT — No. 1744— January term, 1914, Judgment..$7,439.30.

COMMON PLEAS COURT — No. 3598 — January term, 1923, Docket R..$3,045.00. In this case Mr. Evans did not bother to answer the suit.

COMMON PLEAS COURT DSB—No. 758— October Term, 1913, Judgment...$480.50.

COMMON PLEAS COURT — No. 1184 — July Term, 1915, Judgment....$1,227.20.

This judgment was secured and is now owned by the Receiver of the defunct Land Trust Company which, although it failed in 1909, has not yet paid any dividend to its depositors.

COMMON PLEAS DSB — No. 919 — April term, 1913, Judgment...$2,682.75.

COMMON PLEAS DSB — No. 920 — April term, 1913, Judgment...$2,682.75.

The Committee rests its case with this final disclosure of Henry O. Evans' financial history.

Should Henry O. Evans be accorded the suffrage of the electors of the City of Pittsburgh for the office of City Controller where he will, in a measure, control the expenditure of $45,000,000 annually of other people's money?

DEFENSE GAINS IN DEATH TRIAL

DETROIT, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—The defense gained a point in the trial of Ralph A. Wood, Cecil Holt and Herbert L. Sullivan for the slaying of Ambrose L. Hagerty at Wyandotte, January 9, when Harold Truax, investigator for the prosecutor's office and state witness, testified he believed Wood shot Hagerty in self-defense and did not double-cross the officers sent to protect him.

It is the state's contention that Wood, Holt and Sullivan shot Hagerty by a prearranged plan and thereby double-crossed the police officers who arranged an ambush to catch the alleged plotters against Wood's life.

Truax testified he shot at Hagerty because he believed him armed.

"I shot. There was promiscuous shooting. I wanted to save my own life," he said.

Detective Lieut. John Whitman, of the Detroit police, another member of the ambuscade, testified to shooting at Hagerty. He also said he believed him to be armed, but said later investigation revealed the man had no gun.

Pet Terrier Leaves New Home 5 Times

MERCER, Pa., Sept. 13.—William Snyder moved to New Castle several days ago. With him he took the family pet, a fox terrier. The dog, however, disliked his new home and for the fifth time has returned to the family's former residence here.

Curb Market Gets New Parking Space

ELWOOD CITY, Pa., Sept. 13.—The overcrowded condition at the curb market will soon be a thing of the past. The market has been given the use of the parking grounds in the rear of the First National Bank in addition to a portion of Seventh street.

3 Liquor Offenders Granted Paroles

MERCER, Pa., Sept. 13.—Judge J. A. McLaughry granted paroles to three persons serving sentences for liquor law violations. They are Mary Wauzensky, Mary Lipak and Hiram Rivers. Each had served a part of the sentence and paid fines and costs.

PAIN AFTER EATING

can be quickly eased with ACIDINE, the new discovery, because it eliminates excess acid and digests starchy foods. Six out of every ten suffer from starch digesting failure or as Webster's Dictionary puts it "Diastatic Deficiency."

ONLY IN ACIDINE CAN YOU FIND AN EXTRAORDINARY ANTI-ACID PLUS THE EXTRAORDINARY STARCH DIGESTANT "JAPTASE" WHICH DIGESTS 500 TIMES ITS OWN WEIGHT IN STARCHY FOODS.

At the first sign of SOURNESS, ACID, BELCHING, INDIGESTION, BILIOUSNESS, HEARTBURN, GAS OR A FEELING OF FULLNESS, take ACIDINE at once. Immediately your discomfort will be relieved.

ACIDINE prevents starchy foods from getting into sour fermenting lumps and at the same time neutralizes excess acid. Potatoes, bread, cereals, in fact all starchy foods are liquified within 30 minutes and pass out of the stomach as liquid dextrin. In addition, ACIDINE contains an anti-acid which remains in the stomach and keeps it sweet for a considerable period of time. ACIDINE is safe, effective, swift, sure, and GUARANTEED UNDER A MONEY BACK GUARANTEE. Your druggist has it, or write Health Laboratories, Inc., Pittsburgh, Pa.

LOST 18 DAYS, FLIER SAVED

THE PAS, Manitoba, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Lost for 18 days in the wilds of northern Manitoba after his plane was forced down by lack of fuel, C. F. Mews, youthful airman, is safe in Thicket Portage.

He was rescued last night about 30 miles west of Oxford House, for which he was heading, by V. Partridge, a fellow aviator, who sighted him from the air.

His clothes in tatters from scrambling through thick brush, Mews had covered more than 100 miles, it was estimated, before he was picked up. He had lived principally on berries and was thin and haggard, although he expressed confidence that he would have made Oxford House without assistance.

Mews, a pilot for the Northern Aerial Mineral Exploration Company, was forced down near Knee Lake on August 24. He said he remained with his machine for two days, hoping his companions might be able to spot him from the air.

FLIER AND GIRL DIE IN CRASH

CARROLL, Ia., Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Tommy Craig, Des Moines pilot, and Miss Faith West, of Fairlin, Ia., were burned to death when a plane in which they were flying fell and caught fire near the airport here.

Another passenger, James Farrell, of Jefferson, was thrown from the plane and injured.

Farrell was brought to a hospital here in a dazed condition. It is believed he will recover.

As the plane took off it struck a pylon marking the boundaries of the racing course for planes participating in ceremonies dedicating a new airport. It turned over and burst into flames as it struck the ground.

Craig was affiliated with the St. Louis Aircraft Corporation until a few years ago. He had been employed by the International Airplane factory at Long Beach, Cal. He resigned there and opened a flying school at Blytheville, Ark.

Webster Co. Wins Stock Judging Meet

WESTON, W. Va., Sept. 13.—Webster County's team won the state junior livestock judging contest at the regional Four-H fair held here. The team had formerly won the championship of Central West Virginia and competed with the Grant County team, winners in the Eastern Panhandle section, and Greenbrier County, winners in the Greenbrier County section. Webster County's team was composed of Allen Anderson, Chilton Martin, and William Henderson. The winning team gets possession for one year of a silver loving cup which must be won for three years to gain permanent possession. The winners scored a total of 1325 out of a possible 1650 points.

Reichstag Bombing Inquiry Nets 40

BERLIN, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Forty arrests have been made in connection with the recent bombing by radicals of the Reichstag building and other public structures. Police said that more arrests might be expected soon.

Among the prisoners is Frau Doebel, mother of Capt. Herbert Volk who is regarded by the police as one of the leaders of the terrorist conspiracy. Volk escaped into Holland, but the Dutch authorities have been asked to apprehend him.

German Shipyard Fire Loss Millions

KIEL, Germany, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Damage running into the millions was caused yesterday by fire which destroyed the motor testing room and damaged other sections of the engineering plant of the Friedrich Krupp-Germania shipyards here. Twelve Diesel motors, destined for Manila, were destroyed. The blaze started when oil became ignited in the test room.

T. A. T. Will Resume Full Service Monday

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Col. Paul Henderson, executive vice president of Transcontinental Air Transport, last night announced the line would resume full east and west service next Monday. He said the service was discontinued only so that all company ships could engage in the search for the liner City of San Francisco, wrecked on Mount Taylor, N. M., September 3.

Poor Directors View Mercer Home

Youth Acquitted In Child's Death

EBENSBURG, Pa., Sept. 13.—Ralph Baldwin, Jr., 18, of Johnstown, charged with involuntary manslaughter growing out of an automobile fatality, was acquitted by a jury in court here. Baldwin was the driver of a car that killed a five-year-old boy some time ago.

A Mischievous Pair -:- By Truda Dahl

NOW if I were writing about a poker hand, I'd say that three of a kind always beat a pair. But in this case, it's a pair that are world beaters. And who knows but that before long there will be three of a kind—Dan Cupid, the Girl and the Man.

For that's what this pair are planning. And you can rest assured that whatever mischief is in the air, these two will scent it and then—watch out. They're a dangerous combination, these two. For when they put their heads together, you can know that they're the instigators of a deep, dark plot. But it's a sweet plot—a plot of Love. And then—well, there will be three of a kind—and the wedding bells will ring and they'll live happily ever after.

LOVE'S AWAKENING

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Harry Outlines a Plan to Outwit Philip Veritzen

HARRY UNDERWOOD and Noel Veritzen were no sooner out of the library door than Lillian sprang to her feet.

"Lie down on the couch until Harry comes back," she said briskly. "You must be all in. I'll take these dishes out. I need something to do."

There was a curious finality in her tone which made me obey her dictum though naturally disinclined to accept the loafing role while she worked. But I guessed that her activity was only a blind to avert any possible conversation between us. The topic of Philip Veritzen's probable objections to Noel's musical essay and our aiding him was to be taboo until Harry Underwood came downstairs again.

It was not long before I heard his footsteps on the stairs and, rising from the couch, sat down in an easy chair by the fire. Lillian came in from the kitchen as he reached the door and sat down opposite me while her husband drew up the big chair which he likes best, and stretched his hands to the blaze.

"I gave that lad a sedative," he told us after a minute. "He was so wrought up with fears for Mary and Quixotic qualms upon the subject of Madge and me that he wouldn't have slept for a fortnight if I hadn't insured his doing that little thing."

"You done noble," Lillian assured him, with a gamin grin, then added gravely, "do you know that you two are doing rather a fine thing, risking Phil Veritzen's disapproval in your aid of Noel? You know what an old hyena he is when he's crossed. When he finds out, as he must, sooner or later, that Noel's betrothal to Olina is only a pretense, he'll be so raging that your head and Madge's will both fall in the basket if he finds out that you're backing the boy in a bid for independence."

That she commended my stand, I knew, but I also knew that it was not of me she was thinking primarily as she laid before us the certain menace of Philip Veritzen's wrath. Harry Underwood was not a young man. He had spent years of his life in an attempt to atone for the awfulness of his act of drunken treachery in the World War which had so nearly cost Dicky his life. Now that he had come back to his wife and rightful place in the world, Philip Veritzen's acceptance of the play which had been the side work of those absent years meant everything to him. That he was jeopardizing the future production of that play no one knew better than himself and Lillian.

He threw his head up, and for a long minute husband and wife looked into each other's eyes. Then Lillian smiled and kissed the tips of her fingers to him with a look upon her face which transfigured it. I caught my breath in sudden poignant remembrance of moments when Dicky and I had exchanged such glances. Would we ever beat back to that high plane of love and mutual trust again, or would we always be doomed to stay upon the lower level of bickering and misunderstanding?

"Don't you worrit yourself, woman," he said. "I'll hog-tie and throw old Phil Veritzen if there hain't no other way of making him see reason."

Lillian looked at me as if involuntarily, then turned her eyes away. But I knew what had come into her mind, and my face flushed with the knowledge. She felt that any chance of making Philip Veritzen see reason concerning his son lay in my hands because of the personal interest which he had displayed in me ever since my professional association with him, and which had been the cause of endless discomfort and annoyance to me, and of jealous anger upon Dicky's part.

Her husband either did not see her glance or pretended ignorance of it. For either alternative I was grateful, and I listened eagerly to his next words which, laid out a clever plan of campaign against Philip Veritzen.

"The first thing to do," he said, "is to get old Phil interested in this thing while he's in the good humor induced by Noel's engagement to Princess Olina. He'll be tickled pink to have the boy make a success as he can't help doing if the music is up to the standard of Boris Raminoff. That sure was a surprise with a kick in it, finding out Noel was that lad. If Phil gives the play the cachet of his production—well, Lady Fair, what is it? Your eyes tell me you disagree with me. What's wrong with my scheme?"

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

The Psychology of Style

SOME women have "style-sense"—an unerring premonition of what the next fashion-surprise or atrocity will be, months before it appears.

* * *

Next to red hair and a retrousse nose, I have always most envied any woman this magic prescience.

* * *

I used to think that fashions were just accidental, like colds, or the weather or falling in love. Dispensations of Providence, sent to torment your soul and keep you guessing, worrying and struggling.

HELEN ROWLAND

* * *

Later, I decided that they were the machinations of the Style Experts, invented to entice you or betray you or scourge you into throwing away whole closets full of beautiful clothes, and buying new ones, every season. I pictured all "style experts" with horns and hoofs and diabolical grins. Monsters and tyrants!

* * *

But, now I know better. Every new fashion is an outgrowth of mass psychology. If you keep your ear to the ground, you can predict what's coming, as easily as a Parisian couturier. It isn't clairvoyance; it's just common sense.

* * *

Almost anything can start a new fashion—the weather, health fads, athletics, politics, necessity, a new cartoonist, a new novel or a war. No fashion is an accident. There's always a reason behind it.

* * *

Short skirts, short hair and straightline boyish figures were born of feminism. When women threw off the yoke, they began throwing off everything else—corsets, long trains, tight gloves, false hair, false modesty, pretty manners, and all the conventions. It was a big Boston tea-party!

* * *

When a woman rebels, she rebels all over—and we have only the police to thank that woman still has a shred of bathing-suit left to cover her in the daytime, and a few yards of tulle and chiffon in the evening. You know how it is, when you go berserk, and start throwing things. You don't stop until the last breakable object is smashed.

* * *

Well, thank heaven, THAT'S all over! The violent mood has passed, and now the reaction has set in. No more flapperism! No more highly painted faces, brazen attitudes, vulgar dances, cheap slang, and tawdry gin-and-petting parties. Now, it's veiled illusion, flowing, long skirts, demure long hair, delicate make-up, polished manners, drapery, mystery, seductive languor, ultra-femininity! The American woman is going high-hat! Broadway is going Park avenue! Black velvet and pearls and gentle dignity! Regal stuff! Stateliness! Hauteur! Subtlety!

* * *

But, don't think it's a mood or an accident or just an imported idea. It's straight psychology. The jazz-girl took stock of herself, and found that the "naughty-little-brother" stuff had lost its charm. Her impudence had lost its freshness; her frankness had ceased to startle or stir, or even to attract attention. What to do? What to do?

* * *

There was only one thing to do—and she did it. She's gone feminine! And that's the whole psychology of the new fall styles!

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Becoming Engaged

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am an interested reader of your column. I am going to propose to my "girl" and am going to ask your advice. Should she pick out the ring and should I put it on her finger, or should I give it to her in the case?

WALTER.

I FEEL very much honored in being asked such important questions, sir. Thank you for coming to my column.

You can do as you wish about this significant question of the ring. The cavaliers of olden times always had the ring in some convenient pocket, as you know, ready to place it on "her" finger if the answer to "the" question was favorable. But now we are perhaps less romantic—although I don't really think so—but at least more practical. It's pretty important, this ring, to the girl, and she is to wear it always. So she should like it; it should be just the kind of ring that she has dreamed about. Now this is difficult if she isn't consulted. So I suggest that you talk it over with her, ask her somewhat about her preferences, and so forth.

I realize, too, that there is always the question of the young man's budget. He can see to this adaption if he will go to his jeweler, tell him the girl's preferences, state what his budget is or approximately is, and see what can be done to untie these two factors happily.

The jeweler will choose several rings, and will probably volunteer to take them to the girl's home for her to choose from.

Or, best of all, you can choose several stones for her to take her choice, and then the jeweler will design for you, or have designed, several sketches of settings. Your fiancee can then choose the one that she wishes. In this way—with the stone that she prefers, and with the setting designed especially for her—the ring will be more personal and probably give greater delight. Now doesn't this seem wiser to you, even if it does take away the surprise element?

When Mourning

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you please tell me if a black satin dress or coat are considered "in mourning." I am in mourning, and would like to know whether black satin is considered mourning and whether it is permissible to wear it?

E. C. G.

SATIN is not considered in good taste to wear when one is in mourning. No material that has a high light is considered mourning. Mourning materials should be dull materials. Would it be possible, perhaps, for the material to be turned wrong side out, and wear it on the dull crepe side?

At the Wedding

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. On which side of the bride should the groom stand during a ceremony?

2. On which side should he stand during a ring ceremony? And when the ring ceremony is not used? ANXIOUS.

2. On the right of the bride.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Balance the Diet—Add a Dish of Wit

TO keep the average person well and "fit" takes considerable intelligence. Happy is the housewife who realizes the great importance of serving well balanced meals to her family flock. All the time and thought she spends in endeavoring to prepare the right food will more than compensate in the good health of her family. The good effects will be more far-reaching than she will ever know.

DR. COPELAND

There are a few general facts that will help in choosing a proper combination of foods. A good rule is the following: One part protein—that is, meats, eggs or other dairy products. Three parts fats—such as butter, cream, oils, cooking fats, oily nuts and fat meats. Six parts carbohydrates—as sugar and starches in potatoes, cereals, bread, sugar and all sweets.

It is to be remembered that milk is the most important of all foods, and one of the cheapest as well. Children would be better off by having a quart of milk a day, and for adults at least a pint should be taken.

Meals should be made attractive by having "things look nice." Pleasing color and form, together with suitable food combinations, will go far toward making an appeal to the eye as well as the palate. How much more inviting a table looks in spotless white, with its bright silver and dainty dishes of lovely hues and the food attractively served, than a carelessly laid table with just anything for a makeshift.

Garnishes for various dishes will add to the attractiveness of the food—a sprig of parsley, red or green peppers cut into strips, or pimento, carrots cut into shapes, candied fruits, olives and pickles, some flower, such as nasturtium or its leaves, sections of red apple—all these are temting in color and form.

And remember that meal time should be a happy occasion. Fun and laughter should mingle with interesting bits of conversation, and business worries and household cares should be saved for another time. Have a tranquil mind while eating, for the sake of good digestion. It was not a bad time in the olden time in palatial halls to send for the court jester to help entertain and make merry at meal time. If "laugh and grow fat" is a saying of old, then we might employ such tactics in up-to-date breakfasting, lunching and dining.

Answers to Health Queries

F. F. F. B.—Q. Should a person with Bright's disease eat fish and smoke tobacco?

A. Fresh fish, I judge, would not hurt. If the patient has been in the habit of smoking, I assume it will be all right to continue. But as regards both of these matters the attending doctor should be consulted.

* * *

K. A. B.—Q. What can I do to break my 5-year-old daughter from sucking her tongue?

A. This is purely a habit and must be overcome.

* * *

R. F.—Q. What food should an anemic person eat?

A. The diet should include liver, beef juices and plenty of fresh green vegetables.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Saturday, September 14

THE planetary configurations for this day point to the irregular, the unconventional and the unexpected, owing to the predominant place of Uranus parallel to Sol, a figure of radical and revolutionary import. There may be sudden upheavals incited by restless and adventurous tendencies, but a Saturn figure favors a certain degree of stability and conservatism to offset disaster.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year of the unknown and unfathomable, but with prospect of suddenly precipitated events. The disposition to change and adventure will be offset by times of stability and conservation, and it is at these times that important enterprises should be launched, and not under the glamour of revolutionary impulses.

A child born on this day may have a contradictory nature, with proclivities to change and radicalism countering steadfastness and dependability. It may have a spectacular life.

The Fall Mode ! At Its Smartest !

Here are the season's new style treatments, here are the mode's favored fabrics and colorings . . . suits and dresses for every Autumn occasion. 2 DEAD, FOREST FIRES SPREAD

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Forest fires continued to spread in Western Oregon after they had directly or indirectly claimed two lives and caused injury to seven others in the state.

J. H. McCubbins, of Eugene, was killed and four others were injured last night when a tree fell upon them while fighting flames near Mable. James W. Fowler, vice president of the Eastern and Western Lumber Company here, died from heart disease said to have been aggravated by a tour of the fire lines near his company's mill at Molalla. Mrs. August Frank, who received burns the same day when flames swept her farm home near Mount Angel, was said to be in a critical condition.

At least a dozen new fires were burning in Western Oregon today. Three had destroyed 600 acres of timber in the vicinity of Horton, near Eugene. Another had spread over more than 2,000 acres in the Siskiyou National Forest. Still another was burning near Walterville. Several were reported in the vicinity of Cottage Grove, 20 miles south of Eugene.

Auto Hits Goat Driver Killed, Boy Hurt

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 13.—James Brink, 23, of Rowe's Run, three miles east of Brownsville, was killed, and his half-brother, Clyde Lynn, 19, was injured, when their automobile hit a goat while they were driving near Rowe's Run last night. Brink, who was riding on the running board, was thrown against a pole and suffered a fractured skull. Lynn was brought to Brownsville Hospital, where it was said his condition was not serious.

Towboat Beached After Costly Fire

TILTONVILLE, O., Sept. 13.—The towboat Sandboy, which burned yesterday on the Ohio River opposite this port, lies beached, burned to the water's edge, with a loss estimated at $6,000. The boat is owned by the Vang Construction Company, of Pittsburgh, which was using her to tow sand and gravel for a dredge boat which the company owns.

BRITAIN ADMITS $1,000 BARBER

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., Sept. 13.—(INS.)—Louis Arico, world-renowned $1,000 barber, had a few hours of "Friday the Thirteenth" hard luck when he arrived here on the Leviathan today, but managed to get himself out of an embarassing predicament.

Arriving for a vacation sponsored by William F. Kenny, millionaire New York contractor, Arico found that he had forgotten his passport. Immigration inspectors promptly refused him admittance, but referred the matter to the home office.

Several hours later word came through from London that Arico might land provided he departed by next Tuesday, when the Leviathan starts back home.

The distraught barber, who flatly denies the report that he had been summoned by trans-Atlantic telephone to Europe for the express purpose of cutting Kenny's hair, walked down the gangplank with his face wreathed in smiles. For a while it looked as though Arico was going to stay aboard the Leviathan, but the home office proved lenient and let him in on a temporary permit.

SCREEN TALK AND DIETING PUT BETTY COMPSON BACK IN $3,000 CLASS

By DOROTHY HERZOG

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 12.

BETTY COMPSON has jumped a new hurdle with her salary. She goes into the $3,000-a-week class in her new role opposite Eddie Dowling in his new picture not definitely titled. That's the same rating at which she left Famous because too many pounds overtook her. She was a big star then in the old-fashioned silents. She's made the grade all over for the vocals. Took her a year to do it. Betty took off 20 pounds for "The Barker" and three more for "On With the Show." Now it's two less for Dowling. But at $500 for two pounds I can't be too sympathetic.

Warning: She had a doctor

Clara Bow is going Hollywood. She's taking up yachting. Until a month ago the best heavy in Hollywood couldn't have dragged her upon the water. Of course, there's a reason. Page Harry Richman. He has a yen for yachts palatial.

La Garbo Seeing America at Last

THE first casualty has been reported from the Hollywood Beach colonies. Norma Shearer stubbed—I mean broke her toe. Right painful. A submerged log was the villain. But it hasn't scare-crowed the others. I'll be traipsing down soon to see Corinne Griffith, who's taken Ben Schulberg's 10-roomed cottage for a month's vacation, and Doris Keene, who has bought a lot and is going to build a house in a hurry to get some rent from the present season. Next door to Gladys Unger. Which means the stage stars are beginning to roost down there too. Next thing you know they'll have a press building, yclept a lighthouse, where they can overlook the activities.

Greta Garbo is away on a tour of inspection of California. Lake Tahoe, Pebble Beach, Del Monte and way stations. This little girl, who says what she has to say in the flickers and don't do no talking in person, must have learned that she likes the high roads when she went over to Sweden. This is the first trip she's taken in America, except to some spot in the high mountains where she wouldn't have to see people. But she's not using her own name. Which may work in the mountains where they don't see many pictures.

Greta Garbo.

The actors who dashed around Hollywood in cars monickered Equity have erased the first and last letters. No comments necessary.

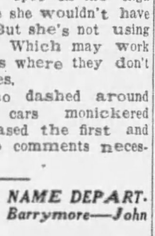
Raquel Torres Seeks Romance

HOWARD GREER, fashion expert, says: Evelyn Brent sailed for Europe with a wardrobe so up-to-the-minute that it may still be called freshly Parisian when she returns in a few months. One of her dining gowns, of watery panne velvet in a shade that borders uncertainly between the blue of the Pacific and the green of jade, has a soft blouse to the bodice, which begins moulding the hips at the natural waistline. The skirt, put on in such an irregular fashion as to give length and slenderness, is very circular and comes to within two inches of the floor.

SCREENALITIES—Raquel Torres, of "White Shadows" fame, is looking for romance. She says, "Johnny Hines is a very particular friend, but I have no one who touches deeply the heart strings." Applications in order. Clara Bow insists she will not marry Harry Richman until she tests their love by a long separation. She is going to Europe. Madame Hilda Gernier, late lady-in-waiting for Mary, Queen of England, is in Hollywood teaching the screen demoiselles about ladies. She directed the train of Corinne Griffith in "The Divine Lady," and is now etiquetting for Lillian Gish in "The Swan." Sue Carol has a new diamond necklace. Yes, it's from the future husband, Nick Stuart. Nils Asther is supervising in between his acting in pictures. Supervising Vivian Duncan. Just drop onto the set of "Cotton and Silks" at any hour if you don't believe me.



AND—THAT'S ALL.

Music Comedy In Bills of Stage

"The Red Robe," a rollicking musical romance of the old French aristocracy of Richelieu's day, when Louis XIII was king, will be presented as the opening attraction at the Nixon next Monday night, September 16, with Walter Woolf playing the leading role.

Frances Starr will be seen in the Pitt next week as guest star of the George Sharp Players in "The Constant Wife," a high comedy in which Ethel Barrymore appeared during the entire season the play was presented in New York. This will be the opening of the Pitt's fall and winter season.

First Aid Team Enters Big Event

FROSTBURG, Md., Sept. 13.—Maryland's champion first aid team, awarded a silver loving cup at the first aid meet held recently at Frostburg, has gone to Kansas City, to compete with 800 teams in the International First Aid Meet. This team competed with 25 at the state-wide meet and averaged 97.8 per cent. At the meeting in Pittsburgh two years ago, it won fourth prize and became the Maryland champion.

The members of this team, Edward G. Baker, captain; George Finzel, James Warner, Charles Baker, Roy E. Crowe, Frank M. Kenzie, patient, are fire clay miners, employed by the Union Mining Company of Mount Savage, and residents of Einzel, Garrett county, several miles from Frostburg.

Funeral Services Held for Editor

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 13.—Funeral services were held here yesterday afternoon for Fred B. Appleget, assistant editor of exchanges of the Hearst newspapers, who died Sunday in New York. Only relatives and close friends gathered at the Hightstown Presbyterian Church where Dr. Thomas Tyack, the pastor, and Dr. Roger W. Swetland, head master of the Peddie School, from which Mr. Appleget was graduated in 1883, conducted the service. Burial took place in the family plot in the churchyard.

Men Razing Building Find Coins of 1830

BALTIMORE, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—An old iron box containing coins bearing dates of 1830 and newspapers so old they had disintegrated, was found by workmen razing a two-story brick building, erected in 1863 as a Negro church. The box was given to Joseph S. Ruth, owner of the property. Mr. Ruth said his grandfather bought the property in 1875.

2 Homes Damaged By Fire in Garage

FARRELL, Pa., Sept. 13.—The homes of Bert McGovern and I. S. Horovitz were damaged when a garage on the Horovitz property was destroyed by fire. A car owned by Herman Horovitz was burned in the garage. Damage is estimated at $1,000.

Sioux City Bridge Gets U. S. Approval

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(AP.) The war department has approved the application of the Iowa-Nebraska Amortized Free Bridge Company for the construction of a bridge across the Missouri River between Sioux City, Iowa, and South Sioux City, Nebraska.

Man Found Dead In Apartment of Benefactress

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Richard J. English, 32, formerly of Cowen, W. Va., was found dead in the gas-filled apartment of Miss Josephine Sloan, 55, Columbia University executive. Police listed his death as a suicide.

Police said they learned that Miss Sloan had assisted English financially since he lost his position in a brokerage office some time ago. They said that when she left Monday for a vacation near Westport, Conn., she left a letter for him with the key to her apartment and told him he might stay there in her absence.

Near English's body police found a note addressed to his benefactress, saying: "I'm sorry I've got to do this. Forgive me. We'll meet and I'll pay up in heaven."

English was married and was the father of two children.

Spirits

Jean Bennett has a principal role in "Three Live Ghosts," film based on play, to be shown in Penn next week.

Army Promotions Made by President

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—President Hoover has sent to the Senate the nomination of Col. Louis H. Bash, of the quartermaster corps, to be assistant to the quartermaster general with rank of general for a four-year term. He is intended to succeed Brig. Gen. Winthrop S. Wood, who retired because of age, August 30. The President also transmitted the nomination of Col. Henry C. Fisher and Col. Carl R. Jarnall, to be assistants to the surgeon general with the ranks of brigadier generals.

Westinghouse, Victor Merger Delay Seen

CAMDEN, N. J., Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Although the merging of the research department of General Electric Company and Westinghouse Electric Company with that of Radio-Victor Company of Camden is still under contemplation, the actual consolidation of the interests will not become an actuality for many months.

This explanation was given by officials of Radio-Victor and Westinghouse, discussing rumors that all products of the three companies would be manufactured in that city.

Fingerprints Clues To Bank Suspects

BALTIMORE, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Fingerprint experts from the Baltimore police department were working with detectives today in an attempt to solve the attempted robbery at the Citizens Bank at Hurlock, yesterday. The robbers failed to open the vault in which there was said to have been $20,000 in cash. Edgar H. Simmonds, president of the bank, asked the assistance of the Baltimore officers.

Baltimore Marks 200th Year in Celebration

BALTIMORE, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Pealing of bells, shrieks of whistles, the music of many bands and the tramp of marching feet, resounded among the crowds that filled bunting-decked streets yesterday as Baltimore took a holiday to observe the two-hundredth anniversary of the chartering of the city.

The day was the first of four designated for the bi-centennary observance and the biggest feature was a military parade through the business part of the city. It was also the one hundred and fifteenth anniversary of the bombardment of Fort McHenry which inspired the writing of the national lyric, "The Star Spangled Banner," and in the celebration program were exercises at the fort at which Gen. Charles P. Summerall, chief of staff of the Army, delivered the main address.

Walter Winchell On Broadway

Things I Never Knew Till Now

THAT chorus and show girls really believe that if they put the tips of their fingers in spilled champagne, and rub it behind their ears, they will come into big money.

That it isn't the Northwest Mounted Police, but the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

That if you eat a lump of sugar dipped in vinegar it will relieve you of the hiccoughs (hiccups to you!).

That in Britain they have phone booths, stamp vending machines and mail moxes all together. The reason being, presumably, you can write to the party in case you get the wrong number.

PATRON SAINT SIMEON

THAT those flag-pole sitters, like Shipwreck Kelley, thefted the idea from St. Simeon, who dwelled atop a pedestal.

That the only animal in the world that cannot utter a single solitary sound is the giraffe, which is the only animal in existence that has no tonsils.

That ½ lb. of bicarbonate of soda in the bathtub will remove any skin blemish and make you pretty, too.

That Mrs. Edgar (Ruth Wilcox) Selwyn's "smart" revusical will be named "9:15," which is exactly when the curtain will lift.

That if you offer a $100 bill in payment for anything at the Astor Hotel they make you give them your name and address.

That on October 11, which is Bobbe Arnst's birthday, she will call the five men who have taken her to dinner most and buy them a dinner for a change.

NOT LIKE FATHER

THAT Cal Coolidge never lost a race for public office in his career but his son John lost every time he ran for office at Amherst.

That the only cabaret in the financial sector in New York is at 214 Pearl street, which is only open between 11 and 2 and where the financiers and their stenographers flip their hips and toss their torsos.

That you cannot get French toast anywhere in France or a Spanish omelet in Mexico City or Tia Juana.

That the N. Y. Times Building at 42nd street, which has no 13th floor, never had a failure on the 14th floor—which is still the 13th.

That doctors tell you if you drink five cups of water daily you will keep young.

That all Japanese people are required by law to carry identity discs around their necks from birth to their death.

That you can become intoxicated on too much bread pudding.

CHEATING CHEATERS

THAT a new gag is on the market to detect spurious coins that go in slot machines. By means of magnets bad money is deflected from the course of good money and a loud mechanical voice will lustily chirp: "Please use good coin only.!!!"

That "Yaller Dog Blues" by W. C. Handy was not inspired by a yaller dog, but by a fast Arkansas train.

That there are infinitely more wires concerned in a two-station "wireless" system than in a two-telephone system.

That in many sectors of upper New York State you never hear of spinach, canteloupe or rhubarb. They are greens, musk-melon and pie-plant.

PHRASES IN SIGNS

THAT when two deaf-mutes have a gabfest they rarely use the regulation deaf-and-dumb alphabet. They chin in standard signs which cover phrases and sentences.

That a swell way to eat a banana is to peel it and, grasping it as firmly as possible in both mitts a la corn on the cob, salt it and devour.

That the reason Ruth Bannon, the 16-year-old Newark theater usher, spurned the offers from the better producers is that she is That Way about a local, and you know how that is.

That John D. Rockefeller will not donate a penny to any charity that has any political affiliations.

That John Adrus, who is 88 and 6 ft. 2, lives in Yonkers, N. Y., and is worth $600,000,000, shines his shoes daily. And that he is one of the 10 wealthiest men in the country but rides to Wall street in the subway.

SPECIAL DRAIN PIPE

THAT they are building a special drain pipe in the prohibition headquarters in New York, down which all confiscated giggle water will be poured, boo-oo!

That the so-called "Yankee" dialect or American "accent" is in reality a mixture of no fewer than 200,000 distinct dialects.

That George Bernard Shaw and Rudyard Kipling never sign their names to letters or anything, only their initials, to keep them out of the hands of rare autograph collectors.

That Equity for more than six months has been conducting an exhaustive survey of the legit theater and what they found out has not cheered them any.

BROWN BOVERI CONTINUES GAINS

Company's Orders to Date Show Substantial Increase Over Last Year's Figures

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Orders booked by American Brown Boveri Electric Corporation this year show a substantial increase over 1928 and prospects are that the company will have one of the most profitable years since its organization in 1895.

The present quarter will mark a continuance of satisfactory operations in preceding quarters this year, and a report in "black" will be made against a deficit of $98,335 in the three months ended September 30, 1928. In the first half of this year, earnings were $692,204 after all charges, including taxes and depreciation, equal to 98 cents a share on 387,256 shares of no-par participating stock then outstanding. This compared with a deficit of $238,606 in the corresponding six months of last year.

SHIPBUILDING GAIN

The shipbuilding division, handled by New York Shipbuilding Co., has made the greatest strides this year, having booked orders for six vessels, including a cruiser for the government. Of the contracts in hand, four are for boats to be constructed for the American Export Line, to which the government recently made a loan, and one for the Grace Line. Company is also completing work on the cruiser Salt Lake City, launched several months ago.

ELECTRICAL DIVISION

An improvement also has been registered in the electrical division, now being handled by the American Brown Boveri Corp., a subsidiary organized early this year to take over the operations of Conduit Electrical Co. and the electrical division at Camden.

The turn in the affairs of American Brown Boveri came about in the final half of 1928, since which time profits have been reported regularly, compared with deficits. Contributing to betterment in its operations has been the reorganization of its manufacturing facilities, with resultant economies, and the disposition of certain unprofitable units.

INCOME ACCOUNT

Company's record of income, or deficits, by quarters for the past two years compares as follows:

	1929	1928
Sept. quarter	.....	†$98,335
June quarter	$265,802	†208,410
March quarter	426,402	†30,196
*Year ended Dec. 31	1692,204	612,216

*Before federal taxes. †Deficit. ‡Six months to June 30.

Proceeds from the sale of properties were utilized to strengthen the company's financial status, principally through eliminating bank borrowings. Currently there are no such borrowings and the company has several millions in cash. At the beginning of this year, bank loans totaled $1,382,038, an increase of about $400,000 over a year earlier.

CAPITAL SET-UPS

Consequent on improvement in operations and finances, the company repaid accumulations of 14 per cent on its 7 per cent preferred stock and instituted regular dividends on this issue early this year.

Aside from a $5,000,000 issue of 5 per cent bonds of the New York Shipbuilding Co., American Brown Boveri's only outstanding capital comprises $3,000,000 of $100 par 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock, a reduction of $1,000,000 from a year ago, and 395,256 shares of no-par participating stock and 300,000 shares of founders' stock.

Angler Describes Art of Fishing

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 13.—Kenneth Reid, manager of Boyts, Porter & Company, described the lure of fishing and the methods of successfully landing game fish when he appeared on the program of the Kiwanis Club.

He caught his first fish when a small boy, he said. It was a black bass, measuring 13½ inches, just the length of his arm. Since then he has angled in 214 streams in 16 states. Reid frequently writes on the sport for nationally known magazines. He advocates raising the size limit on trout from six to eight inches, insuring more fish for all streams.

Driver Loses License, Settles With Child

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Sept. 12.—Michael Nymick, Boswell, Somerset county, agreed to pay a fine for reckless driving, have his driver's license revoked and settle expenses for injuries he indirectly caused to eight-year-old Rosalia Salem, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Saad Salem, of Arnold, at a hearing before Squire R. C. Hiteshue, Parnassus.

Nymick is alleged to have been the driver of a roadster which struck the Salem girl Tuesday while she was crossing Fifth avenue at Fourteenth street.

Minister Home From Hospital

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 13.—Recovered from a serious illness, Dr. J. L. Proudfit, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church and oldest minister in this city in point of service, has returned from a hospital at Washington, Pa., where he underwent treatment. He will not be able to resume his pulpit for several months.

DOCTORS URGE MORE MONEY IN CANCER WAR

Advise Senators Existing Institutions Need Aid In Carrying on Research

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Letters from medical authorities were before the Senate Commerce Committee today, in its investigation of the best means of government aid in the search for a cure for cancer.

Filed with correspondence already accumulated, the letters gave Chairman Jones and his committee a new fund of information for the study it was directed to undertake when the Senate adopted a resolution introduced by Senator Harris, (Dem.), Georgia, last spring.

MONEY NEEDED

All the letters agreed that more money for existing institutions of research and earlier diagnosis of the disease were urgently needed.

Recommending that the government authorize a cancer institute along the lines of those established in Europe, Dr. J. M. Wainwright of Scranton, Pa., said he believed it was important also to aid existing institutions, suggesting that the problem could be solved only through many points of attack.

"One man working alone in an obscure laboratory," he said, "is just as likely to find the valuable key as a large organized institution."

DIAGNOSIS NEEDED

Dr. J. Shelton Horsley, of Richmond, Va., observed that appropriations for experimental work were "absurdly inadequate," but that the "greatest need" was an early and correct diagnosis.

"We know," he asserted, "that most cancers can be readily cured if the diagnosis is made sufficiently early, but because most cancers are painless in the beginning, there are often no symptoms discovered until they are well advanced."

A statement that general practitioners of medicine were not "realizing their responsibility" came from Dr. Burton I. Simpson, of Buffalo, N. Y. All of the letter writers are members of the board of directors of the American Society for the Control of Cancer.

ARREST WOMAN IN KILLING

MEADVILLE, Pa., Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Sue Dewey, 50, of Swagertown, was arrested by state police as a suspect in the killing of Edward Brown, gardener at the Saegertown Inn, nearly two weeks ago.

The woman was freed under $5,000 bond. She will be given a hearing October 1.

State police believed the woman was a companion of Brown, who also was known as Edward Davis, on the night of August 31 when he was found unconscious near the inn. The police said Brown was struck on the head with an automobile crank.

The man died in a hospital here September 2. Police were unable to locate any of his relatives. He was said to be a Canadian.

Monongahela Offers Award for Slogan

MONONGAHELA, Pa., Sept. 13.—The new Monongahela Chamber of Commerce offered $10 in cash to the person picking the best slogan for the organization which will also be used as a city slogan. The chamber was organized recently to supplant the old Monongahela Merchants' Association, which functioned here in a civic capacity for many years.

FIRE IMPERILS 4,000 AGED

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Fire that ignited oil in the power plant of the Oak Forest Infirmary late last night endangered for a time the lives of the institution's 4,000 aged inmates.

A broken electric cable set fire to the oil. Spread of the flames was prevented when James O'Connell, assistant engineer, fought his way through the dense smoke to reach the switchboard and shut off the power. The infirmary's own fire company succeeded in checking the flames before firemen from nearby suburbs of Harvey, Blue Island and Hazelcrest arrived.

BRITISH TO AID BATTLE ON DRUGS

By GEORGE W. HINMAN, JR.

GENEVA, Sept. 13.—More effective co-operation on the part of the British empire in the international campaign to stamp out the narcotic evil is foreseen here today following a talk last night before the League of Nation's fifth commission, by Mrs. E. M. Swanwick, on behalf of the British delegation.

Mrs. Swanwick devoted special attention to criticising the so-called capitulatory agreements by which foreigners residing in such nations as Egypt—and also China—enjoyed immunity from prosecution in native courts.

Quoting such authorities as Lord Kitchener, Lord Milner and Lord Cromer, Britain's woman spokesman forecast that, with its greater freedom restored by the program of Britain's new government, Egypt may be expected to join vigorously in the anti-narcotic campaign.

CO-OPERATION EXPECTED

Those who have felt in the past that the British Empire has been somewhat overcautious in joining movements for more effective measures for dealing with the narcotics evil—and it should be remembered that with both Great Britain and India represented, the empire has two of the 13 votes on the League's advisory commission—believe that the new MacDonald regime will show a greater willingness to co-operate along the lines advocated by the United States, Italy and others seeking vigorous action.

Mrs. Swanwick's remarks concerning Egypt were received with especial interest by the Chinese delegation. It has long been the Chinese view that foreign pressure is largely responsible for the continuance of the opium evil. China also is seeking to throw off the yoke of extraterritoriality, under which foreigners enjoy immunity from prosecution before native tribunals.

Using as authority her three celebrated countrymen already mentioned, Mrs. Swanwick asserted that the capitulatory system in Egypt had encouraged the traffic in women as well as the narcotic trade. It was difficult, she said, to exaggerate the injustice and misery which came with the system.

BARRIER TO PROGRESS

The capitulatory practice, she pointed out, opposed a solid barrier to all progress in stamping out public immorality such as the narcotic traffic, which has become a practical monopoly in the hands of unscrupulous foreigners out of the reach of Egyptian courts.

Under the new program made posible by the latest British offer, Mrs. Swanwick asserted she felt confident Egypt would be able to take vigorous action in conjunction with other nations in dealing with the questions of traffic in women and narcotics.

How the league has been short of funds to meet the need for inquiries into the narcotic situation was revealed to the commission by Prince Varnvaidya, of the Siamese delegation. He explained that Britain, Holland and Siam furnished the funds for inquiries in their Far Eastern territories on account of the urgency of the opium problem and the league's shortage.

Discussion of other matters prevented the commission from discussion of the report of Constantine Fotitch, of Jugcslavia, on opium and other drug traffic, as scheduled for yesterday. It is expected the discussion will begin today.

"IN EIGHT WEEKS I FOUND HEALTH IN NEW KONJOLA"

Carnegie Lady Lost Weight, Could Not Sleep — Then Freed of Kidney Trouble and Other Ills.

All who suffer from the ills of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels and from rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness, are urged to call on the Konjola Man, who is at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, and hear how Konjola sends its 32 ingredients, 22 of them the juices of roots and herbs, to the very source, the fount of the disease and cleanses and invigorates, paving the way for the return of new, glorious and lasting health. Is it not logical to believe that what Konjola has done for countless thousands of men and women it will do for you—for everyone? Hear the wonderful story of this wonderful medicine from the Konjola Man. He will tell you only the true, verified facts about Konjola. He does not have to make promises nor claims, for Konjola stands on a bed-rock foundation of triumphs and achievements. Hear of case after case like that of Mrs. Beatrice Walton, Paul Street and Glen Avenue, Carnegie, near Pittsburgh, who said to the Konjola Man a few days ago:

MRS. BEATRICE WALTON

"In eight weeks I found health in new Konjola. That is why I am so enthusiastic about this medicine. I hope that others will profit from the lesson my experience teaches.

"My health was in a pitiful condition. My system was rundown and I felt bad all the time. Lack of appetite made me weak and underweight. Loss of sleep made me tired and worn-out all the time. The weakness and disordered condition of my kidneys brought on severe pains across the small of my back. I tried medicines without end, even taking special treatments at a hospital, but to no avail. Daily I got worse and day and night I suffered. To say that I was discouraged is putting it mildly. I thought I would never see another well day.

"When hope was at the lowest ebb I heard about Konjola and the wonderful accomplishments of this medicine. Could it do anything for me? There was but one way to find out and so I secured several bottles. Now I am glad to indorse this medicine so that the world can understand why it is really the master medicine. In eight weeks Konjola made me well and happy again. In a month I gained four pounds. My appetite was improved, my system was cleansed, my kidneys were strengthened and all pains were swept away. I have greater strength and energy and actually feel like a different person. That is why I am enthusiastic about Konjola."

So it goes—the same old story of success wherever this medicine is known. It is said that no sufferer can afford not to give Konjola a trial. All this medicine asks is the chance to make you well.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's) Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this new and different medicine.

There is also a Konjola Man at Dow's Drug Store, Diamond and Smithfield — also Dow's Drug Store, 5939 Penn Avenue, East Liberty.

Installment Plan Now Extended To Stills

UNIONTOWN, Sept. 13.—District Attorney J. B. Adams is after persons who sell sugar, malt and other products for manufacture of liquor and home brew. Adams said that until such sales are stopped, arrests will be made.

The district attorney said that firms in the Pittsburgh district are deriving large profits from the sale of stills in Fayette County. The installment plan is used in many instances. In one raid the still which was seized was not entirely paid for.

The district attorney said it is presumed that those engaging in the sale of materials or substances used in the manufacture of intoxicating beverages know the purpose for which they are sold.

BANK KIDNAPING INVOLVES PAIR

PASSAIC, N. J., Sept. 13.—(AP.)—The strange abduction last June of Willard H. Elliott, former Passaic banker, today appeared near a solution.

With two men in custody, Assistant Prosecutor James M. Dunn said he was prepared to present the case to the grand jury and intimated several more important arrests were imminent.

Elliott was forced into an automobile while on his way to work by three men and held captive six days. He was unable to assign any motive for his kidnaping, but expressed the belief that it was caused by someone who desired his absence from the bank during that period.

Joseph Jackovich, former vice president of the Hobart Trust Company, of which Elliott at the time of his kidnaping was executive vice president and treasurer, who had been held for questioning today, later was released.

Since the kidnaping the Hobart Trust Company has been closed by the State Banking Department, reorganized and reopened. Jackovich was not re-employed by the new owners.

Wholesale Poisoning Of Babes Suspected

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—The courts in the district of Szolnok today ordered the exhumation of the bodies of all infants who have died in that district for several years back after investigations by the authorities that 50 adult persons and a greater number of children had been poisoned by the aid of midwives.

Boy Steps on Nail, Dies From Infection

Blood poisoning which developed when he stepped on a nail September 7 resulted today in the death of Thomas Barlski, 10, of 79 Pine street, in his home, the county coroner announced. The victim was well on the road to recovery, the coroner said, when blood poisoning developed a few days ago.

Eight Rattlers Give Roadmen Battle

ROMNEY, W. Va., Sept. 13.—Eight young rattlesnakes gave road construction men a battle before they were killed when the nest was uncovered under an old board.

SCULPTOR DIES IN RIVER

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(INS.)—Considerable mystery today surrounded the death of Edmond T. Quinn, well-known American sculptor, whose body was found floating in New York harbor near Governor's Island.

The sculptor, who was ranked among the foremost in America, had created many notable pieces of work. Museums throughout the country display his compositions, and he was at work on a statue of Henry Clay for the government of Venezuela when he disappeared.

Auto Destroyed By Gas Explosion

GREENVILLE, Pa., Sept. 12.—When gasoline which he was carrying from a nearby station came in contact with a blaze which had started in the rear cushion of his automobile, William Bell, Farrell, narrowly escaped serious burns. His car was destroyed.

CORPS ELECTS PITTSBURGHER

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 12.—(AP.)—Mrs. Margaret Bennett, of Pittsburgh, yesterday was elected president of the National Woman's Relief Corps.

Four members of the executive board were chosen. They were Mrs. Mary H. Wingate, of the Department of the Potomac, Washington; Mrs. Mary Van Tuil, Michigan; Mrs. Mary May, Maryland, and Mrs. Della B. Royal, Washington-Alaska.

Pittsburgher Gets W. Va. Bus Permit

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 13.—(AP.)—A permit to operate a motor bus line between Fairmont and Point Marion, Pa., was granted to George W. McCarthy, of Pittsburgh, by the State Road Commission. The permit was limited to the interstate transportation of passengers.

Locks Burglars In Store, Gets Police

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Sept. 13.—When Louis Ruzewich, a storekeeper, was struck on the head with a blackjack by one of two men, he ran to the street closing the door behind him and locking the holdup men in the store.

Greenville Raids Net Four Arrests

GREENVILLE, Pa., Sept. 13.—Activity on the part of county authorities caused the arrest of four men, all charged with liquor violations. After W. A. Jones had been taken into custody when liquor was found in his machine, he implicated Sam Stallsmith, at whose home officers uncovered six jugs of alleged moonshine, they said. Stallsmith and H. A. Davis were arrested. Later, Joseph Krevovich, of Akron, was taken into custody as he was delivering liquor at the famous "Red House," near here.

REDS ACCEPT BRITISH BID

MOSCOW, Sept. 12.—(AP.)—The Russian government officially announced today it had accepted an invitation from the British Labor government to send a representative to London for a discussion of procedure in the negotiations for renewal of trade and commercial relations and diplomatic service between Russia and England.

Since it was on matters of procedure that the Anglo-Russian negotiations broke down early in August, the first discussions in London will be devoted to clearing up any difficulty of this kind.

Rosenwald Tops Chicago Taxpayers

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Julius Rosenwald, philanthropist and chairman of the board of Sears, Roebuck and Company, again has the highest personal property assessment in Chicago—$2,000,000—it was disclosed today at offices of the board of assessors. Last year the same assessment was the largest in Cook county.

MOTHERS now learn value of MAGNESIA

Because it is so helpful in keeping babies and children healthy and happy every mother should know about Phillips Milk of Magnesia.

This harmless, almost tasteless preparation is most effective in relieving those symptoms of babies and children generally caused by souring food in the little digestive tract, such as sour-belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, colic. As a mild laxative, it acts gently, but certainly, to open the little bowels in constipation, colds, children's diseases.

A teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia does the work of half a pint of lime water in neutralizing cow's milk for infant feeding, and preventing hard curds. Its many uses for mother and child are fully explained in the interesting book "Useful Information." It will be sent you, FREE. Write The Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., New York, N. Y.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.

NEW AIR SPEED RECORD SET

CALSHOT, England, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—The world's air speed record was raised yesterday to 357.7 miles an hour by Squadron Leader Orlebar, captain of the British Schneider cup team. This is 1.9 more miles per hour than he flew when he set a world's record Tuesday.

It was hours after the British flier had shot over the 3-kilometer course six different times, before the fact that a new record had been made was announced. It took a rechecking of the calculations to establish that fact.

The first announcements were that the flights had been made at a fraction of a mile per hour slower than the Tuesday mark of 355.8. The error was discovered after figures recorded by the electrical timing apparatus had been compared with a film taken by the instruments.

Orlebar made his attempt today in the "Thunderbolt," the supermarine Rolls Royce 3-6, in which he made his record Tuesday. This is the same craft with which Flying Officer Waghorn won the Schneider cup trophy for Great Britain last Saturday.

Ship on Rocks Off Greenly Island

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Sept. 13.—(AP.)—The minister of customs last night received a message from Forteau, Labrador, announcing that the French tramp steamer Baucis was ashore and a total wreck on Greenly island, scene of the stranding of the German trans-Atlantic plane Bremen, off the coast of Labrador at the western entrance to the Strait of Belle Isle.

Soviet Education Director Retires

MOSCOW, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Anatole Lunacharsky, Soviet commissar for education, has resigned. He will be succeeded by Andrew Sergeievich Bubnov, former head of educational work in the Red Army. Lunacharsky has been appointed chairman of the administrative commission of scientific institutions of the U. S. S. R.

Monessen Mill Worker Killed

WASHINGTON, Pa., Sept. 13.—Dennis Ryan, 60, of Monessen, was crushed to death while at his work in the Pittsburgh Steel Mill of that city, where he had been employed for many years.

MONACO PEACE UP TO RULER

MONACO, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—The political crisis in this tiny state ended in what appears as a complete triumph for the subjects of Prince Louis.

Princess Charlotte, heiress apparent, told representatives of the citizens' party that she would take the responsibility of accepting, on behalf of her father, all their demands. They had asked for the right to reform the constitution, remake the budget, control government expenditures and have a general supervision of all contracts between the Monte Carlo Casino and the government.

In some quarters it was believed that this triumph of the people portends the end of the princely regime in Monaco, always providing that the Prince signs the decrees. His daughter was taking them to him, expecting to meet him either in Marseilles or in Paris.

If the decrees are signed, the winter season should be tranquil and permit tourists to spend their money in peace. If the Prince refuses, there is talk of a revolt.

New Operators Take Over Mine

STEUBENVILLE, O., Sept. 13.—The Jefferson Coal Company's mines at Piney Fork, Jefferson County, are to be run in the future by the Wheeling and Lake Erie Coal Mining Company, it was announced. Jefferson has been operating one mine. This will be continued for the present by the Wheeling and Lake Erie Coal Mining Company until demand for coal increases. The Piney Fork property will be managed in connection with the properties at Rose Valley, Neffs, Dillonvale and Lafferty, where the W. & L. E. company, an M. A. Hanna subsidiary, is operating at present. The Piney Fork product will be sold by the Hanna company.

Highway Delays Crossing Hearing

WASHINGTON, Pa., Sept. 13.—Department of Highway officials have requested postponement to mid October of the hearing to secure elimination of the Hayes grade crossing in West Chestnut street, this city. The meeting will be held in the office of the county engineer. The postponement was requested in order to give engineers time to prepare surveys and plans necessary in connection with property changes near the crossing. Tracks of the Pittsburgh Railways Company must be relocated in order to allow for change in the roadway elevation.

NEW MAYVIEW BUILDINGS READY FOR OCCUPANCY

SIDEWALKS of PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

RICHARD L. SMITH, chief of the city fire department, reminds us in a letter that the Firemen's Association of Pennsylvania will hold its golden jubilee here September 30 and October 1, 2 and 3. On the last day of the convention a big parade will be held, a parade requiring judges to award prizes. Chief Smith and the committee ask that Sidewalks act as one of the judges. "Veteran Ex-Volunteer Fireman to Judge State Fire Laddies," is the head for this news item.

Havey J. Boyle

Whether the judges also are to appear in uniform has not been decided as yet, but one local boy is ready for any emergency. The red shirt and white hat our outfit wore at the convention in Parnassus is still in good shape.

"On behalf of the entire Panther staff I wish to thank you for your article on the freshmen," writes Arthur Symons, editor-in-chief of the Pitt Panther, which next week devotes its number to glorifying the first-year studes. The college freshman always has been interesting material since the days when he wore his hat pinned up in the front until now, when he appears in balloon pants, errant hat and garters, and raincoats suggesting a sandwich man.

* * *

OAKLAND will be teeming with them next week when Pitt reopens. The freshmen now are preparing for their debut, making fairly good-looking roadsters as disreputable as possible, and rehearsing the snake dance.

Bill McKechnie, former Pirate manager, now manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, was an office visitor. Mr. McKechnie is running for tax collector in Wilkinsburg. His baseball psychology has not been enveloped by the political way of thinking, for, regarding his fight in Wilkinsburg, Bill says: "It looks like a close ball game."

He had a good word for Jewell Ens, who is running the Pirates now, and has been promised the job for next year. "Ens is the smartest fellow I've ever worked with," said McKechnie.

That statement stirred a favorite reminiscence. On the night the Pirates clinched the pennant in 1925, the same Mr. Ens, in a bit of a fever, dashed up to the present chronicler and said: "McKechnie has never got his full credit here. That geezer knows his onions."

* * *

BASEBALL experts agree that Ens has a hard time ahead of him. He must rebuild baseball enthusiasm here, which reached a new low record here this season.

A few days ago, without mentioning his name, Sidewalks reported that a Pittsburgh minstrel, Peter Higgins, now at Hollywood, was accused of going high-hat, a report brought back by a former friend of Pete's. Now comes the other side of the story from Johnny Harris, who visited recently on the coast and is considerably disappointed that anyone should so malign the golden-voiced Higgins.

Mr. Harris gives Pete a clean bill of health and this is the version Sidewalks likes to countenance.

Whether Pete has gone high-hat or hasn't, in a calm analysis is not important, but as Mr. Winchell says, its little things like that that make big paragraphs like this.

Four Ribs Broken, Sues for $10,000

For four broken ribs, an injured right eye and bruised left side, Alma Henzell, 82 Luella street, North Side, wants $10,000 damages from Samuel Compton, whom she says ran her down with his automobile. The accident happened October 20 last at Royal and East streets, on which side of the river Compton also lives. Her counsel is Vincent A. Baldauf.

World Wide Guild Will Hold Supper

Next Monday night the World Wide Guild of the Mt. Lebanon Baptist Church will hold its annual fall supper at the home of Hazelle L. Jewell, 1541 Grandin avenue. "Plans, Programs, Pep" will be the theme of this introductory meeting.

DUST MENACE REMOVAL PLEDGED

Neville Island Factory Assures North Boroughs That Nuisance Will be Removed

Assurance that cement dust from the Davison Coke and Iron Company's plant on Neville Island would be eliminated was given yesterday to a committee of Avalon citizens by A. P. Meyer, vice president and general manager of the company.

The committee was named at a recent protset meeting held in Avalon borough hall and consisted of P. L. Jarrett, T. E. Wilson, W. T. Shaffer and W. A. Walker, solicitor.

Meyer informed the committee, it is said, that the dust quenching system of the plant was not operating as efficiently as desired and that this was responsible for the dust escaping. This would be corrected as soon as possible, he stated, and when this was done he indicated there would be no more reason for complaint.

For economic reasons, the company would do everything possible to prevent escape of materials having commercial value, Meyer told the committee.

ORPHAN WINS $12,045 AWARD

An orphan boy, aged 14, Joseph Hucko, 145 South Eighteenth street, was awarded a verdict for $12,045 in Common Pleas Court against the Pittsburgh Railways Company for the loss of his left leg. Judge George B. Moore heard the case.

The boy makes his home with his uncle, John Hucko, and attends the St. Adelbert Parochial School. The lad was run down by a street car of the defendant company while he was crossing the street at Carson and South Fourteenth streets, June 9, 1925. The boy was then aged 10.

Wife Loses Suit In Husband's Death

Alice Digiorgio, Glassport, who brought suit against the Olympia Oakford Park Company, Vervailles Township, for $50,000 damages for the drowning of her husband, Ernest Digiorgio, June 7, 1927, lost her case. The case was on trial for several days before Judge James R. Macfarlane, of Common Pleas Court. It was alleged that the amusement company had failed to properly regulate the gate of a dam conducted at the amusement park. The boat which Digiorgio had hired went over the dam, throwing him out and he was drowned.

Parted 21 Years Wife Seeks Divorce

Having been separated from her husband, John Maloy, for 21 years, Lida E. Maloy, Forty-fifth street, appeared before Judge Richard W. Martin in Common Pleas Court and asked for a divorce. The couple were married in 1907 and lived together one year, when they parted. The libellant testified before the court that Maloy struck her on the mouth on one occasion cutting her lip. She also averred it was a frequent habit for him to beat her and call her names. The libellant's son, now 21, was a witness for his mother, but could tell nothing regarding the family troubles. The parents were married in Houtzdale, Clearfield County.

Murray Named Head Of Democratic Unit

John J. Murray has been named chairman of the Democratic City Committee, according to an announcement today by County Chairman David L. Lawrence. The selection was made at a meeting last night. Thomas A. Dunn is the unopposed candidate for the Democratic mayoralty nomination, and is planning an aggressive campaign prior to the November election.

Restaurant Fire Attracts Crowd

A crowd last night watched firemen extinguish a blaze in the kitchen of a restaurant owned by Peter Delfrate, at 154-56 Tenth street, believed to have been caused by an overheated stove. The damage was estimated at $50.

Company Donates Paint For Air-Marking

By MAX HENRICI.

Interest in air-marking Western Pennsylvania is increasing at a rate probably unmatched anywhere else in the country.

From numerous hamlets and cities throughout the district comes reports of signs that have been put up or about to be put up to give aviators their location and tell them where they may land in safety. The campaign is removing one of the principal hazards of flying in the Pittsburgh territory.

FREE PAINT OFFERED

To encourage towns that have not yet put up air marks—or not enough of them—to get busy, the Koppers Products Company, Koppers Building, has offered through R. A. Altenhof, to furnish the paint, gratis, to the first municipality, chamber of commerce, civic or patriotic organization applying from Allegheny, Beaver, Butler, Westmoreland and Washington counties. That is, enough paint will be furnished for five signs, regardless of how big they may be—one in each of the counties named. The Koppers Products Company not only will furnish the paint but will deliver it in charge of some one equipped to give expert advice as to its use.

Applications for the paint should be sent to the "Mark Your Town" Editor, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Fred S. Gleason, principal of a Clairton public school, calls attention in a letter to the alertness of that city in aviation matters. Two years ago, in preparation for a visit to the Walnut junior high school by Clarence Chamberlin, noted trans-Atlantic flier, the head janitor, Wilbur Coss, painted CLAIRTON on the roof, with an arrow 42 feet long, pointing to Bettis Field. The Clairton city council later had a similar sign painted on the city park pavilion.

LEGION POST CO-OPERATES

E. C. Bollinger, adjutant of Apollo Post No. 408, American Legion, reports the Legionnaires have put an airmark 80 feet long and 15 feet high, with four feet of space between the letters, on the roof of the Apollo municipal building. It is now proposed to illuminate the sign at night with five flood lights. A committee is negotiating for the illumination with the West Penn Power Company. The Legionnaires put up the sign in conformity with instructions furnished by the Guggenheim Fund for the Promotion of Aeronautics. The Fund has awarded to the post a certificate of distinguished service to aviation, signed by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

The Department of Commerce specifications in regard to airmarks have been requested by many persons. They can be had on application to the Pittsburgh Aviation Industries Corporation, Oliver Building, Pittsburgh, which is co-operating with the Sun-Telegraph in the campaign.

FIRE, POLICE PAY BOOST TO COST $992,000

Salary Referendum, Going To Voters Tuesday, Would Add Over Mill to Tax Levy

Increased salaries for policemen and firemen proposed in the referendum to be submitted to voters at the primary election Tuesday would add about $992,000 to the city's yearly payroll, according to estimates compiled from the 1929 budget.

That additional sum would necessitate an increase of a mill and a fraction in taxation on the present property valuation, on which a mill is estimated to produce about $700,000 in revenue.

The referendum proposes to continue the present pay of patrolmen, hosemen and laddermen as follows: First year, $1,800; second year, $1,920; third year, $2,040. After the third year the referendum proposes to increase patrolmen, hosemen and laddermen $120 each year until the seventh year until the maximum of $2,520 was reached.

The budget shows that 945 patrolmen and 580 hosemen and laddermen would be entitled to the increases.

HIGHER-UPS BOOSTED, TOO

Besides patrolmen, the referendum proposes to increase the commanding officers in the police bureau as follows: Superintendent from $5,000 to $6,500; assistant superintendent, from $3,600 to 4,500; inspectors, from $3,000 to $3,600; captains, from $2,700 to 3,180; lieutenants, from $2,460 to $2,940; detectives, from $2,400 to $2,940; signal operators, from $2,040 to $2,790.

Additional proposed increases for the fire bureau are: Chief, from $5,000 to $6,500; deputy chief, from $3,500 to $4,500; battalion chiefs, from $3,000 to $3,600; training school instructors from $2,700 to $3,180; captains, from $2,460 to $2,940; pumpmen, from $2,220 to $2,700; drivers, from $2,124 to $2,604; chief's aides, from $2,040 to $2,604; fire alarm operators, from $2,310 to $2,940; creation of a position as chief fire alarm operator at $3,000.

Aside from the policemen and firemen's pending pay increase, Council has an ordinance in Finance Committee that authorizes an increase for all other employes receiving not more than $2,040 a year.

ANOTHER HALF-MILL

The measure, introduced by W. Y. English, would add $406,000 to the annual payroll, which would require an extra tax levy of more than one-half a mill.

The ordinance proposes to add $120 a year to the salaries of all employes paid by the year that are now receiving not more than $2,040. That proposal would add $195,000 to the annual payroll, based on the current budget.

The ordinance also proposes to add 10 per cent to the wages of all employes paid on the daily or hourly basis. That provision was estimated to add $211,000 to the annual payroll.

Employes paid what is commonly termed the current union scale, such as bricklayers, carpenters, painters and stationary engineers, were not included in the latter basis, as it is generally considered they would be omitted from an increase affecting the lower paid employes.

Family Row Brings Police on Riot Call

A riot call to North Side Police Station late yesterday, sent a patrol wagon loaded with policemen to the home of Robert W. Ellis, of 907 West Diamond street, where, police said, they found him beating his wife. Police did not learn who had sent in the call. Ellis was taken to the police station, where he was charged with disorderly conduct.

THEATER FOLK AID CRUSADE ON TAXES

Volunteers to Circulate Petitions Asking Cut Sought by Committee

Members of the theatrical profession in Pittsburgh, pioneers in the campaign to reduce the Federal tax on earned incomes, have resumed their activities in the effort to bring the question to the early attention of Congress.

HARRIS IS CHAIRMAN

In the call for volunteers to direct the canvass for signatures to petitions favorable to the revision downward of the tax on the incomes of professional men and women, salaried persons and wage earners, leaders in the amusement field were among the first to respond.

John H. Harris.

John H. Harris, manager of the Harris Amusement Company, has taken the chairmanship of the committee to circulate petitions among actors, screen players, theatrical attaches, motion picture people and all stage folk.

The amusement group includes also several organizations, including the Variety Club, the Pittsburgh Theater Managers' Association and the Motion Picture Theater Owners' Association. Individuals in the theatrical profession are among the largest payers of income taxes, according to the records of the Internal Revenue Bureau.

BRAND SYSTEM UNJUST

"Theatrical people are willing tax payers, but in common with members of other professions and salaried men and women, they see no justice in the present system of levying heavy assessments on earned incomes," said Mr. Harris. "An actor, if he or she is successful, receives a high salary for a few years, but the career is short and savings for the 'rainy day' are swallowed up in taxes and other expenditures, some of which are necessarily large. There is no exemption for these expenditures and nothing can be charged off for advancing age, a strained voice or changing whims of the public. A players who gets a 'big hand' today may be considered out of date tomorrow, and from the bright lights of Broadway he may go into obscurity within a few months."

On the theatrical committee Mr. Harris will have a large number of workers who likewise have volunteered their services in the movement sponsored by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and other Hearst newspapers.

Boy Killed by Auto, Father Asks $25,000

Kurt Scheps, North Side, has filed suit for $10,000 damages against Kathryn Franzell for the death of his son, George Scheps, 8, killed by being struck by the defendant's automobile. The accident happened July 26 last, while the child was walking with a group of children in Marshall avenue. The boy, according to the bill of complaint filed in the Common Pleas Court, was dragged for some distance. He died soon afterward, in the St. John's Hospital.

Delegate Named To Church Parley

Elmer L. Kidney has been chosen by the Bellevue Methodist Episcopal Church as delegate to the lay conference to be held in connection with the Pittsburgh conference of the M. E. Church at Connellsville, Pa., October 2. J. W. Vickerman was named alternate.

SERVICE CLUB OPENS FAIR

The Service Club of Mt. Washington will hold a street fair tonight and Saturday night, on Ruth street, near Bailey avenue. The celebration is being conducted under the auspices of the Mt. Washington Stove League, and the general chairman is John Zelch. The proceeds will go toward equipping the club's new building on Boggs avenue, which will be officially opened on Armistice Day.

During the war, the Nineteenth Ward Memorial Association got a sum of money which they permitted to lie in the bank until the spring of this year. The various soldiers' organizations of the hill and the Memorial Association then agreed to expend the savings on a clubhouse for ex-service men and women. It was arranged to take over a church on Boggs avenue, and arrangements have proceeded rapidly since that time.

Avalon Candidates Asked to Meeting

Candidates for the various public offices in Avalon have been invited to attend a meeting in the borough hall tomorrow night, at which time they will be asked to explain their stand on important questions affecting the borough. There are 21 candidates for office. The meeting is to be held under the auspices of the Young Men's Republican Club of Avalon. The club was founded early in the present campaign and T. Pennington West is chairman of the executive committee.

Ross Trade Board Arranges Banquet

At a meeting of the Ross Township Board of Trade, this week, it was decided to hold a banquet the latter part of this month, the place and date to be determined by a special committee. A plea for support of aviation in the township was made by W. J. Keist, a member of the township board of commissioners.

Church at Bellevue Plans Homecoming

"Homecoming day" will be observed Sunday by the Bellevue Christian Church in honor of the return of their pastor, the Rev. F. G. Helme, from a tour of the West and Alaska following the international convention of the Disciples of Christ at Seattle, Wash., last month. A special service will be held [illegible] Sunday School hour.

"Breakaway Dance" Arranged by Delts

The Delts, Greek letter club of Allegheny, composed of college students of the North Side district, will hold their annual "Breakaway Dance," September 20 in Pope's Riverview cabaret. One of the outstanding dance orchestras of the city and several novelty numbers will feature the affair.

FIRESTONE TIRE PLAN BUILDING

The Firestone Tire and Rubber Company is planning a $250,000 sales, service and office building in the automobile district along Baum boulevard at South Negley avenue and Roup street, East End.

Test holes are being drilled for the foundations. The property fronts 175 feet on Baum boulevard, 82 feet on South Negley avenue, 124 feet on Stratford avenue and 124 feet on Roup street. The new building will be a three-story structure of attractive architecture, containing executives offices of the company for the Pittsburgh district.

The ground was purchased from Ida F. Evans for a consideration in the neighborhood of $190,000. Dwellings on the ground will be razed. It is understood that the Porter & MacDowell Company were the brokers in the transaction.

Catholic Daughters Plan Niagara Trip

Members of Court Allegheny, Catholic Daughters of America, are planning a trip to Buffalo, N. Y., and Niagara Falls, September 21 to 23. The party will leave the Pennsylvania station at 12:15 a. m., September 21.

Islam Grotto will hold an ox and corn roast tomorrow at Turner's Grove, Perrysville. An attendance of 3,000 is anticipated. The committee includes George Reatchlous, William C. Doench, Walter F. Weberg, J. C. Franz, George G. Schmidt and Louis H. McMahan.

DEDICATION CEREMONY STAGED

City and County Officials Take Part in Services At Municipal Hospital

Ten new buildings, including the Charles H. Kline Infirmary and the nurses' homes at the Pittsburgh City Home and Hospital at Mayview, stood ready for occupancy today after dedicatory services yesterday afternoon.

Included in the completed projects are two fireproof nurses' homes, two staff buildings, three employes' dormitory and recreation homes, the superintendent's building, the infirmary and a laundry.

BUILDINGS SPEEDED

For the past several months building operations have gone on at a rapid pace.

The Kline infirmary, named in honor of the mayor, under whose administration the new group was erected, will care for a number of hospital cases that previously were handled under crowded conditions.

All the buildings are grouped to provide quick accessibility from any of the other structures.

Mrs. Enoch Rauh, director of the department of public welfare, supervised the improvements. Col. Eric Fisher Wood was the architect. Dr. James S. Hammers is superintendent.

Speaking of the project, Mrs. Rauh said:

"This new group of buildings should stand as a monument to the idea that Pittsburgh has a civic and social interest in its charges and for those who care for them. Mayview serves a purpose that cares for the physical and moral welfare of Pittsburgh's mentally ill and destitute."

PASTORS TAKE PART

Dr. C. H. Henninger, of the University of Pittsburgh medical school, delivered the principal address at the dedicatory services. Others who spoke were Mayor Kline, Dr. Hammers, Mrs. Rauh, County Commissioners Joseph G. Armstrong, E. V. Babcock and C. C. McGovern; Edward N. Clopper, of the Federation of Social Agencies, and Councilmen Charles Anderson, Robert Garland, Harry E. Little, W. Y. English, John S. Herron, P. J. McArdle and Daniel Winters. Nirella's Band furnished music.

The Rev. Dr. Stewart Nye Hutchinson, pastor of East Liberty Presbyterian Church, delivered the invocation, while the Rev. Thomas Coakley, pastor of Sacred Heart Catholic Church, pronounced the benediction. The Rev. Dr. S. H. Goldenson, of Rodef Shalom Temple, blessed the new buildings.

The new road, leading from Bridgeville to Mayview, which has been under construction for the past several weeks, was opened for the services. A large crowd attended.

Will Be Hostess To Bible Class

Mrs. J. W. McMullen, 1122 Illinois avenue, Dormont, will be hostess tonight to the members of the Tuckebatchee Bible class of the Mt. Lebanon Baptist Church.

HEY, PILOT, YOU'RE OVER MIDWAY!

LEGIBLE ROOF-SIGN TO GUIDE PILOTS OVER MIDWAY

Midway, equidistant between Pittsburgh and Steubenville, has joined the campaign to guide air pilots. This sign is on the roof of T. J. Richards' service garage.

Sir Roger Says

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Sept. 13.

See where they are forming in Europe a new organization called "The United States of Europe."

Nobody knows just what it is or what its aims are, but we ought to be for it if only for one reason; and that is its the first thing been formed since the war that we haven't been asked to go over and join. If it's an economic boycott against our high Republican tariff I don't see why the Democrats wouldn't be allowed to join it.

I guess this epidemic of forming clubs and things, that we have just so disastrously passed through is just hitting Europe.

Yours, WILL.

75 TAX ORDERS STOLEN, HE DECLARES

Bartlick, Better Known as 'Steve Brodie,' Accuses Man Known as 'Brunner'

A North Side precinct detective, known to officers only as Brunner, was being sought today by constables from Alderman Thomas A. Flannigan's office on charges of larceny and assault and battery.

The charges were preferred by Stephen F. Bartlick of 14 East Erie street, better known as "Steve Brodie," who alleged that Brunner and another patrolman had beaten him in the North Side Police Station Wednesday morning after arresting him, according to Alderman Flanigan.

TAX ORDERS GONE

He also averred that 75 tax receipt orders which he was taking to the downtown Malone mayoralty headquarters were taken from him by the officers.

Bartlick said he had left the Malone headquarters in the Twenty-second Ward late Tuesday with 75 tax receipt orders. After stopping in a club in East Ohio street, in which, Bartlick said, he became involved in an altercation with supporters of Mayor Kline, he proceeded to his home.

ARRESTED BY PAIR

On his way Bartlick was stopped by Brunner and another patrolman whose name he did not know and arrested on a disorderly conduct charge, he charged. The receipt orders were taken from him in the cell room where the alleged beating took place.

Discharged the next day, Bartlick asked that the tax receipt orders be returned to him, but was unable to obtain them, he said.

Hikers Arrange Sunday Itinerary

They are R. F. Rainey, L. C. Stuckrath, H. R. Tallon and E. E. Zimmerman.

Speakers were C. J. Casper, of Pittsburgh, national president; Walter McGhee, who will direct the national golf tournament during the convention, and C. Bedell Monro and Capt. William Austin, of the Pittsburgh Aviation Industries.

$12,000 Sewer Plan Up Before Council

An ordinance authorizing the construction of a sewer estimated to cost $12,000 from Millerton avenue to Elmhurst avenue and from Wealth street to Jacks Run has been introduced in Council.

POLICE HOAXED BY STORY OF KIDNAPING

Lad Found on Stage Tells Of Being Seized in New York, Then Parents Arrive

East End police last night were on the verge of beginning a search for the kidnaper of Judson (Buddy) Brown, 10, of 5118 Carnegie street, after hearing his weird tale of having been stolen from New York, when Buddy's parents telephoned the police and reported him missing.

Buddy first broke into the limelight when he let the monkeys loose in a circus at Motor Square Garden last fall, police said. Last night he was found back of the scenes in an East End theater by the stage manager.

The boy then unfolded the kidnaping tale, the manager said. Buddy said he lived in Fifth avenue, New York, and had been kidnaped by a man with a mustache, thrust into an automobile and brought to Pittsburgh, escaping when his abductor got out to get something to eat and running to the back door of the theater to elude him. Buddy told the stage manager.

Buddy was taken to the police station where his parents called for him. It was then that the monkey freeing act was brought to light, police said.

150 OVERSEERS REQUESTED IN PETITIONS

Candidates Appeal to Court For Assistants at Polls on Primary Election Day

Petitions asking for the appointment of nearly 150 overseers in city wards were presented by Attorney Homer N. Young to Judge Elder W. Marshall, of Common Pleas Court, who fixed next Monday as the time for hearings on the applications. Attorney Young represented Judge Richard W. Martin in the proceedings.

MARTIN ACTS

The districts and wards for which overseers were asked follow:

Twenty-third District, Fourth Ward; Third District, Fifth Ward; Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Ninth, Eleventh, Thirteenth, Seventeenth, Eighteenth districts of the Seventh Ward; Second, Fifth, Sixth, Eighteenth, Twenty-first, Twenty-fourth, Twenty-sixth districts of the Eighth Ward; Ninth, Twenty-first, Twenty-fourth, Thirtieth districts of the Eleventh Ward; Eighth, Sixteenth, Twentieth districts of the Twelfth Ward; Twenty-seventh, Thirty-first districts of the Fourteenth Ward; Eighth, Fifteenth, Seventeenth, Twentieth, Twenty-eighth districts of the Fifteenth Ward; Fifth, Sixth, Eighth, Twelfth, Sixteenth, Twenty-first, Twenty-third districts of the Seventeenth Ward; First, Third, Fifth, Eighth, Ninth, Thirteenth districts of the Eighteenth Ward; Eighteenth, Nineteenth, Twenty-first and Thirty-firsts districts of the Nineteenth Ward; Ninth, Eleventh, Twelfth, Thirteenth, Fourteenth districts of the Twentieth Ward; Fourth, Sixth, Ninth, Tenth, Eleventh, Twelfth, Fourteenth, Fifteenth, Sixteenth, Seventeenth, Eighteenth, Twentieth, Twenty-first, Twenty-second districts of the Twenty-first Ward; Eighteenth District of the Twenty-second Ward; First and Nineteenth districts of the Twenty-sixth Ward; Twenty-third District of the Twenty-seventh Ward; First, Fourth, Eleventh districts of the Thirtieth Ward.

MALONE PETITIONS

Attorneys Horton Smith and Lewis D. Brown, representing the James Malone for mayor forces, also filed petitions before Judge Marshall, asking for appointment of overseers in the following districts and wards: First, Second, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Tenth, Twelfth, Thirteenth, Seventeenth, Twentieth, Twenty-first and Twenty-second districts, Third Ward; First, Fourth, Fifth, Seventh, Sixteenth, Seventeenth, Nineteenth to Twenty-third districts inclusive, Twenty-sixth to Twenty-eighth districts and Thirty-second and Thirty-third districts of the Fourth Ward; First, Thirteenth, Fourteenth and Twenty-third districts, Thirteenth Ward; Twenty-sixth to Twenty-ninth districts inclusive, Fifteenth Ward; Second to Sixth districts inclusive, Eighth, Ninth, Twelfth to Sixteenth districts inclusive, Nineteen to Twenty-third districts inclusive, Twenty-first Ward; Sixth, Eleventh, Twelfth, Thirteenth and Twenty-first districts, Twenty-third Ward, and Second, Third, Fourth and Thirteenth districts, Twenty-fifth Ward.

KLINE ALSO ACTIVE

Assistant City Solicitor Charles P. Lang also filed petitions for overseers in the interests of the candidacy of Mayor Charles H. Kline. These included applications for overseers in the first 22 districts of the Third Ward, Ninth District of the Tenth Ward, Second District of the Twenty-fifth Ward and the Ninth District of the Twenty-first Ward.

Petitions for overseers for the First District of the First Ward, Sewickley, also were asked for and like the applications in the city, the time for the hearings was fixed for next Monday.

Stolen Automobile Found After Crash

North Side police today were searching for a man who late last night stole the automobile of C. M. Caffier, of 836 Lincoln avenue, and abandoned it after crashing into the front porch of the home of Miss Catherine Spitsman, of 1325 Reddour street. Damage to the porch was estimated at $100.

MAN OFFERING AID ACCUSED AS ROBBER

Victim Says Negro Ran Him Down, Then Made Attack On Way to Find Doctor

Blakely Lowe, 39, a Negro, of 1422 Porterfield street, North Side, was held by police of Central Station today on charges of James Statis, of 59 Tunnel street, who alleged the Negro tried to rob him in an alley in the Hill district.

Statis told police that when he alighted from a street car at Smithfield street and Second avenue early today he was knocked down and injured by an automobile driven by Lowe. The driver stopped the machine and offered to aid the victim by taking him to a doctor. Satis accepted the offer, and got into the machine.

Somewhere in the Hill district, Statis said, Lowe turned into a dark alley, and stopping, got into the rear seat and attempted to rob him. Statis escaped and went to the Center Avenue Police Station where he told police of his experience and gave them the number of the car. Police went to the Porterfield address and arrested Lowe. At Central Station Lowe was charged with being a suspicious person.

PROTEST FILED AGAINST FEDERAL BUILDING LAYOUT

MEYER BRANDS COURT ROOMS IMPRACTICAL

Plans Designed for Beauty, Rather Than Utility, Says Retiring District Attorney

The new Federal building, being planned by government architects, has been designed for beauty, with utility to fit in where it may.

So believes John D. Meyer, United States district attorney, who, in a letter addressed to Marshal James C. McGregor to be in turn forwarded to the Department of Justice in Washington, criticises the sixth-floor layout as "unworkable" and one that would "immeasurably inconvenience the public of Western Pennsylvania."

The plans for the sixth-floor, which would house two court rooms, the grand jury room, and the U. S. Attorney's offices, is two floors below the three court rooms that, it is planned, will be used until federal business so expands that the full five are necessary.

JUDGES APPROVE

While the judges have approved their part, upon a request from Washington sent through McGregor, Meyer answered as follows:

"I have examined the plans for the sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth floors of the proposed new Federal Building, and the only thing which I can approve about the whole plans is that there seems to be sufficient space allotted for the United States Attorney allowing for expansion for possibly 10 years if the legal staff of the prohibition enforcement unit is not added to our present staff. If that change is made, then the quarters will be wholly inadequate immediately.

"The criticism, which is by far most important with respect to these proposed plans, is that the courtroom layout is almost unworkable. If you can imagine five judges sitting with three courtrooms on one floor and then two floors below that two other courtrooms, and with our assistants, witnesses and the judges to be carted about back and forward and up and down to these various floors, you can see why the criticism which I made in my letter to Carl T. Schuneman, assistant secretary of the treasury, under date of March 8, 1929, a copy of which is attached to this letter, was justified. No thought seems to have been given by the architects to the fact that the public is mostly concerned with this building and its layout.

NO PERSONAL INTEREST

"My resignation has been tendered to the attorney general and I have no personal interest in the future building, but the public of the Western District of Pennsylvania will be immeasurably inconvenienced so long as this building is in use and in a way that is wholly unnecessary if the six-court-room-on-a-floor plan, which was shown to me by Messers. Trowbridge & Livingston last winter had been approved. I suppose that the six-room-on-a-floor plan would not fit into the present design of the facade of the building and that is the reason for the change."

SUNDAY MOVIES FOR 'HILL'

Free public motion pictures will be inaugurated at Ammon Park, Bedford avenue, Fifth Ward, Sunday night at 8 o'clock, Joseph A. Hook, Jr., Fifth Ward undertaker, said today.

The first pictures will include a surprise feature drama, the name of which has not been made public, travelogs and a comedy. An orchestra will furnish music and Mr. Hook, a tenor, will sing "Mother Machree" and "The Chocolate Soldier." The inmates of the Coleman Orphanage, Bedford avenue, are expected to attend in a body.

Efforts will be made to secure similar performances weekly for next spring and summer, Hook said.

Mayor Charles H. Kline and Councilman Daniel Winters have been invited to attend the show and address a few remarks to the audience, he said.

ADD CARS TO AID PUPILS

To provide better service for High School pupils of West View and Ross township, two additional street cars will be placed in operation beginning Monday, C. V. Stroup, president of the West View Board of Trade announced today.

The Rev. R. Isele of the German Evangelical Church performed the ceremony. The pair, upon their return, will reside in Stewart street, McKeesport. The husband graduated this year from Pitt Law School and his wife recently completed her interneship in the West Penn Hospital.

LIQUOR SEIZED IN FIVE SOHO RAIDS

Dry Agents Find Moonshine And Still; Beer Discovered In Club on North Side

Invading Soho, a squad of prohibition agents mopped up five places, while other agents raided two establishments in the North Side and one in Brownsville road, last night.

Nine men were arrested and large quantities of moonshine and home-brew were seized.

A 75-gallon still and 10 gallons of moonshine were seized in a cellar of a building at 2126 Forbes street, where Robert Duncan, 51, was arrested, according to the agent.

FIVE TAKEN

Joseph Bird, 35, of 2122 Forbes street; Joseph Rodgers, 46, and Joe Wallace, 56, both of 2132 Forbes street, and aJck Fedrenka, 40, and William L. Moff, 30, both of 2202 Tustin street, were arrested after liquor was seized at their addresses, agents said.

The owner of a store at 2210 Forbes street in which, agents said, they seized six quarts of moonshine, was being sought.

BEER SEIZED

Three half-barrels of beer and 10 gallons of whisky were confiscated in a second floor club at 214 Federal street, and Edward Welsh, 46, was arrested, the raiders reported. Samuel Johnson, 50, rear of 24 Cajou way, was arrested when a small quantity of whisky and 69 gallons of home brew were seized in his home, the agents declared.

Harry Franz, 37, was arrested in a raid on a saloon at 2310 Brownsville road, in which five gallons of moonshine and 35 gallons of home brew were seized, according to the agents.

Temperate Use of Coffee Proper for Adults' Use

In preparing coffee aim should be to retain the oils, caffeine and nutritive qualities, while eliminating tanin.

Former Health Commissioner of New York City.
United States Senator from New York.

IT is natural to long for a hot drink with the meal. This is a normal desire and may be gratified with safety. Most popular of the American drinks is coffee.

There are three ways of making coffee—by percolation, by infusion and by decoction. In making this very popular beverage there should be kept in mind the necessity of retaining as much of the volatile oil, caffein, and such other nutritive qualities as possible, and to eliminate the tannin.

Freshly roasted coffee has the best flavor, so that it is well to select a coffee that comes in sealed or airtight cans. Coffee is much better when it is ground as needed. The finer it is ground, the richer it is, and the less time is required to prepare it.

The percolating of coffee is the French method. Many styles of coffee pots are used in this process. Cold water is allowed to come to the boiling point in the pot and percolates through finely ground coffee. For a small amount of coffee, use one tablespoonful of coffee to a cup of cold water for each person to be served, and add one cup "for the pot;" allow to come to the boiling point, and to "perc", not boil, from three to six minutes. If the stream appears frothy, the heat should be removed or reduced.

The drip coffee of our Southen states is made by packing finely ground coffee in the top of a French coffee pot, after which a little boiling water is poured over it, and this percolates very slowly through the coffee. This operation is repeated several times if a strong beverage is desired. In this method, not much tannin is retained and the coffee is mild and not bitter.

A very common method of making coffee in our country and in England is by infusion. Freshly roasted and finely ground coffee is used and one to two ounces of coffee to a pint of water is the right proportion. The water should be freshly drawn and brought to a boiling point, and then poured over the coffee. Allow the mixture to boil for four or five minutes and serve as soon as the grounds have settled.

A little cold water or egg shell, or a little egg albumen may be mixed with the coffee before adding the hot water; this will help to settle and make the coffee clear. Soft water is preferable to hard water, as it tends to extract certain nutritive values from the coffee better than hard water. If cream is used in the coffee it should be put in the cup before the coffee is poured.

The temperate use of coffee is perfectly proper for adults. I can see no reason why it cannot be enjoyed by most persons.

Prudence Penny's Recipes

Potato Soup.
Rolled Shoulder of Lamb.
Sweet Potato Puffs.
Green Peas with Bacon.
Peach and Pecan Salad.
Blueberry Tarts.

IT'S time to think about Sunday dinner again. So let's begin with the soup and finish with blueberry tarts. I have rather a sad feeling about blueberries. They don't last long enough; just here today and gone tomorrow.

But we really must begin with the soup. Let's have potato soup tomorrow: Boil four good-sized potatoes in salted water till tender but unbroken. In the meantime, scald one quart of milk, two slices of onion, six pepper corns, and either a stalk of celery or a sprig of parsley. Cook for 10 minutes.

Mix in gradually one tablespoon butter rubbed to a paste with one tablespoon flour. Stir gently till this is dissolved and the liquid thickens. Press the potatoes through a ricer directly into the milk, add salt to taste, stir and cook for 10 minutes. Rub through a sieve.

* * *

ROLLED SHOULDER OF LAMB is a favorite recipe of housewives throughout the states. Just try it and you'll know why. Have the blade removed from the shoulder and fill with the following mixture, then sew up or tie together.

Mix a cupful of bread crumbs, a quarter cupful of butter, two teaspoonfuls of chopped parsley, one tablespoonful of chopped onion, the juice of half a lemon, a teaspoonful of salt, a pinch of pepper, and an egg, beaten; also a pinch of thyme.

Place meat in a roasting pan with a little water and roast, allowing 15 minutes to the pound, basting often. When roast is done remove to platter, pour off grease from pan, adding a cupful of water in its place.

Stir to blend the meat juices with the water and thicken slightly with a flour and water paste to form a gravy. Celery or mushrooms may be added to the stuffing if you like.

* * *

SWEET POTATO PUFFS make a delicious complement for the lamb. Scoop the centers from six large sweet potatoes. Mash or put them through a vegetable press. Add one tablespoon of butter, one teaspoon of salt. Beat over hot water until they are light. Fill the skins and shells and bake 15 minutes in a hot oven.

If you'd like a salad really worthy of a Sunday family place half of a large, fresh peach on lettuce, fill its center with unsweetened cooked rice and chopped pecans drenched with mayonnaise. If you like, pass a Russian dressing.

* * *

IN my eagerness to get to the salad, I forgot to tell you about the peas with bacon, and they truly deserve some attention. Brown half an ounce of butter in a sauce pan with six diced pieces of bacon, and when it is a golden color, take them out and put a spoonful of flour into the fat.

Moisten with a pint of white broth, replace the bacon, add the shelled raw peas, one whole onion, a half-inch pepper. Cover and cook for 30 minutes; place in a hot deep dish and serve.

Complete this very complete dinner with Blueberry Tarts. Use one and one-half cups flour, one-half cup lard, one-half teaspoon salt, three cups blueberries, three tablespoons flour, two-thirds cup sugar, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-fourth teaspoon cloves, one tablespoon lemon juice and three tablespoons butter.

Mix the flour and lard. Add the salt. Slowly add the cold water, mixing with a knife. When a stiff dough forms, roll it out until it is one-eighth inch thick.

A GRATIFYING sight presents itself to the homemaker whose use of odd moments and fruits in season has given her a set of shelves laden with preserved and canned fruits and vegetables.

In filling up the preserve closet, include an extra shelf or two for gifts. Many, many times you will find just what you want on this gift shelf to give to the friend with but a kitchenette apartment, some convalescent, a bachelor maid or the boys and girls at school. How they will enjoy an assortment of homemade honey jellies, jams and relishes. Plan to have a few extra jars for Christmas boxes and baskets. Even the bride-to-be would appreciate a few jars as a shower gift.

* * *

WATERMELON pickle is an old-time favorite that deserves more frequent appearance as a relish.

Trim off the green and remaining red from the rind of a ripe watermelon (canteloupe, citron and cucumber white portion can be treated in the same manner as watermelon). Cut in one-inch cubes or in two-inch strips. Boil the prepared melon rind in salted water to cover until they are tender when tried with a silver fork. Use three tablespoons of salt to four quarts of water to boil the rinds. (Some have success using alum water instead of salted water for the preliminary boiling—two tablespoons alum to one quart of water are used.)

* * *

DRAIN in a colander and pat dry a few strips at a time, between the folds of a fresh tea towel. The following spice treatment is also a splendid method by which to prepare pickled peaches.

Place rinds or fruit to pickle in this manner in a jar, kettle or crock. Make a syrup in the proportions of two pounds of sugar and a pint of the best cider vinegar spiced with two tablespoons each of whole cloves and stick cinnamon tied in a bag. Boil the syrup five minutes after the boiling begins, remove the spice bag and pour hot syrup over the prepared rinds. For three successive mornings pour off the syrup and bring it to the boiling point with the spice bag added, then pour the boiling syrup over the fruit. The fourth day bring rinds and syrup to the boiling point and pack the pickles into sterilized glass jars, adding a few whole cloves and bits of stick cinnamon to three layers of the fruit as it is packed. Pour boiling syrup over the fruit to fill the jars and place the hot, sterilized top of the jar in place.

Make a syrup of the following ingredients:

Boil together one quart of vinegar, five cups of sugar, two sticks of cinnamon, one tablespoon of whole cloves and one tablespoon allspice.

Put the spices in a cheesecloth. Add the crabapples and heat gently, but do not let them boil. Let stand in the syrup over night. Next morning remove the crabapples and pack them into jars. Reheat the syrup to the boiling point and pour over apples in the jars to within three-quarters inch of the top. Process in the oven at 275 degrees for 25 minutes.

* * *

GINGER PEARS (Oven Canned)—Make a syrup of two quarts of vinegar and two pounds of brown sugar. Add one-half ounce ginger root, one-half lemon peel, one tablespoon of whole cloves, one tablespoon of allspice, one-half ounce stick of cinnamon tied in a cheesecloth. When this mixture simmers add four quarts of pears and bring to the boiling point. Cool and allow to stand over night. In the morning, drain off the syrup. Pack the pears in clean jars on which new and clean rubbers have been adjusted. Heat the syrup to boiling point and pour over the pears to within three-fourths inch of the top. Process in the oven at 275 degrees for 30 minutes.

* * *

THERE are many sweet entrees that are new to the average hostess. Every trip abroad puts new ideas as to food and service in milady's head. A luncheon at one of the more exclusive hotels or an up-to-date club in the home city will often suggest new delectable dishes with which to win the appreciation of the family.

* * *

IN the sweet entree class we put sweet fritters, sweet souffles and mousses or puffs. These may be served in place of dessert, or in smaller portions, as an accompaniment to the roast course.

* * *

SWEET RED PEPPER RELISH ("Mangoes")—Select red peppers of even size and as perfectly formed as possible. Cut a thin cap from each, scoop out the center and soak the shell overnight in a brine of two quarts of water in which one cup of salt has been dissolved. In the morning drain and fill with the following relish:

Mix together one quart of chopped cabbage, one pint of chopped onions, one pint of sweet red peppers, two hot peppers, and five tablespoons of salt. Let this mixture stand over night in a crock or enameled pan. Drain, then add four tablespoons mustard seed, two tablespoons celery seed, one-half cup of sugar and one quart of vinegar. Pack the mixture into the prepared red pepper shells and fasten securely the caps which were removed from the peppers. Toothpicks will hold them on. Cover the peppers with moderately strong vinegar, cold, and let stand overnight. Next day simmer for one-half hour in the vinegar. Remove from the vinegar and put in a crock and cover with fresh, cold vinegar.

* * *

SWEET FRITTER BATTER—Sift ¼ tablespoon salt with one cup flour and gradually add two-thirds cup of milk, the yolks of two eggs, and one tablespoon of cookery oil or melted butter. Mix thoroughly and fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites.

Drop the batter by spoonfuls into deep hot fat. The fat should be tested and when the mixture browns in one minute it is the correct temperature for any uncooked mixture.

Sweet fritters dusted with powdered sugar and served with fruit sauce are delicious, but the fritter with fruit folded or mixed in is usually meant when a fruit fritter entree is designated.

* * *

APPLE FRITTERS—Stir sliced apples into sweet fritter batter and fry—drain on brown paper, but before fritters cool too much dust them with powdered sugar.

* * *

BANANA FRITTERS—Three bananas, one cup bread flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one tablespoon powdered sugar, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-fourth cup milk, one egg, one tablespoon lemon juice. Mix and sift the dry ingredients. Beat the egg until light, add milk and combine mixtures; then add lemon juice and banana forced through a sieve. Drop by spoonfuls in a deep fat and drain. Serve with lemon sauce.

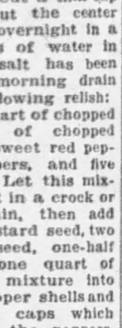
"The Flavor proves it's better"

SAY MANY CELEBRATED COOKS



"—the minute you taste it you know it contains finer ingredients"

Mary Reilly, cook for Alice Duer Miller, of New York City, says, "Only the best of everything could give Hellmann's that rich, true mayonnaise flavor. I have used it for 6 years in preference to any other, even my own." —Mary Reilly

COSMOPOLITAN New Yorkers know it is the sauce or dressing which brings out the full rich flavor of foods.

That is why they use Hellmann's Mayonnaise to make their salads more luscious. Any mayonnaise as rich and as perfect in taste must be made of the same, fine ingredients they would use in their own kitchens. The finest eggs, the best salad oil, pure vinegar, and rare spices, and only these, are put together by a secret recipe from France and beaten hour on hour until the blend is marvelously delicious.

Hellmann's is made in six shining kitchens scattered over the country, and rushed fresh from the nearest one to your grocer. Get a jar from your grocer today. The popular family size is ½ pint —25¢. Other sizes, 3½ ounce, pint, and quart jars.

To Stop Hosiery Fading Even When Ordinary Laundry Soap Is Used

Simple Way To Stop Fade and "Soap Eat" In Even Most Fragile Hosiery

You need no longer fear the fading of delicate colors in even the most fragile chiffon hosiery. You avoid, too, the "soap eat" that hosiery makers warn against. There's a new way of washing that prevents all this . . . even when the ordinary laundry soaps or powders are used.

Under the new method described here, even faintest pastel colors in fine lingerie or delicately tinted hosiery hold fast, according to recent tests, for as many as 50 washings, without noticeable fade or wear.

The method is very simple: To each tubful of water (or washer filled to the water line) you merely add 2 tablespoons of a preparation called CLIMALENE and use just ONE-FOURTH the quantity of soap you ordinarily use. Then proceed with washing as usual. (For light washing in small wash basins, a teaspoonful of CLIMALENE is enough.)

This preparation is used by experts to stop fade and soap eat. It acts by converting hard, or semi-hard water to rain water softness and to dissolve grease and dirt. White clothes, washed this way, never grow yellow—but wash pure white. Delicate colors hold fast. You can easily get it at any grocery store. Two sizes, 10c and 25c. Just ask your grocer for CLIMALENE.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Betrothal of H. K. Binns Announced

WHEN engagement after engagement is announced in the first fall days, even the most pessimistic folk must admit there's something in what poets have to say about moon-drenched summer gardens and all the rest of it.

The moon last summer must have been especially glamorous if one may judge by the betrothal and wedding plans we're hearing about these days.

From Cumberland comes news of still another plighting of troth. At a breakfast given yesterday by Capt. and Mrs. J. Philip Roman, of Cumberland, Md., announcement was made of the engagement of their daughter, Eloise Lowndes Roman, to Hilary Kenelm Binns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hussey Binns, of Woodland road.

Eloise is a graduate of the Georgetown Visitation Convent, of Washington. For the last three years she has held the Western Maryland championship in tennis.

Mr. Binns attended Phillips Exeter Academy and Yale, and his clubs are the Pittsburgh Athletic Association, the Union Club of Pittsburgh, the Pittsburgh Hunt and Yale Club, of Philadelphia.

And the wedding will take place, I hear, in early November.

Head of Federation To Open Exposition

MRS. JOHN F. SIPPEL, of Baltimore, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, will be in Pittsburgh Wednesday to speak at the formal opening of the home exposition which the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women will conduct on the South Side, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday through its home department. The opening exercises will be held in the South Side High School at 10 o'clock and, in addition to speeches, the program will include a pageant of motherhood, which Mrs. Chester F. Johnston, drama chairman of the Congress of Clubs, has written for the occasion. The Beaver County Federation Choral will furnish the music.

NEW year books herald the opening of the Southern Club's twenty-sixth season, which will take place October 11 at a reception for the president and new members in the Hotel Schenley. The monthly sessions of the organization will be held, as usual, in the Hotel Schenley, with different members having charge of the programs. The big event of the year, of course, is the charity ball on December 27 at the Schenley, the event which finances the club's wide philanthropies. As a variation from programs a bridge-tea is planned for February 14 at the hotel. The annual business meeting on April 4 will be followed by a tea, and Mrs. Charles B. Ellis, of the Bellefield Dwellings, will be hostess for the annual altruistic day tea. The season closes with the annual luncheon at the Schenley on May 9.

MRS. G. F. FRANK, of Kings Highway, gave her home to the program committee of the Woman's Club of Rosslyn Farms yesterday afternoon, when the club held its initial meeting. "Memory Gems from Vacations" were given in response to roll call. Mrs. R. L. Cathcart discussed current events, while a resume of the year book was given by Mrs. F. H. Alter, chairman of the program committee. "Whither Bound" being the subject under discussion, a sketch entitled "A Trip Around the World in a Zeppelin," under the direction of Mrs. C. G. Thornburg, was skillfully portrayed by Mrs. H. M. Austin, Mrs. J. G. Oliver, Mrs. E. C. Hammond, Miss Clara Boord, Mrs. S. Haudenshield, Mrs. G. E. Dignan and Mrs. C. P. Galleher. The social committee, with Mrs. J. W. Church as chairman, has scheduled a corn roast for Friday evening on the wooded stretch of land skirting the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Barnett, Pricilla lane.

MAILED with the new Outlook Alliance year books were invitations to the reception and tea which the organization will give October 3 at the home of the president, Mrs. H. D. Stark, Phillips avenue This innovation, which will inaugurate the season, will be followed on October 17 by an illustrated lecture which Dr. M. H. Bigelow will give on "A Month Under Mediterranean Skies." Other events scheduled in the books are benefit card parties, a talk on the work of the Red Cross in government hospitals in Pittsburgh and vicinity by Mrs. George E. Alter; a visit to the International Art Exhibit; Dr. Marion H. McKay's talk on "The Tariff as it Relates to the American Home"; a Christmas luncheon and pageant; a mother and daughter luncheon; an illustrated lecture by Prof. Frank C. Jordan on "Our Great Universe"; an American music day, a literary luncheon, a drama tea, a fashion show, election, birthday celebration, arbor day observance, May Day breakfast, a dinner and the annual outing.

ABOUT 100 guests attended the garden party given yesterday by the Tuesday Musical Club Choral as a benefit for the Stephen Foster Memorial Fund. The beautiful garden of Mrs. George M. Swan in Inverness street served as the lovely setting for the event. A program was given on the terrace overlooking the sunken garden and pool. The Foster singers, including Martha Edmundson, Mrs. Lewis A. Young, Virginia Kendrick and Anne Woestehoff, with Martha Meyers Murdock accompanying, gave a recital; Mrs. Caroline Himelblau, in Spanish costume, moved about among the guests singing Spanish songs to castanet accompaniment, and little Mary Louise Beyer danced.

THE next event on the calendar for the Carrick Mothers' Club, which opened its season with a "summer echoes" program Wednesday, is a corn roast September 25. October events include the president's reception, an open house and a Halloween party. A literary day, a theater party arranged by the finance committee, the monthly open house and a community family night will all come in November, while December's two events will be the members' Christmas party and a party for children. A high school day and a scholarship fund dinner are down for January, a program on peace and international relations and a father and son banquet being listed for February. March offers a child welfare program and a play by the drama committee; April a business meeting and a birthday party; May a health day, a mother and daughter banquet and a trip through the Heinz plant. The closing events in June include a literary day, the annual baby day, the annual luncheon at the South Hills Country Club, a garden party at the home of Mrs. John M. Phillips for the benefit of the scholarship fund and a benefit bridge luncheon for the fund at Mrs. Carl F. Kerr's home. The year books just issued carry an innovation in the way of a page devoted to "Who's Who Among Our Speakers," and these include George Seibel, the Rev. Dr. Carl Wallace Petty, A. V. Snell, Miss Cora Helen Coolidge and Dr. Max Schoen.

* * *

THE Pittsburgh Mt. Holyoke Club will hold a tea tomorrow afternoon in the home of Miss Helen Booth, Beechwood boulevard, in honor of the entering students and members of the present student body from this district. Mrs. Henry M. Hallett, of Ben Avon, who attended the twenty-fifth reunion last June, will speak briefly of the college as it was in her day, and Miss Dorothy Orwig, '29, will tell of it as it is today. Assisting Miss Booth, who is treasurer, will be the other officers, Miss Marguerite Kupferberg, president; Miss Emily Irvine, secretary; Mrs. William Hutchinson, graduate councilor.

* * *

MRS. WILLIAM D. HAMILTON, regent of the Pittsburgh Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will entertain the executive board of the chapter at luncheon in the Hotel Schenley on Tuesday. For the first fall meeting of the chapter, September 27, in the hotel, Mrs. Hamilton has planned the same feature that received so much favorable comment at last season's opening—the escort of 32 pages, daughters of Daughters, for the entrance of the flag. Miss Sara Soffel is to address the meeting, speaking on "Putting Patriotism in Politics."

* * *

MANY interesting plans are being made for the fall fashion review to be sponsored by the Woman's City Club in the ballroom of the William Penn Hotel October 11 and 12. Mrs. Edward Vose is general chairman of the revue, with Mrs. Clinton Bradley as vice-chairman. Mrs. Ambrose N. Diehl is chairman of exhibitors; Mrs. Taylor Allderdice, of patronesses; Mrs. Margaret Stewart Gray, reservations; Miss May Beegle, tickets; Mrs. Arthur E. Braun, invitations; Mrs. Henry Hanna, publicity; Mrs. A. W. Robertson, program, and Mrs. C. L. Peirce, Jr., decorations.

* * *

THE South Hills College Club will open its season's program with a meeting tonight at the Beach home, Washington road, Mt. Lebanon. "Flights and Fancies" will be the topic of the evening, Mrs. Ross E. Taggart speaking on "Modern Poetry" and Miss Ann Macpherson on "Modern Fiction." An informal round table discussion will follow these talks and Miss Dorothy Green will give several piano selections. Mrs. W. B. Allison will be chairman of hostesses.

* * *

"WITH GRENFELL IN LABRADOR" will be discussed under the leadership of Mrs. W. A. Crawford at tonight's meeting of the Bradford Woods Community Church Club in the home of Mrs. J. Charles Runk. Mrs. A. B. Chandler, Mrs. Lillian Chase, Mrs. W. L. Fickes and Mrs. L. A. Riley will assist the hostess.

* * *

Gowns With Interesting Backs New Feature This Season

Sketched in Paris

Hemline of Frocks To Be Longer At Back

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

PARIS, Sept. 12.—Back into favor are evening gowns that by intricate cut and subtle drapery are designed to reward the woman who has striven earnestly to preserve or acquire a straight, slim, flawless back. For it is to the back of the dress, especially at the waist and the skirt that the couturiers are concentrating the battery of their genius. "By your backs shall we be known" seems to be the house motto of all ateliers this season.

NEARLY all evening frocks feature a hemline that is longest at the back, and in most cases it ripples in gracefully descending cascades to the heels of the slippers, which this season are of matching color mostly in satin. The bustle of yesteryear is suggested by full bows posed low at the back. In many cases it is a part of or continuation of the bodice. But whatever the feature used, whether it is a bow, a low-placed flounce, or ruffles, the back is most decorative part of the frock.

PREMET is one of the couturiers who has subscribed to the fashion of interesting backs, and the dress depicted here today is an illuminating example of the artistry of this designer. This stately evening gown is of heavy satin in a lovely La France shade. It is effectively shirred at the waist and top of the hips, and we have had the back of the dress sketched to show how attractive and novel it is. The bretelles that come from the center of the decollete, in front, continue in the back into a long strip running down the spine and finished in a novel bow made of double satin oval petals. The gown is very long in the back and is worn with matching slippers of the same heavy satin.

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., Sept. 13.—A movement has been started here by the Women's Club for building a community house. The club will confer with other civic clubs on the project.

Bride to Fly With Lindy On Tropic Mail Route

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Over the air trail her husband blazed around the Caribbean, Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh will fly with him during September.

Pan-American Airways announced that the Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh would leave Miami, Fla., September 20 to inaugurate the Miami-Dutch Guiana air-mail line, following the route the colonel blazed on his good-will tour last year.

Down through Havana, the Virgin, Windward and Leeward Islands, they will fly to Paramaribo, Dutch Guiana, the southern terminus of the line, and then on their return skirt the northern coast of South America to the Panama Canal.

From there they will fly back by easy stages to this country, stopping off in capitals en route where the colonel was entertained on his first trip over those countries, when he flew alone.

Mrs. Lindbergh, under the colonel's expert tutelage, has become quite an accomplished flier, but it was not thought she would be given much opportunity to show her skill in this flight, as they will be traveling in large transport planes, with whose handling she is not familiar.

Col. Lindbergh will fly 6,000 miles in his tour and will visit 16 countries in Central and South America. He will have a crew consisting of a co-pilot and a radio operator, and a steward of the flight as far as San Juan, Porto Rico.

The first hop from Miami will be made in a tri-motored land monoplane, but from San Juan an amphibian plane will be used in flying to South America.

Lipton to Be Interviewed On Radio Tonight

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

SEVERAL good morsels will be served listeners tonight. Outstanding speakers will be Sir Thomas Lipton, venerable yachtsman, who will be interviewed over KDKA by Graham McNamee at 8:30 o'clock, and Senator James E. Watson, who will discuss "Tariff," WCAE, at 10.

Ernie Hare and Billie Jones, who have been sadly missed as the Interwoven Pair during their vacation, will introduce novelty and fun upon their return to the air at 9 p. m. through KDKA.

Senator Watson

How Barnum met Bailey and the subsequent formation of the world's largest freak museum and later a circus, will be told first hand by Bob Sherwood during the Dixie Circus program, KDKA at 7:30.

"Maytime," with Jessica Dragonette and Colin O'More in the leading roles, will be given from KDKA at 9:30 o'clock.

"Stars of Melody" from WCAE at 10:30 is a new feature.

Something different in entertainment will be given the radio public at 2 a. m., tomorrow morning when WLW offers a five-hour Nation's All-Night Party.

We Now Present

Very interesting is a Sun-Telegraph survey of the most popular features at Pittsburgh radio stations. We mean the ones that receive the most mail and the most telephone requests.

Sacred Songs at KDKA probably leads them all, the influx of cards and letters for this feature outnumbering that of any other single broadcast. Don Bestor is next at the pioneer station. Warner Brothers Radio Revue tops the list at WCAE with Dick Powell and Seth Parker the next best. Virginia Harmon, the very beautiful girl in the Song Story, has contributed much to bringing this brain child of Phillips Lorde into fourth place while Household Institute, the Shradertown Band, Floyd Gibbons and Palmolive are runners-up.

Nothing gives Marcella Deverson more of a headache than the assortment of epistles received every week by the Ceco Couriers over WJAS. Everybody wants a copy of Henry Burbig's burlesque. The Show Boat comes next while the Detective Mystery is a good third.

We had our first ride in an airplane this week. The guest of Keps Electric Company, distributors of Temple sets, we went up in the Temple coast-to-coast plane when it stopped off at Bettis Field. If all aviators are like Lieut. Frank Hoffman we could spend the rest of our days studying the blue skies and never feel worried.

"The air's choppy today, I don't think you will enjoy your first ride," he said. Strapping us into the seat he taxied to one end of the field and with as much control as you have over your automobile he made the "crate" do a right-about-face, fed it more gas, manipulated the stick and up into the air we went. The air wasn't so bumpy, but we just didn't relish the first sensation of dropping about 20 feet only to rise again about 30 feet, just like a dory at sea.

WE SPED along at 80 miles an hour, 1,000 feet above McKeesport. Rivers and roads appeared very small but we felt safer than we did the time we climbed the thousand or more odd steps to the top of Washington Monument.

MURRAY B. SCHUTZER, manager of the radio department at Keps, who will possess the plane on the twenty-third of this month if he boosts Temple set beyond those of any other distributor in the country, was electrified with his first ride and had to be clubbed and shoved into an automobile to get him away from the field. Murray wants the Temple plane bad and we certainly want him to get it. The Keps Company at present is among the three leaders in the contest.

E. J. Sedler, an official of Keps; Cliff S. Bettinger, sales promotion director of the Temple Radio Corporation; W. G. Halle and Gabriel J. Tolan, Chicago newspaperman, were others to fly. The plane left for Buffalo from where it will fly to New York City to be suspended from the roof of the new Madison Square Garden for the big Radio World's Fair to be held the week of September 23.

About Robinson Crusoe.
While there is nothing in the book concerning the way Robinson Crusoe and his man Friday spent the 13th, Raymond Knight from his vast source of information and the files of the National Broadcasting Company has discovered that all was not well on that day on the little island. Crusoe had many troubles on that day of his enforced exile and not the least of these was the troublesome Friday and the goat.
Just what happened to Crusoe, Friday and Crusoe's goat on that day will be told in the Triadrama tonight.

Paris Cocktail Crazy
Paris has gone cocktail crazy. Cocktail contests have replaced bridge, ping pong, and even dancing as the favorite indoor sport of the Jeunesse Doree (French for gilded youth). The biggest was recently held at Paris' Luna Park. Forty music hall artists mixed cocktails for medals and prizes for the benefit of the Old Actors' Home and the Union des Artistes; 50 francs, ($2) admission, and all the cocktails you could hold gratis. After the milling crowd of several hundred had sampled the majority of the concoctions of the 40 bartenders and barmaids, the scene became positively funny.
The Luna Park charity was one of the big moments in Bill's summer vacation in Paris, and his description of it serves as a bright spot in the conversation of Manon, Peaches, Bill, and Jacques, in the premiere of the new series of "Evening in Paris" programs tonight.

Second Act, "Maytime"
In the second act, which takes place in a night club in 1855, Dick returns from South Africa, a millionaire. He learns that a rival, Claude Van Zandt, has married the fair Ottilie. The affectionate reunion of the lovers is interrupted by Ottilie's jealous husband. Dick relieves the tension between Ottilie and her husband when he announces that he will marry a girl named Alice Tremayne.

Gus and Louie in Race.
This is Friday the thirteenth, an omindate for Gus and Louie, the Schradertown garagemen, friends once, bitter rivals now. They race against each other at the County Fair in the $1,000 sweepstakes for cars of pre-war vintage. Louie wants the thousand dollars to buy furniture so he can marry the dashing Widow Biddle right off; Gus will do anything to prevent his winning. Tonight's installment starts at the rehearsal of the Schradertown Band and ends in a thrilling scene at the Fair Grounds.
The Schradertown Band, under the direction of Arthur Pryor, is to rehearse this program to play at the County Fair:

Rhinelander Goes East to Confer With Wife

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Sept. 12.—AP.)—Leonard Kip Rhinelander, accompanied by his attorney, H. A. Harmon, deserted his mountain retreat near here where he has been living since last January and boarded an east-bound train to confer at an unannounced point with his Mulatto wife, Alice Rhinelander, whom he is suing for divorce.

Rhinelander instituted the proceedings recently, charging he was inveigled into the marriage and that it had caused his family to disinherit him and brought "great embarrassment" to him among his friends. It was his second attempt to annul the ceremony.

POKER FIGURES IN SHIP QUIZ

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Testimony that a poker game was in progress in the mess room of the coastal liner San Juan when it was rammed and sunk by the Standard Oil tanker S. C. T. Dodd, was heard in the trial of three officers of the two ships before United States steamboat inspectors here.

Luther Leathers, quartermaster of the San Juan, said he had been told members of the crew were playing poker and that a sailor who was supposed to have been on watch had sent a substitute to do his duty for him.

The three officers were charged with negligence of duty. They are Capt. H. O. Bleumchen and Third Mate O. V. Saunders of the Dodd, and Third Mate Robert Pappenfuss of the San Juan.

Leathers also testified that another substitution had taken place on the boat before the crash which cost some 80 lives, but could not state whether this substitution was due to the poker game.

Pupils Continue Strike at School

BELLAIRE, O., Sept. 13.—Thirty-one pupils of the McClainsville public school, west of this place, are still on strike and have refused to attend classes at the St. Joe school, to which they have been assigned. The students' parents insist that the McClainsville school be reopened.

Boy Picking Coal Killed Under Cars

GREENSBURG, Pa., Sept. 13.—Falling beneath a trip of mine cars near the tipple of the Westmoreland Coal Company at Export, Andy Savisky, 6, of Export, was so badly crushed that he died soon afterwards. An older brother jumped to safety when the trip started.

Two Men Arrested In Liquor Raid

WASHINGTON, Pa., Sept. 13.—Constable Ernest Nitchel, of Houston, in raids on two establishments in the Houston-Midland highway, nabbed Pete Martin, 45, and Amel Crozu, 38, for violation of the liquor laws. Taken before Justice of the Peace J. W. Stoffer, at Houston, the pair posted bond for court.

Ohio Firm Given Bridge Contract

MERCER, Pa., Sept. 13.—The county commissioners have awarded the contract for construction of a bridge over Wolf Creek, in Chestnut street, Grove City, to the Roberts Supply Company of Lima, O. The contract price is $66,300.

Lancaster Station Gets Radio Charter

HARRISBURG, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—The State Department has granted a charter to WGAL, Inc., of Lancaster, radio broadcasting station. The incorporators are John E. Hess, Jacob E. Mathiot and Percy Trilnick, all of Lancaster. The capital stock is $5,000.

Thieves Use Truck In Robbing Store

BENTLEYVILLE, Pa., Sept. 13.—Thieves broke into the J. Gessner clothing store in Main street here and escaped with a quantity of merchandise. Police found indications that a truck had been used to haul the merchandise away.

UNSCRAMBLE THESE ANAGRAMBLES

DAILY ANAGRAM PUZZLES

TRY your hand at this fascinating game of Anagrambles—the game that is taking the town like the crossword puzzle craze took the whole nation for a ride through the dictionary.

The game is quite simple. Merely change the following words by the addition of the single letter indicated. Do not omit any letter of the original word. The letter may be inserted at the beginning of the word, anywhere within the word, or at the end. Thus, the word "pate," by the addition of the letter "l" becomes either "pleat" or "plate." The word "drag" may be changed to either "grade" or "raged" by the addition of the letter "e."

The original word must be changed in meaning by the commentary letter. To change "mine" by adding "d," to form "mined," would be incorrect. Rearrange the letters of your word to change its meaning, not its tense or number. Take a pencil now and write in your newly formed word in the spaces provided.

FUND GROWING TO SAVE MILL

PERRYPOLIS, Pa., Sept. 13.—More than $1,000 has been contributed towards a fund of $10,000 needed for preserving the old grist mill, built and operated by George Washington.

Subscriptions have come from all over the United States and the money is to be raised by December 31.

The matter will be given consideration at the annual convention of the State Millers' Association which convenes in Harrisburg on September 25. Howard Adams of this place is treasurer.

Steel Freight Rate Changes Postponed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—The Interstate Commerce Commission has postponed from October 20 to December 20 the date for putting into effect revised freight rates on iron and steel articles in eastern territory.

After an investigation of iron and steel rates by the commission changes in rates were prescribed on June 3 to become effective October 20. Since that time a number of protests have been made against the revised rates by New York and New Jersey shipping interests.

Speed Trap War Under Way at Martinsburg

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 13.—The local Chamber of Commerce has declared against speed traps, fining squires and such. After reports had been received that constables and other police officers were overzealous in arresting motorists, especially tourists, a committee was appointed to lay the matter before the County Court.

High School Boy Convicted by Jury

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Sept. 13.—Amyal Canton, 17, high school student and candidate for the football team, was convicted of possession and transportation in connection with two gallons of liquor found in an automobile he was said to be driving. His sister, Jennie, and his mother also were arrested on liquor charges.

Canton said he was befriending "Wild Bill" Williams, a friend, and did not know what the two jugs, wrapped in burlap sacks, contained. His sister owned the machine, he said.

CURB LIBERALS IN GUATEMALA

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Dispatches to the newspaper El Universal Grafico from Guatemala City yesterday said that a petition to the government signed by leaders of the Progresista, Liberal and Liberal Federalista parties for the convocation of an extraordinary session of Congress had caused fears in government circles of a subversive intention on the part of the petitioners.

The correspondent of the newspaper said that the three parties had repeatedly asked for an extra session of Congress, urging that a full discussion should be had of several tax measures. But, he added, it had been discovered that the real motive was a desire to stir up political agitation in the national legislatures.

Farrell Continues Boy Police Corps

To that small but discriminating group who are interested in the finer things of life, we present the new Screen-Grid

Eveready Radio

THE PRECISION INSTRUMENT

... a new radio-receiver and a new ideal

—the man who loves the sing of a golf-ball in full flight

TO THE MAN WHO LOVES the sing of a golf-ball in full flight . . . to the woman who drives her own sport-coupé . . . to that portion of the public, in short, that has the time, the money, and the inclination to enjoy the better things of contemporary life, we present something new and refreshing.

Only such a restricted group, we feel, will appreciate in full the Eveready policy of "not how many, but how well"...the Eveready ideal of superb craftsmanship that builds for permanence, for lasting satisfaction over a period of years, for a definite return in happiness on the money you invest in this medium of home-entertainment.

The Precision Instrument

We like to refer to the new Eveready as the Precision Instrument ... a radio-receiver born of a passion for painstaking accuracy; a precision that shuns the slap-dash assembly of mass production; a precision that does not stress one part or one feature at the expense of the others; a precision that you expect to find in a fine piano or a superlative motor-car.

This precision is predicated on prevision . . . that long look into the future when the oratory of the salesman is forgotten; when, five or ten years from now, you will still be enjoying fine, clear, natural reception through the Eveready receiver you buy today.

From the winding of a coil to the tightening of a tiny nut, Eveready precision obtains all along the line. Even the cabinets—those truly beautiful pieces of furniture that are a delight to live with, day after day—even the cabinets are designed to serve the sound-reproducing qualities of the receiver.

For instance, our research-laboratories, with the facilities and experience of the great electrical and scientific organization that sponsors them, have found a way to make radio weather-proof! This means that on hot, muggy nights, your Eveready receiver will be as sensitive as in crisp November. Distant stations will come in at room-filling volume. Clear . . . full-voiced . . . faithful to the original tone as it enters the microphone, miles away.

Built for years of service

If improvements are developed and found worth while in actual practice—they will be added. There may be refinements in the years to come, but we doubt that actual improvement, fundamental improvement, can be made in this present receiver, whose very basis is precision. Your investment today is therefore safe-guarded. No "yearly model" is likely to render it obsolete.

We think of the Precision Instrument also as a musical instrument. It brings you the programs of the air in all their natural tone and volume—with nothing added, nothing taken away. It is actually "a ticket to the microphone" . . . it takes you to wherever the broadcasting originates, as though by private wire. And the price is no higher than you are asked to pay for the ordinary "commercial" radio-receiver.

If you have been confused by the babel of claims and counter-claims; if you are bewildered by technical terminology; if you have never owned any sort of radio, for one reason or another; if you have been disheartened (or disgusted!) by the new this or the new that which seems to make any radio obsolete overnight, we urge you to hear the new Eveready . . . this precision instrument; this finely engineered music-medium that will not be out of date next month or next year! See your nearest Eveready dealer now . . . today!

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

In the hold-up of the Casa Alvarado, Chicago night club, Detective Capt. Jim Courtney is shot and killed by Rico, Sam Vettori's gangster lieutenant. Sam is furious, fearing the consequences, but Rico, unafraid, calls Sam a coward and assumes his leadership. The gang gives Rico a banquet to celebrate his rise to power. When Tony Passa losing his nerve, attempts to squeal about the hold-up, he is shot dead by Rico. The latter, broadening his field, forces "Little Arnie" to give up a share of his gambling house profits. He also takes his woman, Blondy Belle. She tells him Arnie is cheating on the split. Rico, pleased with his power, resents the absence of one of his gangsters, Joe Massara, the dude. He finds him performing at a high-class night club with his girl, Olga Stassoff. Joe, fearing Tony's fate, is forced to fall in with Rico's underworld plans. Flaherty, a detective, arrives to interrupt the conference.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XIX.

THERE were quite a few wise boys in Little Italy who thought that Rico's sensational rise was a fluke. The matter was talked about a good deal and he was unfavorably compared with Nig Po and Monk De Angelo, former leaders, and there were even those who considered him inferior to Killer Pepi, Ottavio Vettori and Joe Sansone. This confusion arose because Rico was not understood. He had none of the outward signs of greatness. Neither the great strength and hairiness of Pepi, nor the dash and effrontery of Ottavio Vettori, nor the maniacal temper of Joe Sansone. He was small, pale and quiet. In spite of his new finery he wasn't much to look at. He did not swagger, he seldom raised his voice, he never bragged. In other words, the general run of Little Italians could find nothing in him to exaggerate; they could not make a legendary figure of him because the qualities he possessed were qualities they could not comprehend. The only thing that redeemed him in their eyes was his reputation as a killer.

Rico was brave enough, but he did not flaunt his bravery like Kid Bean. Rico was cunning enough, but cunning was not an obsession with Sam Vettori. Rico was capable of sudden audacity, but even his audacity had a sort of precision and was entirely without the dash of Ottavio's.

Rico, while he was small and pale, was capable of great endurance, but this endurance of his was nothing compared to Killer Pepi's inhuman vitality. Rico's great strength lay in his single-mindedness, his energy and his self-discipline. The Little Italians could not appreciate qualities so abstract.

The men that were considered his rivals were not to be compared with him. Killer Pepi was strong and courageous, but he was very erratic and a drug addict. Ottavio Vettori was daring enough and cool in a tight place, he could shoot straight and he feared nothing, but he was light-minded, dissipated his energies on all sorts of follies, and ran after every woman that looked at him. Joe Sansone, though brave enough and dependable when it came to a sudden action, was a periodic drunkard, and, generally speaking, nervous and unreliable. Sam Vettori, a good man once, had let his congenital love of trickery overcome him; he had become petty and had entirely lost the initiative which, years ago, had put him at the head of the gang. Now he was not even taken seriously by the men he had once led, and but for Rico's authority, he would have sunken into obscurity.

The case of Sam Vettori was a strange one, without its parallel in gang annals. In Little Italy there is no such thing as abdication unless it is accompanied by flight. The old gang leader who is superseded has two alternatives: flight or death. Sam had escaped both. His growing inability to make decisions had lost him his power, but it had also saved his life. Rico did not consider him dangerous. But that was not all. Rico considered him useful. That saved him from flight. With the proper guidance, Sam Vettori was an asset to any gang. He was wise and he knew the ropes.

Sam was docile; not that his hatred for Rico had abated; but things were breaking good, money was rolling in, and Sam loved money above all things. The Vettori gang had never known such prosperity before. Sam was quick to see where his advantage lay. Rico could be killed. Scabby, who hated Rico for some fancied slight and who, for this reason, was faithful to Sam, would have done it. But what would have been the good of that? Sam knew that he was through as a gang leader. With Rico dead, there would be a mad scramble for leadership. Besides, Rico had the devil's own luck, and Scabby might fail. If he failed, Scabby's life and his own wouldn't be worth a plugged dime. No, Sam Vettori accepted a somewhat odd situation philosophically and prospered.

* * *

"Well," said Blondy Belle, "I guess that's it, ain't it, Rico?"

Rico nodded.

"I told you not to give that bird a chance. He thinks you're soft."

"He raised the split to 50 per cent and the books were straight."

"Well," said Blondy, "he couldn't stand prosperity. Listen, you're gonna let him have it, ain't you?"

Blondy hated Little Arnie so that she couldn't sleep at night. She couldn't understand Rico's lenience.

"No," said Rico.

"Hell," said Blondy, "you're getting soft."

"Aw, can that," said Rico; "you want me to get my neck stretched over a dirty double-crosser that ain't worth a good bullet? Listen, I'm gonna run that bird out of town."

Blondy was disgusted. She started to get to her feet, but Rico reached across the table and pushed her back into her chair.

"Sit down," he said, "and cut the funny stuff. If you women ain't awful! Use your head, that's what you got it for."

Blondy sulked. Across the room the orchestra started up and couples crowded out into the roped-off dance floor.

Rico got to his feet.

"Listen," he said, "get yourself a cab and beat it. Go home and take some aspirin and hit the hay. If you'd lay off that bad liquor you wouldn't always be beefing."

Blondy looked at Rico for a moment, then she said:

"Aw, sit down, Rico. I'll snap out of it."

"No," said Rico. "I got business to look after and I'm getting sick of this beefing. See, I'm getting sick. Any more of this kind of stuff and I'm gonna get me another woman. Hell, I might as well talk to Flaherty as you."

Blondy got to her feet without speaking. Rico never kidded; he meant what he said. Blondy was not used to men like Rico. She often wondered why it was she couldn't seem to get any hold on him.

Silently they walked around the little, roped-off dance floor. Rico told one of the waiters to get him a cab, then, to pass the time, he started putting nickels in a slot machine. After the third nickel, the bell rang and Rico won 50 cents; on the sixth nickel he won again.

"Ain't that good!" said Rico.

He called the man behind the counter.

"Say," he said, "have you seen anybody fooling with this machine?"

"Yes, sir," he said, "I seen Ottavio doing something to it."

Rico laughed.

"Can you beat that petty crook! He'll be robbing blind men next. Say, tell Sam to get all the machines overhauled. What the hell! He might as well hand out nickels over the counter."

"Boy, you don't miss anything," she said.

"Well," said Rico, serious, "what's the use of letting somebody gyp you?"

The waiter they had sent for the cab came to tell them that it was outside.

Blondy put her hand on Rico's arm.

"Listen, wise boy," she said, "you got the right dope about that Little Arnie business. Run him out, that's O. K., but do it up brown."

"You watch," said Rico.

He put her in the cab.

"Gonna give me a ring tonight, Rico?" she asked.

"Can't say."

"Well, don't let me ketch you with any more dark hairs on your coat."

"Can that!" said Rico.

Blondy slammed the cab door. Rico stood and watched the cab till it disappeared. Blondy was just like any other woman. Now she had got to the grand rush stage.

Always beefing about something. Rico stood looking down the street. It was hot and the city sweltered, but now and then you could feel a breath of lake wind. He looked up at the sky. Stars everywhere.

"It's a swell night," said Rico.

Ann Marie Determines to Go After Neal and Win Him Back

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Ann Marie Macy is the "easy" type of girl who is continually imposed upon. Young and pretty, she dreams of a future as an artist, saving from her earnings by painting cards and working in her father's bookstore, but, as her selfish, flapper sisters, Alice and Jeanie, borrow her dresses for their own ends, so her brother, Howard, borrows her savings. The art course plan is shelved when Ann Marie uses the money in extricating Howard from an entangling alliance with Leota Ingram, the town's bad girl. Even her mother's pendant is pawned to pay Howard's fare to the West when he loses his bank job. Neal Forsythe, dashing Don Juan, visiting the wealthy Lawlers, wins Ann Marie's heart. Mrs. Lawler forbids her son to further accompany the Macy girls, calling them "night-time friends." Alice evens accounts by getting herself engaged to John Lawler. To celebrate, Johnny, Alice, Ann Marie, Neal, Jeanie and Brookie have a party at a roadhouse. Neal proposes to Ann Marie. Ann Marie goes on a Dutch-treat party with Neal, who forgets to return her change. Instead he steals a coffee pot for her from the roadhouse. He returns to New York and Ann Marie begins to save to join him there. Late at night she is aroused by a noise outside her door. It is Howard, her brother, who has returned with a wife. Ann Marie tells her father about her engagement to Neal.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXV.

ANN MARIE'S father had a whole set of good solid old-fashioned ideas about things. "Nutty notions of dad's," Alice called them.

But "nutty" or not, he had them. And every now and then he aired some of them before the family.

He brought one of them out the day after Ann Marie's crying spell, when the family were all at the supper table.

"I know none of you children ever take an order from me," he began in his mild and gentle way, "I know I have not been the head of this family for a good many years—ever since you all grew up, in fact. But, all the same, I suppose I still am your father."

Alice let out a ripple of laughter.

"Yes, yes, go on, Peter!" she said when he gave her a sharp look. "This is going to be GOOD, I can tell!"

He went on.

"Before a young man asks a young lady to marry him," he said, and Ann Marie knew that he was going to say something about herself and Neal, "it seems to me that he ought to speak to her father about it."

Jeanie winked at Alice. "That idea was put in mothballs ages ago," she said lightly. "Why, when Brooky and I made up our minds to get married it never occurred to us to ask anybody's permission — And, believe me, you ought to be glad to know were all engaged without making a fuss about it!— Three of us girls, and not a single L. O. P. H. among us!"

"Left on Papa's Hands,' explained Jeanie. "Old maids, in other words! — There's a lot of fathers in this town would be darned glad to have their daughters practically off their hands the way we three are — Why, Brooky and I may get married any day! Goodness knows, we've talked about it, enough!"

Mr. Macy gave a little cough.

"Of course I've known John Lawler and young Walters all their lives," he said. "They've been coming here to see you girls for years, and they must know I think pretty well of them or I wouldn't have had them in the house . . . But, as for Ann Marie's young man— "

Ann Marie jumped up from the table, her face white and her hands shaking.

"Please don't talk about this, now, Dad!" she begged.

She couldn't bear to have Neal discussed and pulled to pieces by the whole family. . . . She knew that he was all right! She knew that he was worth a dozen Johnny Lawlers and Brooke Walters!

And he had a perfectly good reason for keeping their engagement a secret if he wanted to! . . . He had to borrow money from Mrs. Lawler, and she certainly would stop lending it to him if she thought he was going to get married on it!

She went into the back parlor, and sat there in her father's old easy chair, waiting for him.

From the dining room came the pleasant clatter of silver on china and the murmur of voices as the family ate and talked.

Presently the door of the back parlor opened and Mr. Macy came in, shuffling along in his carpet slippers.

"I hope I haven't done something that you won't like," he said, "when you hear about it. . . . Mrs. Lawler dropped in at the store this morning before you got there, and I spoke to her about your young man and you, Ann Marie. I told her how things were. I thought she ought to know what was going on."

Ann Marie groaned.

"And then," her father added, "I got the young man's address from her and I wrote him a letter."

Ann Marie groaned again.

"Oh, I should never have said a thing to you about him!" she said, shaking her head. "You've written to him, and Mrs. Lawler's probably written to him by this time. And he'll think I'm trying to make him marry me!"

Mr. Macy puffed at his pipe and shook his head firmly. Ann Marie never had known him to be stubborn like this before.

"He'll know he can't treat you like some girl he'd pick up in a dance hall, anyway!" he decalred. "And now if you'll get up from my chair."

Ann Marie got up. She went up the stairs and locked herself into her own room.

And, if she had not had so much work to finish that night, she would probably have cried herself to sleep.

Work is a wonderful painkiller.

* * *

That was on Wednesday night.

On the following Wedesday morning the postman brought a gray envelope to the house.

It was addressed to "Mr. Howard Macy," and it was from "The Amateur Photographer" magazine's business office.

Stella opened it at once. She opened all of Howdy's mail.

"Ann Marie," she said after a minute, and there was wonder in her voice. "Ann Marie—we have won that prize! I can't believe it! — My head's going 'round and 'round— "

Her eyes were big and shining and dazed-looking as she handed the letter and a long pale-yellow check to Ann Marie.

"Don't wake me up! I'm dreaming," she said, crossing her eyes like Ben Turpin's and clapping her hands to her head. She could do all sorts of funny things with her lovely face when she wanted to.

But the letter was real enough, and so was the check. It was for a thousand dollars.

"A thousand beautiful wonderful dollars," Stella gloated over it. "I'm going right straight down to the bank and cash it before it gets away from me. And then I'm going to make Howdy give you half of it, Ann Marie. That's only fair.

But Ann Marie shook her head. "No, indeed!" she said with great firmness. "I'm making money hand over fist these days, and I won't touch a penny of that money, Stella. You really won that prize with your looks — and now you can pay those awful bills that have been worrying you so."

Stella put her head to one side. "The bills are nine hundred," she answered, "and you must take the other hundred, Ann Marie, I'm going to feel like a thief if you don't."

"Then you'll have to feel like a thief," and Ann Marie marched off to her own room.

Stella did not follow her.

After all there are not many people who will keep on trying to give away their money, forever.

* * *

That afternoon at half past five the telephone rang.

Ann Marie heard it from the bathroom where she was washing her hands.

Pulling a towel from the rack, she ran downstairs to answer it, drying her hands as she ran.

"New York calling Miss Ann Marie Macy," the telephone operator's voice came over the wire the instant she took the receiver from its hook. "There you are, New York. Please go ahead."

Then Neal's voice: "Hello, Hello, Ann Marie. This is Neal Forsythe."

"Yes, Neal."

How far away and how like a stranger he sounded!— And yet, even over a telephone, the sound of his voice made her feel happy and unhappy, thrilled and half sick with longing for him.

"Can you hear me?"

"Yes."

"I've been trying to get down there to see you for that last four or five days," he said, "but I couldn't make it—I've been so busy. I had a letter from your father. You knew about it, didn't you?"

"Yes." Ann Marie closed her eyes and pressed her forehead hard against the mouthpiece of the telephone.

"Then today I had a letter from my aunt," his voice went on, coming clearly now, "and she's all het up about our being engaged. Says I'm tying a millstone around my neck if I get married, and so on — You listening, Ann Marie?"

"Yes."

A long pause. Then he spoke again:

"Well, what do you think about it, dear?—Do you think we ought to give each other up?" His voice was as cool as a cucumber.

"Oh, I don't know! What do you think?" Ann Marie wailed. "I can't talk about this to you over a telephone, Neal—I haven't had time to think it all over—You love me, don't you?"

"You know I do." His answer came without a second's wait. "But I didn't know how you felt about me. Your father's letter sure was a funny one . . . You think things over tonight and call me up tomorrow or write me a letter all about everything. Tell me how you really feel about this."

But Ann Marie knew then just how she felt about the whole affair.

She knew that she worshipped the ground that he walked on, and that the only thing that she wanted was just to be near him and to see him every day.

"But what about him?" she asked herself when he had hung up and she was standing beside the telephone, holding it in hands that shook.

Had he changed? . . . Was he glad of this excuse to break off their love affair? Or at least, to try to break it off? . . . Had he met someone else up there in New York where there were tens of thousands of beautiful, beautiful girls?

"And he must meet lots of them," she thought miserably. "And he's all alone, too — "

Ah, that was it! If she were there she could keep other girls and women away from him. She could keep him from being lonely and going out to look for companionship and amusement . . . She could go out with him. She could talk to him. She could hold him — Or at any rate she would have a fighting chance to hold him, if only she were there, on the ground —

"I'm going, too!" she made up her mind in the twinkling of an eye. "If he doesn't want to marry me — if he thinks I'd be a millstone around his neck — why, he doesn't have to marry me! But I'm going to be there where he is, anyway!"

The thought flashed across her mind that she wouldn't have been a very heavy millstone, because she had promised to be a work-a-day wife and pay her half of all the expenses. Or even more than her half!—She would have been glad to put every dollar she earned into the little home she had hoped for.

She knocked on Stella's door and went in. Stella was at the dresser, making herself beautiful for the homecoming of her bridegroom.

"Stella," Ann Marie said to her breathlessly, "I've changed my mind about that hundred! I'll take it. I'm going to New York."

POLICE INDICTED IN GRAFT HELD

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Three of nine police officers, sought on indictments accusing them of operating a graft ring to "shake down" bootleggers, were arrested yesterday, and with three others apprehended Tuesday, were arraigned in Superior Court and released on $10,000 bail each.

The arrest disclosed that federal officers who were known to have the names of 62 policemen in connection with the same charges, had started an investigation of several cancelled checks amounting to $2,250 each, believed to have been given a perfumery manufacturer for shipments of hundreds of gallons of denatured alcohol.

The federal agents withheld all names, but said the alcohol permit of the manufacturer previously had been under scrutiny.

The three officers arrested yesterday were: Detective Lieuts. Robert Evans and M. H. Ledbetter and Patrolman Oscar Peterson. Those arrested earlier were Sergts. Harry M. Hill and Leonard S. Sale and Patrolman Thomas B. Washburn. They were ordered to plead next Monday.

SUNDAY MOVIES TO END

Pittsburgh's first season of free Sunday motion pictures will close Sunday with programs beginning at 8 p. m. in five city parks.

"Warming Up" is billed for Schenley Park, "Mother Machree" for Highland Park, "Circus Rookies" for East Park, North Side, "Submarine" for McKinley Park, South Hills, and "Air Legion" for Arsenal Park, Lawrenceville.

Free motion pictures in the parks were inaugurated July 28 to give residents an opportunity to view clean movies as an additional feature to recreations in the city's playgrounds.

Joseph A. Rook and Henry Broda, of the Fifth Ward, have announced that private philanthropists have arranged to continue free motion picture shows as long as the weather permits.

The first showing will be a program of comic reels next Sunday night on the baseball grounds opposite 2280 Bedford avenue, near Schaffer street.

MISSING BOYS, GIRL SOUGHT

The Missing Persons Bureau today was asked to find four girls and a boy who have disappeared from their homes.

Bernice Camaiani, 17, of 4828 Blair street, failed to return home Monday, when her mother sent her to the postoffice to mail a letter, police were informed.

Freda Micholitz, 17, of 1222 High street, North Side, who came here from Germany a year ago, disappeared September 6, her relatives said.

Detroit police asked local authorities to aid in a search for Katherine Nason, 16, of 6406 Regular avenue, and Jean McCormick, 17, of 940 Calvary avenue, Detroit.

For the third time, Harold Coll, 16, of 209 Shiloh street, Belleview, has disappeared within two years, his parents notified the Missing Persons Bureau. He previously was found in Buffalo, N. Y. and Indianapolis, Ind.

Construction Begins On New Rail Link

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 13.—The Youngstown and Suburban Railway Company, an electric interest, has started construction of a seven-mile extension between Columbiana and Signal, as part of the proposed railroad from Youngstown to the Ohio River. Estimated cost of the branch is $2,000,000. At Signal it will connect with the Pittsburgh, Lisbon and Western Railroad. Interests in the latter control the Youngstown and Suburban.

This will form another link in the proposed railroad to the river, permitting outbound shipments of steel by barge in larger tonnages than is now possible and much heavier shipments of coal from Pennsylvania and West Virginia to the steel plants of the Mahoning Valley.

New Castle Knights Elect New Officers

Warren Man's Body Found in Mill Race

WARREN, Pa., Sept. 13.—The body of Prosper Renfret, a resident of this place for the past 25 years, was found about noon today in the mill race at the foot of Market street, by a passerby.

Renfret, who was born in Canada about 50 years ago, was employed by the Hammond Iron Works here as a construction man. He had just returned Sunday from a contract in Virginia. Renfret leaves one daughter, living in Pittsburgh.

Beaver Falls Man Denies Bomb Charge

BEAVER, Pa., Sept. 13.—Tony Licastro, Beaver Falls, pleaded not guilty when arraigned in connection with the bombing of the home of Mrs. Angelo Perri in Patterson township, August 6. Mrs. W. A. Rhodes, a neighbor of Mrs. Perri, testified she saw Licastro enter the Perri home on the night before the explosion and leave the house the next morning shortly before the blast occurred. Mrs. Perri was in the hospital at the time recovering from an operation.

G. L. Adams, Tannery Millionaire, Dies

by JAMES J. LONG

"CZAR" SEES GENE OUT 11 SECONDS

IT'S UP AGAIN. Was Gene Tunney actually knocked out for 10 seconds when Referee Dave Barry gave him the famous long count in the second battle with Jack Dempsey in Chicago, or could he have regained his feet within the prescribed limit, staying down merely because he found he was being given extra time and decided to take full advantage of it?

Gene Tunney

You'd hardly expect to hear something that happened two years ago being still disputed, but things are not allowed to die down quickly in the fight game when there's a chance for an argument. Some ring followers are still insisting that Dempsey should have been disqualified for fouling when he met Louis Firpo back in 1923, so it isn't strange that an occurrence of four years later should bob up again for discussion.

William Muldoon, New York "boxing czar," has reopened the old debate by expressing the opinion at this late day that Tunney was unconscious for at least 11 seconds. Coming from "the solid man," this statement is supposed to carry considerable weight, for the reason that Tunney has always been one of Muldoon's favorites, the veteran having become interested in Gene on the occasion of his first fight with the late Harry Greb in 1922.

IN EDWARD VAN EVERY'S book, just off the press today, on the life of Muldoon, it is disclosed that, his close friendship and warm admiration for Tunney notwithstanding, the "czar" believes Gene was knocked out by Dempsey, and that the latter actually regained his title in that battle.

"I have examined the pictures of the contest and have given special attention to the much-discussed seventh round," Muldoon says, "and my experience and common sense tell me that Tunney lost his title in that round.

"LET us see what the pictures prove: Tunney was dropped with a succession of blows to the head in the round in question. He was in what was practically a sitting position, with his left glove resting on the middle ring rope.

William Muldoon

"ACOUNT of at least four was given Gene, some claim more, before Dempsey had reached a neutral corner, and then the count started over again. By the time the new count of five had been reached there was but slight change in Tunney's position on the floor. His left leg had straightened out a bit from its terribly strained position, but bear this in mind: at no time within what would have been an actual count of 10 did Tunney try to roll forward on his knee.

"YOU can make as thorough an examination as you wish of cases where fighters have been knocked down, and here is something that you can discover to be a positive fact: the first thing a boxer does who has been knocked down is instinctively to roll or throw himself to his knees. He does this instinctively, so as to be in the most natural position to aid himself in getting to his feet.

"You can depend upon it that if a boxer does not ready himself so he can get one knee beneath him and resting on the canvas, either that man does not want to get up or he is not in a position to do so. There is no quit in Tunney, so you can make up your mind on this much—Tunney was still out at least for 11 seconds."

TO SUSTAIN Muldoon's viewpoint, the author quotes the first man who talked with Tunney in the dressing room after the fight, the report being that Gene said: "I was never so humiliated in my life as when I came to consciousness on the floor and heard the referee count 'five'."

This, it is said, bears out Muldoon's assertion that the champion's first moment of consciousness came at the second count of five, when Gene's left leg started to straighten out.

SO THERE, the whole thing is on again, and after all it is still only a matter of opinion and never can be anything more. Muldoon's views and deductions are interesting, but the result of a study of the pictures cannot be said to be more convincing than the statements of competent boxing judges who actually saw the knockdown from ringside seats. Jim Corbett, for instance, insists that Tunney knew what was going on after the first count of five and merely bided his time with the new count. Billy Hamilton, another former fighter and now a boxing writer in Boston, says he clearly saw Tunney wink at Jimmy Bronson when he got up, adding that a man who had been knocked cold for 11 seconds would hardly have done any winking. Besides, there is the report of another ringsider who says he heard Tunney say to Referee Barry when the new count started, "Come nearer, so that I can hear you."

SOMEBODY'S wires appear to be crossed. First a Philadelphia news dispatch appears in the public prints saying that Joe Tinker, brilliant shortstop of the old champion Cubs and later manager of the team, is in Philadelphia doing some special scouting of the Athletics for the benefit of the Bruins in the approaching world series.

Joe Tinker

Joe McCarthy, the Chicago manager, comes to bat with an interview in which he declares the Windy City club has no intention of spying upon its prospective opponents in the post-season stakes. The question naturally arises, "Who's paying Tinker's expenses for the Philadelphia trip?" You can make your own choice between the two stories.

"I DON'T want to know anything about the Athletics or their signals," McCarthy is quoted. "My pitchers, batters and fielders will take care of our end of the bargain. We are to meet a team that is built along the lines of our own. I know what Connie Mack is saying. Something like this:

"'Now, boys, go out there and stop those heavy hitters from the National League and we'll win.' Those words express my own views of the series. If my pitchers stop Simmons and Foxx, the National League will again fly the world championship banner.

"READING between the lines all season, I have not detected a single weakness in Mack's club," McCarthy added. "It has choppy hitters and long-distance sluggers. It has pitchers, a catching star, and is a well-balanced organization. It wouldn't surprise me to see the series decided on slugging. We've been through many bitter battles of that kind this season, and have won more than our share. Naturally, we hope to tame the Macks."

AFTER losing three games in a row to the Giants, it behooved the Pirates to get busy today in defense of second place. Games lost to the Giants count for double, and the third defeat yesterday left the Bucs only three and a half games to the good. However, the situation is not as dangerous as it appears, provided the Pirates maintain even a fair gate from now until the finish.

The standing today showed that if the Rovers won the final number of the Giant series this afternoon and broke even the remainder of the way, the McGrawites would have to win 15 out of 19 to finish ahead of them; or that, if the locals suffered a fourth defeat and split

MRS. CAMPBELL MEETS EMILY ROSEBURGH

By VERN SWARTSFAGER

Friday, the Thirteenth, is going to be an unlucky day for one little lady, and a very lucky one for the other, for the championship of Western Pennsylvania in women's golf is at stake at the Oakmont Country Club today.

STARS PUT OUT

Two players who had hardly been expected to reach the final in the annual titular tournament survived a strong field, and the big match of the season will find Miss Emily Roseburgh, of Oakmont, playing over her own home club's beautiful, though difficult links, against Mrs. Frank Campbell, of the Stanton Heights Golf Club.

Mrs. F. Campbell

There is no particular favorite, unless it be Miss Roseburgh on the grounds she is playing over familiar territory. Both are excellent golfers and an excellent match should ensue.

A pair of upsets were registered in yesterday's penultimate round when Mrs. J. Bernd Rose, of Allegheny, champion in 1927, fell before Miss Roseburgh, 1 up, on the nineteenth hole, and again when Mrs. J. A. Ellen, veteran of the Pittsburgh Field Club, was beaten by Mrs. Campbell, 5 and 4.

MIXED FOURSOME

The final in the second flight will see Mrs. C. I. Wendt, of the Pittsburgh Field Club, and Mrs. L. K. Friedman, of Westmoreland, both usually in the first divisitn, battling for the honor.

Following the final matches in all seven flights today, a mixed foursome event is slated for this afternoon.

First flight—Emilie Roseburgh defeated Mrs. J. Bernd Rose, 1 up 19 holes.

Mrs. Frank Campbell defeated Mrs. J. E. Ellen, 5 and 4.

Pairings—10:30—Miss Roseburgh vs. Mrs. Campbell.

Mrs. L. K. Friedman defeated Mrs. Gail Hamilton, 5 and 3.

Pairings—10:12—Mrs. Wendt vs. Mrs. Friedman.

Third flight—Mrs. G. T. Price, Jr., defeated Miss Mary McCune, 3 and 1.

Mrs. J. S. Murray defeated Mrs. J. H. Horner, 2 up.

Pairings—10:00—Mrs. Price vs. Mrs. Murray.

Fourth flight—Mrs. William Christie, Jr., defeated Mrs. L. W. Gillette, 4 and 3.

Pairings—10:42—Mrs. Christie vs. Miss Kuhn.

Fifth flight—Mrs. J. O. Murphy defeated Mrs. T. D. St. Clair, 2 up.

Mrs. R. K. MacConnell defeated Mrs. F. B. Lockhart, 6 and 5.

Pairings—10:42—Mrs. Murphy vs. Mrs. MacConnell.

Pairings—10:54—Mrs. Magoon vs. Mrs. Jamison.

Seventh flight—Mrs. Zinsmeister defeated Mrs. W. C. Dierks, 1 up, 19 holes. Miss Anna Campbell defeated Mrs. Morris Slocum, 5 and 4.

Pairings—12:06—Mrs. Zinsmeister vs. Miss Campbell.

First consolation—Mrs. J. Raymond Price defeated Mrs. Gordon Fisher, 5 and 3. Anjeannette Hunter defeated Mrs. W. H. Duff, 5 and 3.

Pairings—Mrs. Price vs. Miss Hunter.

Pairings—Mrs. Brandon vs. Mrs. Roessing.

Third consolation—Frances Goff defeated Mrs. G. A. Bedell, 5 and 4. Mrs. Porter Kier defeated Mrs. R. E. King, 1 up, 20 holes.

Pairings—Miss Goff vs. Mrs. Kier.

Pairings—Mrs. Kountz vs. Mrs. Hays.

Pairings—Mrs. Roth vs. Mrs. Jenkins.

Sixth consolation—Mrs. Harry Wilson defeated Mrs. H. A. Gidney, 4 and 2. Mrs. T. M. Allen defeated Mrs. Floyd Kesselman, 1 up, 19 holes.

Pairings—Mrs. Wilson vs. Mrs. Allen.

Seventh consolation—Mrs. K. P. Frazier defeated Mrs. Lee Bingell, 3 and 2. Mrs. J. S. Hooper defeated Edith Speer, 6 and 4.

Pairings—Mrs. Frazier vs. Mrs. Hooper.

TOMORROW—TWO POISONS THAT ARE EATEN EVERY DAY.

WILLIE DAVIES FEARED BY 'CHAMPIONS'

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

Some idea of the rating of Willie Davies among the world's leading flyweights may be gained from the fact that Corp. Izzy Schwartz, recognized by the New York Athletic Commission as the real champion of the division, like Frankie Genaro, the National Boxing Association champion, refuses to meet the Charleroi star in a bout at the championship limit.

Izzy Schwartz

Genaro recently boxed Davies at the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock, but consented to the match only on condition that Davies come in overweight, thus making him ineligible to win the title, such as it is. Davies complied to get the Italian into the ring with him and then dealt out a pasting.

Now comes Schwartz to meet Davies in the same ring next Monday night, and he is forcing Davies to make not less than 113 pounds and not more than 115. The class limit is 112 pounds. Davies, if he had to, could come in under 110 pounds.

FIFTH MEETING

Davies is no stranger to Izzy. They have met four times and Davies holds three victories to one for Izzy. The first two bouts were staged in McKeesport in 1925 and Davies won both. Then they clashed in the flyweight elimination tournament in California in 1927 and Davies again won, but subsequently was eliminated from this tournament by dropping a decision to Johnny McCoy, of Buffalo. Returning East, both Davies and Schwartz were entered in a tournament staged in New York by the commission of that state to determine a successor as champion to Pancho Villa, who had died. Just when a victory would have meant a lot to him, Davies, in poor form, lost to Schwartz, after having thrice beaten him, and Izzy went on to win the tournament and recognition as the champion. Davies will get his chance to prove that he still is Izzy's master when they meet next Monday night, but Schwartz's synthetic crown will not be at stake because of the weight conditions stipulated above.

Davies at his best shapes up as the real champion of the flyweights. He may never be officially recog-

M'KECHNIE IS HONORED

The baseball fraternity, especially those representing the Pittsburgh Pirates, turned out en masse last night in the Wilkinsburg High School auditorium to spur on Wilkinsburg voters in the interest of Bill McKechnie, present manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, and native of Wilkinsburg, who is running for tax collector.

Jewel Ens, Pirate manager, the Waner boys, Paul and Lloyd, and Pie Traynor lent their aid in the cause of Wilkinsburg Bill, whom they lauded to the skies.

Branch Rickey, vice president of the St. Louis Cardinals, and former manager of that outfit, gave an inspiring talk and declared that baseball will lose one of its most valuable personalities in Bill McKechnie if Bill is elevated to the tax collectorship of Wilkinsburg. Rickey further stated he heartily endorsed McKechnie's candidacy, not because he realized he was losing a valuable manager, but due to the fact Bill's ambition is to return to his family and friends in Wilkinsburg the year round.

Homer Rodeheaver entertained the 2,500 people who filled the auditorium to overflowing with anecdotes and songs. A. K. (Rosy) Rosewell, local entertainer, was another booster.

CARPENTIER WINS.

DOVER, O., Sept. 13.—U. S. Carpentier, of Pittsburgh, defeated Homer Ronan, of Newark, O., in their 10-round setto here last night. In the semi-final, Young Barry, of Kittanning, got the decision over Nordi Smith, of Newark, O., in six rounds.

M'GRAW FAILS TO SEE BUCS TOPPLED

John J. McGraw has been denied the pleasre of seeing his favorites topple the Pirates. MsGraw is in New York on business, his managerial role being capably filled, apparently, by Ray Schalk, former star catcher of the White Sox. John J. would have been thrilled by the long-distance hitting of young Melvin Ott, the prototype of the late and lamented Ross Young. Ott, however, hits the ball farther than the Texan; he has many of Young's hustle traits.

CARD LEADERS HERE

Among those present at yesterday's game were Bill McKechnie and Branch Rickey, manager and vice-president, respectively, of the St. Louis Cardinals. Bill and his colleague attended a meeting last night in Wilkinsburg which honored the Redbird chieftain.

The Giants appear to be a superior club to the Pirates. This is especially true when Travis Jackson is in his best form. Glenn Wright was his nearest rival in the majors a couple of years back, but even Wright could not make some of the stops that throws put over by the lighter but fleeter performer. Jackson is rangy, but not heavy, his playing weight being less than 160. He gets around like one of Rockne's Four Horsemen, and like those grid stars, Travis seems always to be in the right spot.

CRONIN LANDED

And speaking of good shortstops, Chick Fraser, Pirate scout, tells of a compliment paid Joe Cronin by Clark Griffith, president of the Washington club. Cronin's play this season has been a source of keen delight to Griffith who predicts that Joe will be even better next season. Cronin is well liked by the fans of the Capital City.

Bond Club Golfers Play in Cleveland

The Pittsburgh Bond Club golf team, with a party of 50 members, are in Cleveland today for their annual intercity match with the Forest City and Detroit teams.

The local team will be selected from J. Scott Burke, Dave Herron, state amateur champion; Henry Clay Ward, S. A. Gilliland, Norman R. Ward, W. E. Ballard, Harvey Childs III, W. P. Burows, J. Howard Johnson, Paul E. Tuerner and Robert H. McCague, captain.

Al Simmons Raises Big Six Average

Associated Press.

The Big Six batting averages took the downward path yesterday, except in the case of Al Simmons. Hits were few and far between, with Simmons the only player who was able to get a pair. These two in four times at bat raised his mark one point to .367, only two points behind his teammate and rival, Jimmy Foxx. Ruth and Hornsby went hitless for the day while O'Doul, Herman and Foxx got but one blow apiece. The Babe and the Rajah lost three points apiece in the averages. The standing:

	G.	Ab.	R.	H.	Pct.
O'Doul, Phillies	136	558	130	221	.396
Herman, Robins	132	516	96	199	.386

STEEPLECHASE TOMORROW

Four of the district's outstanding horses are entered in the steeplechase, known as the Pittsburgh Hunt Cup Race, which will close the Pittsburgh Hunt horse show tomorrow in the ring at the clubhouse, off the Kittanning Pike, near Sharpsburg. Merry Widow, owned by Mrs. James Christy Hamilton, will be ridden by Mr. Hamilton. John Jackson Bissell will ride his own entry, Champlain, and Dr. Ralph Lynch will ride Dark Michael, his entry. The fourth horse entered is Norah, owned by John Ormsby Burgwin. The riders will ride in racing silks or hunting attire over a two-mile course of natural hunting country, with post and rail and brush jumps, to the ring, where George Paull, M. F. H., will award the Pittsburgh Hunt cup, of which he is the donor.

A total of 90 entries are recorded for the show, in which 55 horses will perform. The only out-of-town entries are a string of five, owned by Clarence H. Osborne, of Cleveland, and including News Girl, Silver Leaf, Blue Granite, Silver Threads and Chestnut Ridge.

BULLETIN.

Rain and wet grounds prevented the final battle of the Pirate-Giant series scheduled at Forbes Field this afternoon.

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

If the Pirates lose their second-place honors and money, they can point with or without pride to a slender young man from Arkansas, who has nothing in common with the famous slow train of that commonwealth. Travis Jackson, the best shortstop in baseball, has seen to it that the Giants so far have made a clean sweep of the series. The Polo Grounders made it three in a row yesterday with the final meeting of the two teams set for this afternoon.

SPORTS HITS

Jackson spoiled so many hits while the Giants were winning the Wednesday's doubleheader, the Pirates quit counting, and Travis resumed yesterday where he let up on the previous afternoon. His brilliance in the infield turned all three of the games and when he goes to the plate the lefthelder generally hooks up with the scoreboard to be on the safe side. But there has been enough dynamite in other New York bats in this series to produce enough runs to win, what with Jackson spoiling Pirate tallies without number.

Rogers Hornsby probably is the most valuable player of the season, but with his greatness, the Rajah is no headliner as a shortfielder while Jackson is playing the roving position with all the skill of a Wagner.

As they prepared for their last meeting with the Giants, the Pirates realized their generous lead in the race for second honors had been cut to three and one-half games. Moreover, the setback of yesterday gave the New Yorkers 13 successes in the 21 games staged this summer. The score of the third game was 8 to 5.

Manager Ens will send Ervin Brame to Fogarty Knoll in the finale this afternoon. The Kentuckian stepped into the breach with a pinch-single yesterday, but the Giants were so far in front it didn't do much good. The Buccos expect to look at the funny slants of Lefthander Carl Hubbell.

FLAGSTEAD STARS

Meantime, Ira Flagstead, veteran outfielder is playing like a star. Ira is hitting timely, running swiftly, catching all that comes his way.

Melvin Ott gave the Giant success of yesterday a real high spot as he banged out his thirty-eighth homer of the season. The little slugger also uncorked one on the previous afternoon.

Fred Leach, who came to the Giants in the Frank O'Doul swap, was a home-run swatter of the third game. The leftfielder slammed a rocket into the stands in the first round with Fullis on base, the two runs giving the Giants a lead which they would not relinquish. Leach also rang up a three-bagger and a single.

Remy Kremer, on the mound for seven frames, was the principal victim of the Giant's onslaught. The Pirates hit Fred Fitzsimmons hard, but with Jackson performing in his best stride, the home boys had little chance to cop. Larry French finished for the Pirates.

Hurst High to Lift Grid Lid Tomorrow

GREENSBURG, Pa., Sept. 13.—Hurst High School, of Mt. Pleasant township, figured as a contender in the W. P. I. A. L. this year, opens its football season tomorrow when it meets Trafford High School on Hurst field.

With few lettermen back from last year, Coach Avra Pershing has been forced to develop a new backfield and plug the vacancies in the line with new material. Hurst will have a heavy team this season and has a hard schedule.

TILDEN, HUNTER IN SEMI-FINALS

MERCUR, DOEG ALSO MAKE GRADE

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 13.—(AP.)—For a few tense moments yesterday afternoon, Big Bill Tilden, gray of face, dripping with perspiration, and obviously worried, stood face to face with defeat in the quarter-final round of the National singles championship tournament, on the winning of which he had set his heart.

Worn from chasing the well-placed shots of young Johnny Van Ryn, of East Orange, N. J., Tilden found himself trailing at two games to five in the third set after having won the first set at 7-5 and lost the second at 2-6 as the former Princeton tennis captain drove home his earnest challenge.

Then, with the fighting heart of the great champion he always has been, Big Bill rose to the occasion, brought his wavering arm under rigid control, took the set at 9-7 then went on to outplay and finally master his youthful adversary by score of 7-5, 2-6, 9-7, 6-2.

Another formidable young American challenger must be met and beaten today if Tilden is to enter the final round of play for the title. Johnny Doeg, young giant from Stanford University, crushed Henry Wilfred (Bunny) Austin, of England by 6-4, 6-4, 6-3 in another of the quarter-finals. In the lower half Fritz Mercur, the polished tennis product of Lehigh University, came through at 8-6, 10-8, 6-4 against Wilmer Allison, the hard-fighting Texan. Tilden's friend, Francis T. Hunter, of New Rochelle, N. Y., downed Richard N. Williams II, of Philadelphia, the old former champion, in a third straight-set engagement, 6-0, 6-3, 6-4.

In the veterans singles, H. H. Bassford, defending champion, reached the semi-finals by defeating Irving Wright, 6-4, 6-3.

C. M. Charest, Washington, defeated S. J. Adams, Jr., Port Washington, N. Y., 6-3, 6-1, in the quarter-final round, and J. B. Adou, Jr., Dallas, Tex., defeated P. Martin, Scarsdale, 11-9, 4-6, 10-8.

Jim Maloney Meets Emanuel on Sept. 26

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—The Madison Square Garden Corporation last night announced the supporting card for the Tommy Loughran-Jack Sharkey 15-round heavyweight bout, at the Yankee Stadium, on September 26.

Jim Maloney, of Boston, will meet Armand Emanuel, of the Pacific Coast, in the semi-final of 10 rounds. another bout of the same distance will bring together Tom Heeney, Gene Tunney's victim of last summer, and George Hoffman, the former amateur.

NOTICE S. GREENSBURG

GOLF AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

What sort of stance should be used for the full iron shots?

Answered by

BOBBY CRUICKSHANK

Winner of Los Angeles, San Antonio, Hot Springs, North-and-South Open Championships, 1927. Maryland Open, 1928.

King Captures Flint Lock Shoot

CAMP PERRY, O., Sept. 13.—(AP.)—An ancient flint lock rifle, made 169 years ago, yesterday again proved its accuracy in the hands of 125 riflemen firing in the Davey Crockett match here.

Lieut. C. B. King, U. S. Infantry, Washington, placed the nearest shot to center bullseye with the ancient weapon and won the event. Lieut. Charles A. Pyle, U. S. Coast Artillery, Amos, Ia., was second, and George K. Morse, of the American Legion team, third.

CANTON BEATS QUINCY, 5-1

CANTON, O., Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Canton finally hit its stride yesterday in the series between the Central League and the Three-Eye League champions for the Class B title of the Midwest, and defeated the Quincy Indians, 5 to 1.

After Quincy scored in the third, Johnny Pomoski, young right-hander, allowed them only three hits for the rest of the game. The two clubs will spend today in traveling to Quincy, where they will resume the series until one or the other has won four games.

MRS. STETSON IS VICTOR

SHAWNEE-ON-DELAWARE, Pa., Sept. 13.—(AP.)—For the third successive year, Mrs. Helen B. Stetson, former woman's national champion, yesterday won the invitation tournament of the Shawnee Country Club for the Lenape trophy. She defeated Miss Helen Meehan, Philadelphia, 2 and 1, in the final round.

"In my profession, the choice of clothing is more than a question of style . . . I must always keep in mind my comfort. If I should happen, through ill-luck, to buy a suit of inferior material, my artists immediately suffer from nostalgia and inhabit the fabric. Why, Dainty Lilly Pretzel was missing from the main tent for more than four days because in Saint Paul I bought a suit of cheaper woolens. That is why I am pleased to endorse Plus Sixes as the clothing for the impresario . . . I wear them in absolute comfort."

BRUINS AND MACKS MOVE NEARER PENNANTS

YANKS BREAK SPELL OF BROWNS

Associated Press.

The Athletics moved one game nearer pennant yesterday by winning, but the Cubs advanced just as rapidly through a defeat as the Giants were smearing the Pirates by 8 to 5. Each of the leaders now needs three victories, with the armistice in prospect perhaps by Sunday night.

The success of the arms of McGraw against the Dreyfuss Dragoons for a third time in two afternoons gave Jewell Ens further cause to wonder whether his forces can hold second place. The Pirates' margin now is three and one-half games.

PHILS HIT FREELY

Another Giant victory, however, would shave the margin down past the danger point, and would leave the Pirates in an uneasy frame of mind where anything might result.

After failing to defeat the veteran Art Nehf in the opening game of the series, the Phillies went on a hitting spree in Chicago yesterday and gave Guy Bush his fifth trouncing of the season. Claude Willoughby held the Bruins to seven blows and was scored upon only because of Wilson's homer. Donald Hurst matched Klein's drive for the Phils.

A freak blow by Horace Ford for four bases with one Red on the paths enabled the veteran Eppa Rixey to shade Dazzy Vance and the Robins at Cincinnati, by 3 to 2, in the second game of the series.

ROMMEL WINS

After the White Sox had chased Rube Walberg from the mound with a two-run flurry which tied the score at 3 to 3 in the sixth, the Athletics pushed home one in the eighth to win by 4 to 3. Eddie Rommel got credit for the victory.

The Yankees finally broke the spell woven about them by the Browns, winning by 5 to 2, after five straight losses in their previous five engagements against the St. Louisians, but the runs came hard og Sammy Gray. Roy Sherid was wild, but smart in the pinches. He had the help of a home run by Tony Lazzeri.

Walter Miller held the Senators helpless, and Cleveland won the second game of the series by 5 to 1. Arthur Herring, who shows some signs of being a pitcher, tossed the Tigers to a 2 to 1 victory over the Red Sox in Boston. Ed Morris was the victim.

nized as such, but if he adds Schwartz to his list of victims this time he can proudly say that he at least can lick the two fellows who claim the title, which is something.

BRITTON AT BUTLER

Ol' Jack Britton, former welterweight champion of the world, who is grabbing a bout here and a bout there to sort of keep going, will exhibit his wares at Butler next Tuesday night against T. N. T. Gibbons, of Cleveland, in the 10-round main bout at Armco Field. Roy Taggert meets George Chambers and Luther McCarthy boxes Tim Zellerino in six-round preliminaries.

Mickey Solmen, of New Castle, and Joe Colombo, of Clarksburg, W. Va., will box the main bout of a show at Johnstown next Monday night. Phil Magistro meets Duke Smith and Louie Colombo engages Mike Duris in preliminaries.

A battle royal among Negro fighters will top off the semi-monthly open-air amateur boxing show of the Twenty-seventh Ward A. C., on its North Side grounds next Wednesday night, according to Machmaker Eddie McEntee. Six other bouts are scheduled.

MICHEL MEETS KOSKY

Willie Michel, the Belgian featherweight, meets Sailor Fay Kosky, of Chicago, in the main bout at the Jolly Bowl, New Castle, Monday night. Kosky recently made his debut in the bowl against Jackie Dugan. Leo Mozdy, of Erie, will box Johnny Martin, of Columbus, in the semi-final and Romeo Pacelli, of New Castle, opposes Tommy Liberto, of Cleveland, in the other six-rounder. In the two four-round bouts, Joe Folens, of Beaver Falls, boxes Young Sapienza, of Evans City, and Young Murphy meets Young Ciby, a New Castle rival.

Howard Mayberry, of Donora, has been matched to box Bobby Dempsey, of Ambridge, in the main event of a double windup card at McKeesport next Thursday night. Dempsey recently was awarded a decision over Dan Billick at North Braddock.

Maxie Rosenbloom, victor over K. O. Brown at the Meyers Bowl last Tuesday night, boxes Leo (One Punch) Williams in a return bout at Canarsie, L. I., tonight.

The program will consist of 100 targets, to which Miss A. S. Harrold has contributed a number of attractive trophies.

Scottish Sloop Cops From U. S. Again

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Sailing by far the best race of the five-race contest for the Seawanhaka International cup, the Scottish sloop, Caryl, yesterday won the fourth duel of the series and tied the series at two victories each.

Pulling out to a lead on the first weather leg and steadily increasing it to the finish, the Caryl, sailed by her owner, Frank Robertson, led the American defender, the Gypsy, by 44 seconds at the finish line. The deciding race will be sailed today.

GREGG'S GOLF LEAD STANDS

RYE, N. Y., Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Samuel O. Miller, of Englewood, N. J., and George S. Willett, of Brookline, Mass., led the second half of the field in the National Seniors' Golf championship yesterday, each scoring 81 for the first 18 holes of the 36-hole test.

Miller and Willett will need 75's in the last 18 holes today to tie Dr. George T. Gregg, of Oakmont, Pittsburgh, who led the first division with a 36-hole total of 156.

Smilers to Play All-Stars Tonight

Pleasant Valley baseball fans will welcome their champions home this evening when the Smilers hook up with the Ottie Cochran All-Star team selected from the ranks of City League clubs.

The All Star outfit selected by the former manager of the Reliance Life nine is expected to extend the new champion. Lou Jacoby, who was the star of the series with the Civics, will probably twirl the game. It was Jacob's wonderful pitching and hitting that brought home the bacon for the Dunsky outfit, and he will probably get a good reception. The game will be called at 6:15 o'clock and the largest crowd of the season is expected to be on hand.

A. M. A. to Elect Officers Monday

The annual election of officers and general meeting of the Allegheny Mountain Association of the Amateur Athletic Union will be held at the Pittsburgh Athletic Association Monday night. Among the many items that will be adjusted at the meeting will be the acceptance of new records made throughout the season.

Indoor and outdoor championships will be awarded to the clubs of this section.

Delegates to the National Convention at St. Louis next November will be elected, and new committees will be appointed for the year. The meeting will be preceded by the annual banquet of the association which will be held at the P. A. A. at 6 p. m. It is expected that over 50 delegates will attend the meeting.

Local-Owned Horse Wins at Weston

WESTON, W. Va., Sept. 13.—Raymond Drew drove Laura Watts, Pittsburgh horse, home to victory in three straight heats in the 2:24 trot at the Weston races yesterday afternoon. Only in the first heat did Drew experience any trouble when Peter Britton pushed the horse for a close wire finish. Snappy Hal, driven by Craig, stepped the half-mile track in 2:09¾ when she took the 2:14 pace. With the books reading 3:20 on Snappy Hal, Todd Burns surprised the stands by copping the final heat of the race.

Kirkwood to Play At Punxsutawney

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., Sept. 13.—Joe Kirkwood, golf trick shot artist, has been secured as an attraction at the Punxsutawney Country Club for the latter part of the present month.

Petrolle, Beaten, To Retire From Ring

DETROIT, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—King Tut, of Milwaukee, won the referee's decision over Billy Petrolle of Fargo, N. D., after 10 bruising rounds, in the Detroit American League Baseball Park last night. Tut won seven of the 10 rounds by his headlong rushes.

Jack Hurley, manager for Petrolle, said after the fight that the Fargo boxer would not fight again. "I always said, and Billy agreed with me," he said, "that when the time came when he would be punched up like that he would quit for good."

Cleveland Gets Kitchener Ice Franchise

WINDSOR, Ontario, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—The franchise of Kitchener, Ontario, in the Canadian Professional Hockey League, is to be taken to Cleveland. This was decided at a meeting of club owners, who gathered here yesterday and also voted to change the name of the league to the International Hockey League.

Charles S. King, of Windsor, was re-elected president and secretary-treasurer for the fourth consecutive term.

Happy Holmes will be owner-manager of the Cleveland club. Under the arrangement approved by the league owners the Kitchener team will be transferred to Toronto and the Toronto players will be moved to Cleveland.

A schedule meeting will be held at Niagara Falls or Hamilton, Ontario, on October 11.

PLAY NO. 11

Wisconsin kicks off over Illinois' goal line into the end zone and Walker, in an effort to pick up the ball, fumbles it and causes it to go out of bounds behind the goal line. The Wisconsin captain claims two points for a safety

What is the correct ruling?

ANSWER

The referee rules that no safety has been made and that it is a touchback. The ball is brought out to the 20-yard line for scrimmage and put into play by Illinois.

GENEVA SQUAD REDUCED

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Sept. 13.—The unexpected departure of eight disgruntled gridders who "walked out" on Geneva this week and "cuts" by the coaches have left the Covenanters with a somewhat depleted squad, but the football material remaining in camp makes up in quality what it lacks in quantity, and indications are that the '29 team will be one of the best ever to represent the Gold and White.

In the line there is beef and experience combined with speed. In the backfield there is all kinds of good boys who have the punch, drive and speed.

The squad at present includes:

Tackles — Ventura, Pittsburgh; Goldberg, Lyndhurst, N. J.; Helfer, Monongahela City; Johnson, Geneva, O.; McKee, Willard, O., and Pawlowski, Harmony.

Centers — Ransom, Burgettstown, and Rodemyer, Pittsburgh.

Backs — Preece, Monaca; Timerario, New Brighton; Weigle, Kittanning; Cooper, Warrendale; Evans, Zelienople; Ewing, Chester; Godd, Cleveland; Kimble, Chester; Kelleher, Pittsburgh; Knapik, Youngstown, and Zirat, Beaver Falls.

Cold Cash Sets New World Mark

MALONE, N. Y., Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Cold Cash, a bay gelding, 2-year-old pacer from the Blue Ridge stables of Kansas City, Mo., was credited by race officials here yesterday with breaking the world record for the 2:13 pace on a half mile track, twice in the same event. Breitenfield was the driver.

John A. King, of Lakewood, the starter, announced to Franklin County Fair attendants that the gelding did the first heat of the pace in 2:05½, and the second heat in 2:05¼, pacing the last half of the second in 1:01¼.

even in their remaining 16 games, the Giants would be required to s cwin 13 of their 19 contests to beat them out.

BILL McKECHNIE, manager of the Cardinals, and Branch Rickey, vice president of that club, were spectators at Forbes Field yesterday. McKechnie came home to take personal charge of the remainder of his campaign for the office of tax collector in Wilkinsburg, leaving the Redbirds in the hands of Gabby Street and Frankie Frisch. Rickey left at midnight for Toronto.

McKechnie took occasion to deny very emphatically that even if elected tax collector he would manage the Cardinals again next year. "If I am so fortunate as to be elected," said Bill, "it will mean my retirement from baseball. I wil give up the managership of the Cardinals and devote all of my time to the office of tax collector."

UPSETS MARK GREYHOUND RACING

Spectacular races marked the greyhound events of the Keystone Kennel Club at the Bridgeville Speedway last night. Rain, which rendered the track heavy, caused the defeat of favorites.

Two outstanding upsets of the meeting occurred when Flying Tatter took the sixth race and Model Spark captured the futurity hurdles. Desert Rat, Son of a Gun, Lucky McGrew and Golden Hare were some of the stars Flying Tatters distanced, while numbered among those Model Spark outraced were Hilarity Bud and London Robbie.

The officials of the club announced a special matinee will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, marking a "special" on the last day of the meeting. A good card has been set up for tonight, when ladies again will be admitted free.

Last night's results and tonight's entries follow:

RESULTS

JONES INJURED AT MERCER

MERCER, Pa., Sept. 13.—Wade A. Jones of Sharon is in the Mercer Hospital nursing a broken right arm and bruises, the result of the snappy teaming here yesterday in the 2:24 trot, one of three races on drivn byurmtaoshrdlush7890$.. the card of the second day at the Mercer fair. The horse, Dr. Shenault, driven by B. B. Lytle of Sandy Lake, stumbled on the back stretch in the second heat.

The animal fell taking its driver with him. Jones, driving Margaret Norval, was too close to avert an accident and both horse and driver piled on. The Norval mare ran off and was not headed until she had rounded the course three times. Lytle and his horse escaped with minor injuries and started in the next heat. The Norval mare is cut about the hind legs.

Tuffy Griffith Stops Haymann in Fourth

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Tuffy Griffith, two-fisted slugger from Sioux City, Ia., did his bit toward checking the current foreign menace in American heavyweight circles last night by stopping Dr. Ludwig Haymann, of Germany, in the fourth round of their scheduled 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden. The end came after two minutes and 35 seconds of fighting in the fourth round.

Haymann, who holds the heavyweight title of Germany, never had a chance with the hard hitting Griffiths. Tuffy floored his man for a nine count in the first minute of the fourth round. Haymann got up and went right back down. Up he came again to take another crushing right flush on the chin and the referee called a halt.

Griffiths gave away 15 pounds to his foreign opponent. He weighed 184 to Haymann's 199.

Paul Cavalier, of Paterson, turned back Charley Smith, of London, in the first 10-round affray and Harold Mays, another bold Jersey militia-man, defeated Ted Sandwina, of Germany, giving America a clean sweep in the international contests.

Reds, Robins Buy Minor League Stars

CINCINNATI, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Three graduates from American Association baseball to the major circuits were in effect today after announcement of purchases by the Cincinnati Reds and the Brooklyn Dodgers which also included one other minor league player.

President C. J. McDiarmid, of the Reds, paid cash, with a promise of other players later in case the deal is profitable, for Pete Jablonowski, pitcher, of the Columbus Association team. McDiarmid also announced purchase of Archie Campbell, pitcher, from the St. Paul club. Manager Wilbert Robison, of the Brooklyn Nationals, bought Jackie Warner, former Detroit shortstop, from the Toledo Mudhens and Clarence Blethen, pitcher, from the Atlanta Club.

GIANTS GET PARMALEE

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—The New York Giants today announced the acquisition of the contract of Leroy Parmalee, right-handed pitcher, from the Toledo Club of the American Association. The consideration was an unannounced sum of maney and unidentified players.

Helen Hicks Easily Captures The Derby

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—New York's 18-year-old golfing prodigy, Miss Helen Hicks, ended her first important invasion of the Middlewest gloriously yesterday, winning the Derby, a new 72 hole medal play classic for women, by a decisive mergin of 14, strokes. She shot exactly par for her four rounds on the tricky Flossmoor Country Club to gain her one-sided triumph adding an 81 to her previous orders of 78-78—83 for a handsome 320 total.

DEFENDS TITLE

TOLEDO, Sept. 13.—Gus Kalio, of Chicago, defended his world middleweight mat championship here last night by defeating Joe Kopecki, of Kansas City, in two falls out of three.

GANS EASILY BEATS RAY NEWTON

In only one round out of the 10 did Newton display any real fighting form and that was in the sixth when he opened up with a couple of hard rights that shook Gans to his heels, but after that the Negro lightweight had things practically his own way. In the ninth round, Gans floored Newton with a hard right under the ear and the Mansfield blond took the count of nine, but he weathered the storm and finished the tenth in a fast manner.

TAKES EARLY LEAD

Gans took an early lead by forcing the issue from the opening bell. His left found its mark on Newton's face and body so often that Ray soon had plenty on his hands to stay strictly on the defensive.

With the exception of Gans' hard punching in the ninth, which brought the only knockdown of the bout, there was little real action to cause the fans any degree of excitement. Gans weighed in at 134¼ pounds, while Newton scaled 135.

The semi-final bout brought together two awkward light-heavyweights. Pedlar Palmer, Negro fighter of Pittsburgh, and Chuck Doris, supposedly Michigan's champion at his weight. The bout went five rounds before Referee Al Grayber decided that the fans had seen enough clowning and awarded the decision to Palmer via the technical knockout route, explaining that he was disqualifying Doris for his alleged stalling.

CORSIE VICTOR

PITT TO TRY NEW PLAYS TODAY

CAMP HAMILTON, Windber, Pa., Sept. 13.—A strenuous scrimmage is on the books for the Pitt Panthers today. No plays will be tried out, and there is reason to believe that this tussle will give a good line on the makeup of Coach Sutherland's regular eleven.

The Pitt squad was excused from scrimmage yesterday. Both morning and afternoon workouts consisted of setting up exercises and signal practice. Taking the place of the expected skirmish between a 'varsity combination and the freshmen was a game of speed-ball. The big features of this encounter were several phenomenally long passes from the mighty arm of Franklin Hood, the Panther siege gun.

DUKES TAKE IT EASY

For the next few days at least, Duquesne University's squad of 60 gridders are going to take it easy. No hard work is planned for the remainder of the week, although a scrimmage was expected to be held on today or tomorrow. Head Coach Elmer Layden may see fit to do just that, however, depending entirely upon circumstances.

The entire squad was to be found at Forbes Field yesterday afternoon having forgotten football in favor of baseball for a while. The holiday did the gridders a world of good for they exhibited pep to spare last night and this morning. It was particularly valuable since there are a number of minor injuries to be found in the camp up on the Bluff.

TECH TO CONTINUE

Carnegie Tech will continue its twice-a-day practice sessions next week, Advisory Coach Wally Steffen announced today. The announcement came after the Tartan advisory coach had planned to cut the workouts to one a day.

Feeling that the Tartans have far from reached their advanced stage of training, Coach Steffen decided to continue the two practice until the re-opening of school a week from next Monday.

The town of Birmingham, Ala., came into its own once more at the Tartan training camp when John A. English forged his way into the front line ranks at end. The shifting of the Southerner to a wing position came a surprise after Latham Flanagan and Murray Armentrout had held down the right flank since the training season opened.

Starting out on the second team, English began to make his presence known when he refused to allow Dutch Eyth and a few other of the fleetfooted halfbacks to gain ground around his end.

METHODISTS IMPROVE

MEADVILLE, Pa., Sept. 13.—Coach Crum sent the Allegheny College football squad through another stiff scrimmage yesterday. Various combinations were used on the varsity team, and all of them showed a decided improvement in team play over the work displayed in Tuesday's scrimmage.

Gibson and Pichitino alternated with Scholl and Showers at the tackle positions, and the work of the two pairs of linemen was about equal. It appears that Coach Crum will have a quartet of dependable tackles in these candidates.

Allegheny's veteran backs, Garbark, Varano and Dennison, did some spectacular running. Dennison's work especially was sensational, the little halfback repeatedly eluding tacklers and going for long gains.

ERNEST AT GROVE CITY

GROVE CITY, Pa., Sept. 13.—Robert E. Thorn, director of athletics, has announced the arrival of Jack Ernst, former Lafayette quarterback, to take up his work as assistant to Coach Charley Berry. Ernst was at Lafayette from 1921-1924, the same time that Berry played there.

DOUDS IN TOP FORM

WASHINGTON, Pa., Sept. 13.—Leading the attack of the Wash-Jeff varsity squad against the yearlings in daily scrimmage sessions on College field, Capt. Jap Douds has been showing a fight and drive in both offensive and defensive play that seems to indicate the great President tackle is due for one of his best years on the gridiron. Practically entirely recovered from the series of injuries which have been keeping him on the "blink," the husky forward is showing pre-season football form that bodes well for his attempt to scale All-America Heights during the season.

A cut of about 20 men was effected in the Frosh squad by Coach Pete Henry with the remainder of the plebes showing up so well that in al probability a large squad will be maintained.

Work of the varsity backs continues to impress spectators at the daily drills. Wash-Jeff will not lack for capable and clever ball carriers during the approaching season. Sophomore candidates predominating, the outlook for a veteran backfield for three more seasons is more than pleasing. Dick Shumacher, of last season's varsity, and Don Lewis another seasoned veteran, are showing up well in scrimmage and will probably crash the backfield division in many of the approaching contests.

STANLEY BERKMAN

Former Thiel College star, who has been signed to play quarterback this fall for the West View team, independent champion of the local 1928 season. He was one of the stars among the Western Pennsylvania collegiate teams during the last few years. The West View club will practice this evening and on Sunday afternoon at West View Park.

PICKS TENTATIVE LINEUP

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Sept. 13.—After looking over his University of Maryland football squad at College Park for two weeks, Head Coach Curley Byrd has about concluded that if he can develop two or three good backs he should at least have a team that will make the opposition hustle. He has veterans for the line, although some of the newcomers may make them hustle, and has three backs who have been through the mill.

Dodson and Heagy, ends; Lombard and Ribnitski, tackles; Heintz and McDonald, guards; Madigan, center; Evans, quarter; Chalmers and Miller, halves, and Radice, full.

GLENN BREAKS FOOT

JACKSON'S MILL, W. Va., Sept. 13.—West Virginia University's football stock dropped its first point since training camp opened 10 days ago, as a result of the development of a broken foot to Francis (Tarzan) Glenn, the Mountaineers' leading full back candidate.

An x-ray picture was taken of the injured member at a Weston hospital this afternoon revealing that a small bone had been chipped and it was revealed that the fleet back will likely be out of the picture for at least four weeks. He was sent to Morgantown last night to be under the care of a bone specialist at the University city.

SCRIMMAGE FOR "DEVILS"

DURHAM, N. C., Sept. 13.—The Blue Devils of Duke University began scrimmage today. The coaching staff is well pleased with the progress made in four days of work, as all three squads yesterday afternoon ran off plays to be used in the game against Pitt, without a hitch.

Twice a day for four straight days the Blue Devils have done nothing but run through plays, with the exception of warmup practice in kicking and passing, and the wind sprints which come at the end of each session.

MEEHAN PRESSES VIOLETS

FARMINGDALE, L. I., Sept. 13.—Coach Chick Meehan sent his varsity football candidates through a stiff drill in fundamentals here at the training camp this afternoon. The scrimmage held on Tuesday left no injuries in the Violet camp and the entire squad is in first class physical shape. Everyone took part in the drill today. Meehan had the candidates work on the tackling dummies and on the charging machine. The entire squad was sent through the usual calisthenic drill which was followed by a brisk half-hour of formations.

SERIES TICKET BIDS FLOOD CUB OFFICES

CHICAGO, Sept. 13. — (INS.) — Thirty thousand first-day applications for seats at the world series today kept a force of 50 girls busy opening and sorting envelopes.

No sign of a letup in the parade of mailmen and messenger boys toward the Cubs' office was seen as the second force of clerks left wearily for home this morning.

Regardless of what it all means for the clerical force or the baseball fans hoping for the much-prized ducats, the great mail order battle means a flood of 10-cent pieces for the hundred special delivery boys working out of the main postoffice.

Applicants who tried to beat the barrier by sending in their orders before midnight Wednesday will find their applications and their checks bounding back at them, it was announced by Bill Veeck, president of the Cubs.

Bazar grab bag days will be recalled when the process of selecting the favored applicants begins, according to Veeck.

Handfuls of letters will be seized from each bag of mail that arrives and those that come out in the fist will be filled.

Material has been purchased for construction of bridges for temporary seats above two streets adjacent to Wrigley Field. Construction of the temporary bleachers is to begin when the permit to close the two streets becomes effective.

MRS. EVA BLAIR COPS TITLE

Mrs. Eva Blair, runner-up in the recent city championship, captured the championship of the Schenley Park Women's Golf Club yesterday afternoon, when she defeated Mrs. Arthur Josephson, 2 up, in their 36-hole match. Mrs. Blair led, 3 up, at the end of the first 18 holes.

Westminster Star Versatile Athlete

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 13.—Harry (Bud) Brownlee, of Lock Haven, former Kiski star, is trying for his third sport letter at Westminster College this fall. Brownlee entered college last February, won a varsity letter on Coach Johnny Lawther's district championship basketball team, and later won a letter in track.

Brownlee, 6 feet 5 inches tall, plays center in basketball, end in football, and is a hurdler, hammer thrower and discus thrower in track. He broke the Tri-State Conference high hurdles mark last spring and also broke the hammer throw record and tied the low hurdles record.

As Coach Dike Beede's football squad, in training since Labor Day, rounds into shape for the opening game with Fordham at New York City, Brownlee looks like the logical choice for an end position.

FIRST W. VA. INJURY

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 13.—(AP.)—What is believed to be the first football accident in West Virginia this season was reported here yesterday. Emory Tamplin, of Racine, was brought to a Charleston hospital suffering from a broken collar bone. He was injured during a practice session at Seth High School.

FULTON STOPPED

LACROSSE, Wis., Sept. 13.—(AP.)—My Sullivan, St. Paul, last night scored a technical knockout over Johnny Fulton, Cedar Rapids, Ia., in the sixth round. Sullivan, who weighed 151½, played with Fulton, 147, for five rounds, knocking him down on the average of three times a round.

NEW CHAMP FOR SHARON

SHARON, Pa., Sept. 13.—Sharon Country Club men will have a new golf champion this year. George H. Allen, 1928 winner, was defeated 3 and 2 by D. C. Shilling in the first round match. S. H. Hadley won, 4 and 3, over J. B. Howat and George McFadden defeated Tom Doyle, 2 and 1, in other matches.

M'COLL MAY HURL

SHARON, Pa., Sept. 13.—Art McColl, with Akron in the Central League, may hurl for Conneaut, O., Elks when they play Five Points, at Five Points, Sunday, in the fifth game of the series. Ted Bair is to pitch for the Points.

CHESS CHAMP LOSES

WIESBADEN, Germany, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Alexander Alekhine, world chess champion yesterday lost the fourth game of the series for the title to Bogoljubow, Russian challenger, in 38 moves. This tied the score each having won one game and drawn one.

Sugar Imports in United Kingdom Up

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Sugar Reporter says the British Board of Trade announces refined sugar imported in United Kingdom in August totaled 231,000 tons, against 180,000 in July and 12,900 in August, 1928. Consumption for August was 194,000 tons against 207,000 in July and 175,309 tons in August, 1928. Stocks on hand at end of August, 98,000 tons against 120,000 at end of July and 163,200 year ago.

German Importers Lift Barley Ban

BREMEN, Germany, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—German importers of grain are again free to buy American barley "No. 2" of this year's crop, after the Association of Grain Importers rescinded an earlier resolution not to purchase this particular quality. The association said there had been trouble in September, 1928, over supposedly contaminated shipments which were unsuitable for fodder.

STEEL MERGER REPORTED

WHEELING, W. Va., Sept. 13.—A steel combine second only to the United States Steel Corporation, in which the Wheeling Steel Corporation of Wheeling, is prominently mentioned, is under consideration, according to New York financial reports. It is said the Eaton interests, which control the Republic Iron and Steel and the Central Alloys Steel, have secured control of the Wheeling Steel Corporation and Donner Steel.

I. M. Scott, president of Wheeling Steel, issued a denial of the report. He said:

"There is nothing to it. You can say that the control of Wheeling Steel is held by people who know of no transaction involving a sale. There is nothing to the statement that the Eatons have control of Wheeling Steel."

It is, however, pointed out that at a meeting of the directors of Wheeling Steel, held here on April 24, 1929, that William Russell Burwell, of Cleveland, was made a member of the board. He is said to have appeared as the representative of Eaton and have presented 60,000 shares of common stock, as well as a large number of proxies. Such interest is manifested here in the report of stockholders.

American Ice Co.'s July Net Down

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—American Ice Company profit in July was $1,095,841 after charges but before depreciation and Federal taxes, a decrease of about $32,000 from July, 1928.

Deliveries from September 1 to September 7, inclusive, were 30 per cent greater than the 1928 period. Tonnage delivered in July set a record but the decline in earnings was due to a temporary competitive situation.

Based on the increase in deliveries in the first seven days this month, there should be a corresponding increase in earnings which will help offset effects of lower earnings in July and August.

A. W. Thompson in McKinney Mfg. Co.

A. W. Thompson, formerly president of the Philadelphia Company and later head of the United Gas Improvement Company, has been elected chairman of the board of the McKinney Manufacturing Company. McKinney specializes in building hardware.

J. P. McKinney, Jr., heretofore vice president, was elected president, succeeding W. C. Farr, who retains his place as treasurer and also was made secretary.

Mr. Thompson, who will act in an advisory capacity, is expected to continue to make his headquarters in Philadelphia.

U. S. Furnished Bulk of Loans To Germany

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(AP.) The bulk of foreign capital obtained by Germany since the institution of the Dawes plan in September, 1924, has gone from the United States. This is shown in a study made by Grosvenor Jones, chief of the finance and investment division of the Department of Commerce.

German borrowings in the United States during 1924 amounted to $118,000,000 and for the four subsequent years ranged between $220,000,000 and $295,000,000 annually.

During the first six months of 1929 a lull in German foreign financing was evident, the report said, adding that this was a result of negotiations for changes in the reparations payments and the high interest rates prevailing in this country.

"If the Young plan now under consideration is made effective by the various governments concerned," the report declared, "a new period of foreign financing similar to that of the Dawes plan years may be begun in Germany."

COAL MEN HOLD ANNUAL MEET

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Sept. 13.—(AP.)—The condition of the smokeless coal industry was the topic of discussion as more than 125 members of the Smokeless Coal Operators' Association attended the annual banquet of the organization here last night.

Holly Stover, of Washington, secretary of the association, won the Charles T. Lee trophy in the second day of golf tournament play at the Greenbrier Golf and Tennis Club.

W. G. Carpenter, Charleston, and R. Snyder, Mt. Hope, W. Va., will compete for the present P. M. Snyder operators' trophy in the finals match today and E. A. Turner, of Roanoke, Va., and J. B. McGhey, of Chicago, will play the P. M. Snyder invitation finals.

The Malleable Iron Institute representatives gathered at the Greenbrier Hotel for a two-day conference and started play in a two-day golf tournament over the Greenbrier course.

WHY DID MOST BEAUTIFUL GIRL IN WORLD FAIL TO MAKE GOOD?

"Miss Universe of 1929" Cruelly Awakened

International Beauty Prize Winner at Galveston is a Cinderella without a golden slipper. After triumphing over girls from all parts of the world, she failed to cash in on her beauty. Disillusioned, she returned to her parents and backers in Austria, empty-handed. Why did she not reap a golden harvest of American dollars as so many beauty contest winners before her? Read this strange and interesting story of a disappointed young beauty, next Sunday in The American Weekly.

Ghosts Haunt English Castle

Like a French Divorce Farce

$3,000,000 at last settles matrimonial battle. Case was fought in three countries and involved a Turkish Princess, an Egyptian Prince, a Paris "Gigolo," a Russian dancer, and a kidnapping side show. An amazing story depicting spectacular divorce complications, next Sunday in The American Weekly.

Mergers in Infancy — Latest Financial News

GIANT MERGERS JUST STARTED, EXPERT SAYS

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Recent months have been characterized by extraordinary activity in the direction of mergers, consolidations and absorptions. The industrial map of the country is being redrawn. And according to one on the inside of these financial weddings the process has just started, and will be enormously accelerated during the next 10 years.

I discussed the future of mergers with William R. Bassett, partner of Spencer Trask and Company, who, as an investment banker, reorganizer and business consultant, has participated in numerous consolidations. It is his opinion that America has just begun to scratch the surface in mergers, and is just now learning the proper technique. He predicts a great era of consolidations in the next decade, with marked benefits to the public in the form of lower prices for goods and services.

BARRIERS BROKEN

"If you give your imagination free play," Mr. Bassett remarked, "you can visualize, though you and I won't live to see it, the realization through mergers of the great unification of economic activity which the Socialists have dreamed of, only it will be accomplished without giving up utilization of the acquisitive instinct of men.

"In the past, the big barrier to mergers was on the human side. After mergers were effected, enlarged companies during the first few years went through a period of internal turmoil as executives angled for position and leadership within the company, ignoring the larger problems of outside contacts of the company. Such conflict ensued as long as equals merged. Now in the new style merger, a big, dominant company virtually absorbs small units of lesser prestige, and there is no question of the future leadership and the permanent name of the combination. Twenty years ago there were few companies sufficiently developed to play this dominant role and become nuclei for greater business institutions through mergers and absorptions. I have in mind absorbing companies such as Posium, Borden, Purity Bakers, United Aircraft and the great public utility holding companies. In such setups, there is no question of which component unit in the merger will be supreme, or which executive will have final say.

ATTITUDE CHANGING

"Gradually the barriers to mergers are breaking down. The public viewpoint toward mergers is changing. The public has recognized that big companies, instead of being gougers, have had the wisdom to improve commodities and lower prices. Accordingly, the anti-trust laws should be radically revised. Far-seeing business men can be relied upon not to overcharge consumers, for the making of an exorbitant profit would merely constitute an invitation to outside competition. Big business has learned that the surest long term profits come from improving products and selling large quantities at a small margin of profit. Self-interest dictates such a policy to discourage actual and potential competition."

Asked to indicate the advantages of mergers, Mr. Bassett said:

"In the first place, big companies, with plants scattered at strategic points throughout the country, effect big freight economies. Secondly, by distributing warehouses at various key points they cater to the new habit of hand-to-mouth merchandising and give department stores and others who desire to avoid tying up too much of their capital in inventory an incentive for dealing with them, rather than smaller competitors without equal warehousing facilities. The big manufacturer carries the bag and does much of the merchandising for the retailer, who only needs to keep a sample on hand. The smaller company lacks the resources for giving the same service on a nation-wide basis, though it may be able to compete in special localities. Thirdly, there are economies in mass production. Fourthly, through the creation of circular trusts, which deal in related products which are commonly purchased by the small buyer, there are vast economies in selling expenses."

HOW TO INVEST

Asked what the average investor should do in the face of the trend toward larger units of business organization, Mr. Bassett said that the inexperienced investor should invest by proxy through turning over his funds to an investment trust managed by capable and honest financiers. Mr. Bassett further indicated that the selective character of the stock market, which has favored the shares of the largest and strongest companies, rested on sound economic tendencies.

Mr. Bassett added that one financial incentive for mergers was the fact that the big companies were able to acquire smaller units at a lower price-earnings ratio than its own stock sells at.

Mr. Bassett believes that in time the ideas of big business organization will be applied even to the chaotic needle trades and to the cotton textile industry.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—The bond market offered feeble resistance to selling orders today and representative investment issues were moderately lower in the early dealings. With time money clinging persistently to quotations of 8¾ to 9 per cent for all maturities, the rates that have prevailed for about a month, prospects for an easement in the credit situation are regarded as discouraging and few guesses are hazarded as to when the charge for time funds will relax.

It was a poor day for the convertibles. After an irregular opening the stock feature issues were swept downward as the selling movement in stocks got under way and a few large losses were recorded.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Stock Break Halted — Lone Star Resumes Rise

LOWER MONEY HALTS BREAK IN STOCKS

Scores of Issues Slide 3 to 15 Points Before Rate Cut Checks Decline

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—The stock market was subjected today to another bombardment of selling which carried most of the active issues to new low prices on the movement.

The break, which ran from 3 to 15 points in scores of issues, was checked around mid-day by the lowering of the call money rate from 8 to 7 per cent, and a revival of pool activity in a selected group of public utility, railroad equipment and independent steel shares.

While Wall street undoubtedly was surprised at the increase of $120,000,000 in Federal Reserve brokers' loans last week in the face of the sharp downward readjustment of prices that had taken place in that period, today's selling was generally characterized as a further correction of a top heavy speculative position.

STOCKS DUMPED

The extent of the recent decline in some of the leaders presumably had seriously impaired many margin accounts, with the result that stocks were dumped rather freely during the morning. The sharp rise in loans was attributed in some quarters to the calling for payment of stock subscriptions to new issues and construed in others as an indication that heavy distribution had taken place and that stocks had passed from strong to weak hands.

Copper shares turned soft on unconfirmed reports that the red metal was again being sold at 18 cents a pound, Anaconda dropping 5 points, Greene Cananea 4½ and several others 1 to 3 points, but they rallied with the rest of the list in the early afternoon.

In the morning break, Midland Steel Products preferred dropped 15 points, American Machine and Foundry 10, American Telephone 8, Simmons Company 7½ and Westinghouse Electric, General Electric, Dupont, North American and Air Reduction 5 to 6½ points. U. S. Steel common broke below 231 for an extreme loss of more than 4 points, but rallied later.

MARKET RALLIES

American and Foreign Power led the afternoon recovery, soaring nearly 10 points to a new high at 176¾. Columbia Gas ran up 6½ points to a new high at 109½.

Vanadium Steel extended its gain to 5½ points, Pullman to 5 points and Republic Steel to 3½ by touching a new high at 139⅜. Heavy buying of the Chicago Great Western issues carried the preferred up 3 points.

North American Car Offers New Rights

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—Rights have been given to stockholders of North American Car Corporation permitting them to purchase one share of no par common stock for each 10 shares of preferred or common stock held at $42.50 a share.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—No sales were reported in the raw sugar market early today and prices were unchanged at 4.02c for spots duty paid.

Raw futures opened irregular at 1 point decline to 1 point advance with some liquidation in the September position caused by the issuance of 95 notices. They appeared to be promptly stopped, however, and a steadier tone developed later on renewed covering and buying by commission houses with prices at midday net unchanged to 2 points higher. The volume of business was not very large, but the continued steadiness of the spot market and uncertainty over crop developments abroad restricted aggressive selling and the undertone was firm throughout the forenoon session.

The withdrawal demand for refined sugar was again of fair proportions, but no new business was reported and prices were unchanged at 5.40c for fine granulated.

LONE STAR GAS REACHES NEW TOP PRICE

Stock Resumes Advance on Local Exchange as Main List Holds Steady Range

At the opening of the market the stock was practically unchanged and there were no indications that today's session would be any different from the dull and uninteresting market yesterday. Buying made its appearance in large blocks shortly after noon, however, and the stock rushed up with the same vigor noted in the trading last week when it scored its new high record for all time. In the dealings today another new top was chalked up and talk of much higher prices was heard in Fourth avenue. Rumors of a meeting next month were heard and it is thought some definite announcement as to the company's expansion plans will be made at that time.

Industrials here were dull. The initial quotations disclosed no changes from the previous closings, and trading interest appeared to have died down in the stocks which were active last week and in the early sessions this week.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

More General Motors Holders.

The total number of General Motors common and preferred stockholders for the third quarter of 1929 was 140,113, compared with 125,165 for the second quarter and 104,202 for the first quarter. There were 117,767 holders of common stock and the balance of 22,346 represents holders of preferred and debenture stocks. These figures compare with 102,306 common stockholders and 22,659 preferred for the second quarter, and further with 82,415 common and 22,948 preferred for the first quarter.

White on Erie Board.

L. L. White, formerly general manager of the western division of the Erie Railroad stationed at Youngstown, O., will succeed R. J. Bowman, who is to become vice president of Pere Marquette. Mr. White is to be an assistant to the president.

Bleached Goods Up.

Pacific Mills has advanced its bleached goods one-eighth of a cent a yard on all lines. The new prices cover spot shipments and deliveries for the rest of the year.

London Operators Stuck in Oil Deal

LONDON, Sept. 13.—Financial News says it is believed that buying of New York account of Royal Dutch and Shell Bearer shares has been mainly in connection with pool operations and investment trust purposes. Position on this side was that certain large professional operators had become rather less optimistic owing to cut in gasoline prices in certain American centers and continued world overproduction and had entered into bear operations. The contingent was thought to have been caught rather badly.

Pittsburgh Firm Gets Tax Refund

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—A refund of $23,892 and a credit of $4,204 to Wilson Brothers Lumber Company, Pittsburgh, Pa., and the Conway Lumber Company, Conway, S. C., a subsidiary, for overassessment of income and profit taxes in 1917-18-20 and '23, was announced today by the Internal Revenue Bureau.

The overassessments were due to allowances for net losses, depreciation and depletion, inventory corrections and changes in invested capital.

Says B. & O. Should Control B. R. & P.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Control of the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh Railway by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad was urged in a brief filed today with the Interstate Commerce Commission by the Rochester and Pittsburgh Coal Company on the ground it would be in the public interest.

The Rochester and Pittsburgh Coal Company, the brief said, was the principal shipper on the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh, and added the road expected a new local route for eastbound coal would result if consolidation plans of the Baltimore and Ohio now before the commission were approved.

Why America Leads Europe; Slant on Work Different

By B. C. FORBES

WE may have unemployment here—we have; we may have many families struggling hard to eke out an existence—we have; we may have in certain cities and communities sections which savor too much of slums—we have. But no American can return from a tour through Europe without a deep sense of gratitude that his lot has been cast in this land.

The difference in living conditions here and in most parts of Europe has become greater, not less, since the war—this notwithstanding that the working classes in various parts of Europe fare somewhat better than they did formerly.

OUR unmatched material blessings spring from numbers of causes. One which is not ordinarily sufficiently recognized is, I believe, the greater spirit Americans infuse into their work.

Wealthy Europeans, as a rule, look down upon "trade," as they call business, and they rather despise hard work. When a European attains wealth through his industriousness, or from any other source, he usually turns his attention to something else—public life, sometimes society, sometimes sport, often the leisurely life of a country "gentleman." Work, in short, is looked upon as a rather disagreeable means to some other end.

AMERICANS admire workers rather than loafers. Very few wealthy Americans retire from the scenes of their life's activity. Some of the most dynamic workers whom I know are millionaires or multi-millionaires.

General Motors alone has a hundred millionaires or multi-millionaires, and not one of them is a drone—no human being in America toils more incessantly than President A. P. Sloan.

Henry Ford is on the job very early every morning, and although he now takes time to indulge in his various hobbies, he nevertheless is entitled to be regarded as a vigilant, zestful worker. No man in America gives more serious thought to his responsibilities than John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

James A. Farrell has worked 12 hours a day or more for decades. Charles E. Mitchell, head of America's largest banking institution, although well able financially to retire, is a whirlwind worker, constantly in touch with every phase of his institution's vast ramifications. Charles M. Schwab was for a generation a Herculean worker and, although he declares that he now takes life leisurely, he keeps his finger on the pulse of various important enterprises. Owen D. Young has given up much time to patriotic service; but do not imagine for a moment that he has in any sense whatsoever withdrawn from strenuous business labors. His brain is perpetually at work on vital business problems. Gerard Swope, also of General Electric, radiates energy.

BRITISH and continental workers of the rank-and-file impress one as not having their heart in their jobs.

Rarely is there any strong spirit of loyalty between employes and owners of large concerns. Rather is there, very often, a feeling of suppressed hostility. Foreign workers, as a whole, have not advanced half so far as American workers in realizing that their own well-being is intimately interwoven with the wellbeing of their employer.

IN addition to this transcontinental difference in the attitude towards work, America has, of course, very powerful advantages. We are a young country of unfathomed natural resources.

Our industrialists enjoy by far the finest domestic market in the world. Founded by pioneers, the pioneering spirit still pulsates vigorously here, with the result that we lead the world in invention, in machinery, in transportation, in communication, in advertising, in marketing.

We have not been crushed by government debt created by endless wars. We have an abundance of tillable land, affording room for an expanding population. We spend prodigally on education. We have no caste system, tending to keep down those who inherit the humblest stations in life. We now encourage everyday workers to become capitalists, co-partners in the corporations they are a part of. Seldom do we have in Washington an administration that does not inspire confidence, nor are we plagued by either soviets or dictators in high places.

YES, we are citizens of an uniquely blessed land and have infinite reason to rejoice that our lives have been cast under the Stars and Stripes.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 14 to 20 points. The active months show net gains of 17 to 21 points during the early trading on covering and local buying promoted by relatively steady Liverpool cables and talk of too much rain in the South. December sold up to 19.14c and March to 19.38c and while the advance met some southern selling, as well as realizing or liquidation, the market held within a point or two of the best at the end of the first half hour.

There was considerable comment on the technical position following the recent decline of approximately a cent a pound and this may have been a contributing factor on the advance. Liverpool cabled that continental buying, trade calling and covering were responsible for the firmer tone there and said that cloth demand was expanding.

The early advance extended to 19.16c for December and 19.38 for March contracts during the middle of the morning, or about 20 to 22 points above yesterday's closing quotations. The bulk of the buying was attracted to covering, however, while offerings increased at the higher figures, and the market later reacted under realizing or liquidation combined with some southern and local selling. By midday December was selling around 19.07c or within 3 points of yesterday's closing quotations.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 13.—Cotton, spot in good demand; prices higher; American strict middling, 11.12; good middling, 10.72; strict middling, 10.12; low middling, 9.82; strict good ordinary, 9.42; good ordinary, 9.02. Sales, 8,000 bales, including 5,600 American. Receipts, 4,000; American, 1,200. Futures closed easy: October, 10.02; December, 10.07; January, 10.07; March, 10.15; May, 10.19; July, 10.17.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(AP.)—It was a see-saw market on the curb exchange today, as operators for the advance struggled against waves of selling. The market opened irregular, was inclined for a time to move higher, fell into a decided slump before midday, but rallied in the early afternoon, under the influence of an easier tone in call money. After renewals at 8 per cent, the call loan rate slipped to 7.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

FURNACE FIRED AT SHARON

SHARON, Pa., Sept. 13.—One furnace has been placed in operation at the Sharon Tube Company plant and a second will be working next week. The company, which purchased the Shenango Machine Company plant, is now turning out butt-welded steel tubing, manufactured under the Bell system, an English patent.

Tubing is manufactured from steel strips purchased from the Sharon Steel Hoop Company. Cold drawn seamless tubing for airplanes will be made at the plant as soon as operations are increased. Frank Welch is superintendent.

Freight Car Needs Up for 3rd Quarter

The railroads serving Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio, Northern West Virginia and the Panhandle of Maryland will be called upon to furnish approximately 66,000 more freight cars during the months of October, November and December, this year, than during the same period of 1928, for transportation of commodities produced in the district, according to reports rendered at the meeting of the Allegheny Regional Advisory Board held in Canton O., yesterday. This represents an increase of 6 per cent.

This is principally due to anticipated increase in coal and coke production of 45,734 cars, or 6 per cent. Producers of iron and steel estimate an increase of 6 per cent, or 13,879 cars. Brick and clay products reflects optimism as a whole with 3.7 per cent increase.

Federal Reserve Bank Statement

Solvents to Vote On Stock Increase

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Commercial Solvents Corporation directors call stockholders meeting for October 3 to vote on increase in capital from 250,000 to 3,000,000 shares and to split stock 10 for 1. Directors voted to acquire Commercial Pigments Corporation through exchange of stock.

It is thought that inasmuch as the corporation began declarations of 2 per cent stock dividends on stock late last year and have declared three such dividends to date, that such stock disbursements will be continued on the increased shares in addition to regular cash payments.

Navy Places Large Frigidaire Order

DAYTON, Sept. 13.—The United States Navy placed a contract with the Frigidaire Corporation for $27,000 worth of electric refrigerating equipment to be installed during the present year. The first installations under this order have already been made on the S.S. Texas, where two electrically cooled storage boxes have been placed in operation.

Mills Here Working At 90-95 Per Cent

Largely through sustained production by some of the larger mills, steelmaking operations in the Pittsburgh district are held at 90 to 95 per cent. Sheet mills show continued improvement, operating above 95 per cent, with tin plate unchanged at 75 per cent. Strip mills also are at 75 per cent, with pipe output the same at 80 per cent for welded and 70 per cent for seamless.

Improved Net for Int. Telephone

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—International Telegraph and Telephone reports, for six months to June 30, net income $7,808,440 after expenses, taxes, depreciation and interest to $1.56 a share on 5,018,278 capital shares against $6,600,354 or $1.31 a share on same share basis in 1928 period.

Volume of Business Declines for Month

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Reports from 577 principal cities and towns in the country to S. W. Straus & Co., show that the volume of building construction permitted in August totaled $256,720,837, a loss of 18 per cent from August, 1928, and 11 per cent from July of this year.

Stewart Line-Up With Shell Denied

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(INS.)—The latest "gasoline war" in the eastern markets was complicated today by entrance of a new competitor for the American motorists' business, in the form of the Royal Dutch Shell interests, leading old world refiners and marketers of oil.

In Wall street and oil trade circles reports were current today of the alignment of Col. Robert Stewart, erstwhile head of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, with the Shell interests in the extension of their American business. International News Service learns from unimpeachable sources that there is not a grain of truth in these rumors, and that Colonel "Bob" has mapped out an entirely different program for his future activities in oil or other industrial fields.

When questioned today about these activities, Col. Stewart said: "I am sailing today for a European trip of indefinite length."

"Is there any truth in the rumor that you are to affiliate yourself with the Dutch Shell Petroleum interests?" Stewart was asked.

"I must decline at this time to comment in any way on such rumors, or in fact on rumors of any kind in Wall street or elsewhere connecting me with business enterprises of any nature whatever," was the Colonel's emphatic answer.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—(INS.)—Officials of the Royal Dutch Shell Petroleum interests today denied all knowledge of reports current in New York that Col. Robert Stewart, former head of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, would become affiliated with the concern. Sir Henri Deterding, head of the Royal Dutch Shell group, plans to leave for New York soon on a business trip.

P. & W. Va. Link To Be Opened April 1

An early opening of the new Connellsville extension of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railroad is seen by F. C. Baird, general manager of the road, who stated that the work is going forward by leaps and bounds and officials of the company are highly pleased with the progress made thus far. It is expected that freight service will be operating over the new extension by April 11, and there is a possibility traffic may commence earlier if construction work in the next few months goes along as it has in the past. The first 17 miles of road has already been completed.

The line will connect the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railroad at Cochrans Mills with the Western Maryland Railroad at Connellsville and the finished link will be 38 miles long. The primary purpose is to furnish a direct connecting line from the bituminous coal districts to the Northwest.

BUGS BAER Says

CARBOLIC AS A TONIC.

"Bugs" Baer

This concoction of alcohol, wasp powders and medication will pierce the hide of a crocodile at 600 yards.

It is not the assembled product of our scattered colonies of bootlegchers, those merry men of the mountains.

There is no secret about wine tonic. Yet it is strong enough and corrosive enough to make the four hossmen take to bicycles.

The suave clerk asks, "How do you want it? Hot or cold?

He takes your dollar and hands you a bottle of wine extract powerful enough to make a leopard grow a new set of polka dots.

That's all there is to it. You can carry the wine tonic under your arm and speak to all the policemen you know. Yet, that decanter of homicidial perfume contains 20 per cent alcohol.

Think of that. And then grab for your hat.

Twenty per cent alcohol. Enough to dimple Gibraltar. Enough to straighten out a Boston street. And more than enough to make a turtle throw its shell away and start a revival meeting among the frogs.

Two bangs at the bottle of wine tonic and you leap in the air and forget to come down.

Boy, that's tonic. We don't know how they get away with it.

But we do know that there are millions of bottles sold every year, with the outlying counties still to be heard from, as usual.

CRYING FORFEITS

Crying Forfeits is good clean fun. The victim, blindfolded, kneels and the leader says, "What shall be done to redeem this gadget, or what-not?" Then one of the following double entendre tasks is suggested—

Sit on the Fire—This penalty is evaded by writing "the fire" on a piece of paper and sitting on it. Or, if he wishes, he can actually sit in the fire place.

Leave Room with Six Legs, Return with Three—Leave the room and return carrying chair. (Ha! Ha!)

Place Three Chairs in Row, Take Off Shoes and Jump Over Them—It is not always perceived that it is the shoes, and not the chairs that the victim is required to hurdle. (Oh, dear. What won't they think up next?)

MID-SUMMER IDYL, ACCOMPANIED BY PAN ON THE PIPES.

(A Lamar, Missouri, Democrat Recording)

Maggie Newman walked about the square, Tuesday, wearing a pair of checked bib overalls. She said it was the first time she'd ever donned trousers, and they felt so comfortable she'd just celebrate the event by coming uptown in her care free costume. Carl Konantz, who was standing in front of his store as Maggie approached in her overalls, stepped inside and came back with his cornet upon which he tore off several lively bars of Turkey in the Straw. Maggie began to dance, in her bibbed and chcked costume, upon the sidewalk, to the strains of the shoe-shaking notes.

Tax Receipts Wholesale Must Arouse Suspicion

Every citizen is supposed to pay taxes.

The law permits him to sign an order whereby he may give the amount due to an agent, who pays the county and accepts the receipt, presumably to be delivered to the person assessed.

There is nothing particularly wrong about the intent of the law. It gives persons who employ agents to look after their properties a way also to have agents represent them in the payment of taxes. And it allows the man who works to have a member of his family or a friend go to the tax office for him when he is employed.

But it also presents an opportunity for persons in political life to obtain tax receipts in wholesale quantities. That has become a practice in Pittsburgh. It is assumed by the law that the person assessed gives an order to the agent, in such a case, that he pays him the sum due and himself receives the receipt.

But it could easily be otherwise. And there is strong suspicion that it often is. And that some person votes for every tax receipt issued in a wholesale way, no matter whether he is the person who is entitled to receive the tax receipt or not.

We must have politicians. Government is politics and there is nothing contemptible about honest government or honest politics. We should have leaders in political life. And they should be above suspicion. In the present state of local politics almost every man who aspires to a political career and receives political backing lays himself open to suspicion. All because of certain political practices, one of which is the custom of organizations buying tax receipts in wholesale quantities—supposedly, of course, for legitimate voters who have paid in advance to the agent.

That is a course that is bound to arouse suspicion and, for their own good, political leaders should cease this practice.

If a man does not think enough of his citizenship to pay his own taxes, or have a member of his family or reputable agent do it for him if he is too busy, let him suffer the odium of being a poor citizen.

Children Earn Praise For School Gardening

It is noted, in a report of the proceedings of the Board of Public Education, that members of the board were much impressed by a display in the board room of vegetables grown by youngsters in school gardens during the vacation period. Also observed was a picture of two girl pupils holding specimens of corn and beets that would do credit to a professional gardener.

Anybody will tell you that this has not been a good summer for gardens—too dry. To raise good vegetables under such conditions as have prevailed means intelligent care and attention. That is a very good lesson for anyone to learn, in school or out, and the pupils who have succeeded have acquired valuable knowledge to back their pride in a meritorious achievement.

We believe such thoroughness should be commented upon by friends of the kiddies. A little praise is a great encouragement.

Education Bill Worthy Of Hoover's Leadership

Senator Capper, of Kansas, has recently introduced in the Senate the education bill sponsored by Mr. Curtis until he resigned the senatorship from Kansas to accept the vice presidency.

It is substantially the same bill that President Coolidge strongly indorsed in a message to Congress and today enthusiastically supports.

The case for the education bill cannot be better stated than by summarizing its main provisions.

It creates a Department of Education in charge of a Secretary of Education with a seat in the President's cabinet.

It consolidates in the new department the federal agencies now dealing with education in several different departments.

It authorizes funds to enable the new department to conduct research in education and distribute the information thus obtained to the several states.

It establishes an interdepartmental conference on education to be made up of representatives from each of the executive departments.

If the purpose of public education be to develop an intelligent citizenship surely it is as important for the federal government to promote education as to promote agriculture, commerce and labor.

Two billion dollars is spent on public education by the American people every year. Thirty million Americans are daily engaged in giving or receiving education.

And a million children in school fail to be promoted each year.

There has long been a Bureau of Education at Washington. But as Senator Capper has said, it is only the skeleton of what a Department of Education would be.

There was once a Bureau of Agriculture, but the agricultural interests of the country finally increased to the point where they could only be effectively served by a Department of Agriculture in charge of a Secretary of Agriculture with a seat in the President's cabinet.

Surely the educational interests of the country have increased to the point where they are entitled to rank in the American system of government with those of agriculture, commerce and labor.

The federal government does not today control agriculture, commerce or labor, but through the departments devoted to their interests the federal government promotes them.

So it is bound to be with the new Department of Education. It would leave control of education to the several states. But the new department would continue the historic policy of assisting the states in the promotion of education.

If President Hoover is as concerned about all the children of the nation as he has shown himself to be about the children of his neighbors in the Virginia mountains, he will give the education bill introduced by Senator Capper the prompt and whole-hearted support of the administration.

Bible Passages

Pharaoh's Two Dreams

(Genesis 41:15-32)

AND Pharaoh said unto Joseph, I have dreamed a dream, and there is none that can interpret it: and I have heard say of thee, that thou canst understand a dream to interpret it.

And Joseph answered Pharaoh, saying, It is not in me: God shall give Pharaoh an answer of peace.

And Pharaoh said unto Joseph, In my dream, behold, I stood upon the bank of the river:

And, behold, there came up out of the river seven kine, fat fleshed and well favoured; and they fed in a meadow:

And, behold, seven other kine came up after them, poor and very ill favoured and leanfleshed, such as I never saw in all the land of Egypt for badness:

And the lean and ill favoured kine did eat up the first seven fat kine:

And when they had eaten them up, it could not be known that they had eaten them; but they were still ill favoured, as at the beginning. So I awoke.

And I saw in my dream, and, behold, seven ears came up in one stalk, full and good:

And the thin ears devoured the seven good ears: and I told this unto the magicians; but there was none that could declare it unto me.

And Joseph said unto Pharaoh, The dream of Pharaoh is one: God hath shewed Pharaoh what he is about to do.

The seven good kine are seven years; and the seven good ears are seven years: the dream is one.

And the seven thin and ill favoured kine that came up after them are seven years; and the seven empty ears blasted with the east wind shall be seven years of famine.

This is the thing which I have spoken unto Pharaoh: What God is about to do he sheweth unto Pharaoh.

Behold, there come seven years of great plenty throughout all the land of Egypt:

And there shall arise after them seven years of famine; and all the plenty shall be forgotten in the land of Egypt; and the famine shall consume the land;

And the plenty shall not be known in the land by reason of that famine following; for it shall be very grievous.

And for that the dream was doubled unto Pharaoh twice; it is because the thing is established by God, and God will shortly bring it to pass.

"That ain't it at all," says the farmer's wife. "We have men scarecrows because us farm women don't have any old clothes to dress lady scarecrows. We have to wear our clothes out ourselves."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

TWO frantic women wrote to me today.

One woman lost her only daughter, two years ago. She says she has "never been able to get over it." She stopped living the day her daughter died and the months since have been filled with meaningless motions. One by one she has let her old friends and her old interests drop. Their going caused no pain. She is conscious only of one thing—the awful wound in her heart. That wound is as open today as it was two years ago.

"My sister says that is wrong," she writes. "She says I ought to try and get over Ellen's death. But she has never lost anyone and she doesn't know. I would feel like a traitor if I could get over my sorrow. I miss her just as much now as I did the first day."

The other woman is also tortured by memory, but hers is not grief over a lost child. She grieves for a sin she once did. It happened many years ago, when she was a young girl. Few knew of it at the time; no one, save the woman herself, remembers it now. She has been married 17 years. She is the wife of a fine man, the mother of four lovely children.

"But I can't honestly say I have ever been happy, Elsie," she wails. "The thought of what I did has hung over me like a shadow all these years. I feel as if I was cheating, taking all this love and respect. Lots of times I decide to tell my family all about it. It seems as if it would relieve me. Maybe then I could think of something else."

Two women with open wounds in their hearts—two lives that aren't going on—

I'm thinking of that old oak we cut down last week. We're cleaning ground for an apple orchard, half a mile from camp. Fine soil, but covered with manzanita, chaparrel and occasional larger trees. A big white oak topped them all—a splendid old giant, but already past its prime so we decided to cut it. The blade flew—chop up—chop down—each stroke cleaving true and clean. Suddenly, as we drew close to the heart, something clanged. There, hidden in the secret depths of the old tree, was an iron spike.

Dozens of years ago, in its hot, eager youth, that spike had been driven into the heart of the tree. It must have been almost a mortal blow for it made a vicious scar. But the tree lived on.

The tree lived on. It could not remove the spike. It could not erase the scar. That, it would have to carry in its heart for all its days. BUT IT GREW IN SPITE OF THE SPIKE. IT GREW AROUND AND FINALLY OVER THE SCAR. And it became a giant and fulfilled its mission gloriously—though the spike still lay in its heart.

That is Life's way with trees. It flows upon its way in spite of spikes, it builds in spite of scars. BUILDING is the really important thing to life.

That is Life's way with trees. It is also Life's way with humans—if they will let Life have her way.

LIFE WILL BUILD ON IN SPITE OF THE WOUND IN OUR HEARTS IF WE ARE BRAVE AND WISE ENOUGH TO LET HER. SHE WILL BUILD ON AND BRING US INTO FLOODING HARVEST AGAIN IF WE WILL PERMIT THE COVERING OF OUR SCARS.

We, ourselves, thwart Life's purpose—refuse to be healed. We find a sick satisfaction in the contemplation of our new hurt. We hold our little pain more important than Life's vast program.

LET LIFE GROW OVER THE SCAR.

Isn't It So?

The loss of the cork out of a liquor flask doesn't worry the average man very much.

It is almost impossible to convince a man that wealth doesn't buy happiness until he is in a position to prove it to his own satisfaction.

Long May It Stick

THIS WORRIES AN ITALIAN EDITOR, BUT NOT US.

An able Italian newspaper published in Florence, called Il 420, is much worried about the power of America's dollar and prints this picture of a great dollar mark covering the world.

We must confess that this dollar sign seems to us quite healthy, normal. It does not worry the United States.

In fact we wish that the sign might spread, in the form of roubles, lire, francs, marks, pound sterling, Chinese "cash," etc., to all parts of the world.

Wall Street will not swallow Europe, although it will make a profit out of Europe, as it makes a profit out of everything it touches.

On the other hand, intelligent Europeans know that to MAKE A PROFIT you must CONFER A BENEFIT.

This dollar mark is a sign of PROSPERITY, covering the United States, although not all the world, unfortunately.

The United States hopes that the sign will stick. It WILL do so if the people of the United States have common sense and big financiers can be persuaded not to eat up prosperity with usury.

There was a time when only one workingman in the United States was able to earn ONE DOLLAR A DAY the year around. He was a carpenter in New England.

There was a time when a President of the United States complained that the country was going to the dogs because, to get a really good worker, you had to pay him almost one hundred dollars a year, less than THIRTY CENTS A DAY.

Prosperity means leisure. Fools use leisure in speakeasies; wise men use it in thought, in healthful outdoor life, in productive work apart from selfish gain.

And you must have a LEISURE class in order to have a THINKING class.

That statement may annoy some, but it is true.

By leisure is not meant IDLENESS, but reasonable time for thought, and for the working out of plans that thought suggests.

Long may this dollar sign remain, and may the people of this fortunate country gradually become worthy of their possessions, their 25,000,000 automobiles, their heaven knows how many radios, vacuum cleaners, electric washing machines, savings bank accounts and all the rest.

No nation has been blessed as we are blessed.

None has so great cause for gratitude.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Thoughts while strolling: Paul Whiteman's auto with the extra sized door. Snarling, unmuzzled police dogs. Wonder if all the old Waldorf employes got jobs. Who invented the blue plate dinner? And what for? A knife and scissors shop. Damon Runyon's cap.

R. M. Brinkerhoff, a Toledo (O.) boy, who made good in the city. What's become of alpaca? Don Dickerman, an uptown night club king, who came out of the village. Childe Hassam, the artist. Capt. Churchill is still as straight as an arrow. The Bowery swagger of Hope Williams, a society actress.

Wish someone would present an old time minstrel show. A yapping dog catches up with a speeding auto—poor little fellow. Eleanor Shaler, a Vassar graduate and clever stage comedienne. What became of the Russian Eagle cafe? Mules with ostrich feathers the easy going ladies wear.

The religious feel about Gothic churches. Jim Thornton and Barney Fagin, veteran actors and pals. A Salvation Army band and its thin trail of derelicts. Nothing so tempting as fruit store window displays. Those foul cigars taxi drivers puff in your face.

John N. Wheeler's expression of perpetual surprise. East Side Italian flower sellers with their carts and belled horses. Al Woods' wildly rumpled hair. Edith Gould Wainwright has grown stout. Time for "Daddy Browning" to break out in another rash of publicity.

Clare Gould and Henry Hull bear a striking resemblance. Not a shuddery murder in Jersey lately. Rarely hear the Belmont name in society any more. Young Chinese sports with gum-chewing blondes. Wish someone would teach New York cooks to put cinnamon in apple pie.

Upstairs private detective agencies—run by former police officials. Don't see many customers in those health food cafes. Ed C. Hill, the Brummell of Park Row. Foreigners drifting to night schools. Native New Yorkers drafting to movies. And the contrast offers a sermon theme for someone.

It is rumored the lovely Maxine Elliott is to end her long self exile in England and return to America for the winter. Indeed, there is talk she may appear in a revival of one of her popular plays. Of all the wives who crossed Nat Goodwin's life, she is reported the one who commanded his admiration and respect to the last. She was the Big Episode—the others were incidents.

Society is taking up tap dancing and making it whizz. You see young debutantes in evening dress tapping out new steps in waiting rooms of restaurants and theater lobbies. Broadway's tap studios have quadrupled since spring. It is reputed two columnists and three dramatic reviewers are mastering intricacies of machine gun steps. Ruby Keeler, Al Jolson's electrical-toed damozel, has been offered $200 a lesson, glanced at her latest pin money check and laughed heartily. Famous tap dancers include Bill Robinson, George Primrose, James Barton, Fred Stone, Eddie Leonard, Doyle and Dixon and Johnny Ford.

A free chuckle for yokels out yonder: Two matrimonial bureaus, opened recently in New York's midtown, are doing a flourishing business.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS.

I Had Forgotten

I HAD forgotten aught could be so fair
Until I saw the sunlight dancing there
Upon the little waves that shoreward run,
From emerald turned to amber in the sun,
To fling themselves upon the sands at last
With glimmer as of jewels loosely cast.
I had forgotten forests were so dim,
With leafy murmur as of twilight hymn
And shifting shafts of light along the way,
The slender, searching fingers of the day;
Gay gratitude from many joyous throats.
I had forgotten, but I pledge anew
Allegiance to the sunrise and the dew,
To all the pageantry of cloud, leaf, wing.
That swiftly stills my futile questioning;
Anew I turn to woodlands, stars and streams,
